TREE PLANTING

Spring is here again and the time for tree planting will soon be with us. Nearly every year we feel it a duty to refer to the important matter of planting trees and otherwise decorating the town and the private properties as well. If the next few weeks be allowed to pass unimproved a whole year must elapse before we have another opportunity and a year's development in growth will be lost forever. Next good days the citizen who has no shade trees about his premises will look with a sort of envy on him who has, but the eye of envy will never develop a shade tree. Somebody must do the planting and the sooner it is done, the better. We, ourselves, may never enjoy the fruit of our labors, but judicious work done now will be a benefit to others in time to come and to generations yet unborn. A few weeks ago we referred to what might be done through co-operation with the Horticultural Society. Why not make a good start in the spring of the year 1910? The neglected opportunities of past years can never be recalled. Let us act in the living present.
