Macfarlane's have a china sale on this month.

Relex medicines, a special remedy for every ailment, fully guaranteed, at Macfarlane's.

The weather is keeping very cool and the crops are rather backward for the time of year. This paragraph is not intended for nearby readers.

It was nineteen years last Monday since the death of Sir John A. Macdonald. How time flies! It doesn't seem to be more than five or six years.

Being somewhat indisposed, we missed the pleasure last Friday of assisting Mr. Hugh Riddell at the raising of his new barn. It was a disappointment to us, but we couldn't very well help it.

To teachers and senior students of the Central Business College of Toronto offers some special inducements and some unusual advantages in connection with the conduct of its summer schools in business, shorthand and telegraphy. See card in our advertisement columns.

Arthur Black, employed at the cement works here, met with an accident on Friday last that will lay him off work for a time. He is employed in the clay room, and, when pursuing his usual duties, did not notice that a large piece of clay had become detached, with the result that it broke away and fell on him. Besides a fractured wrist, he also received several bruises, and though his injuries are painful, they are not serious.

We are pleased to know that Mr. David Smith has improved sufficiently to take an interest in being out in warm weather. He was down town Saturday, and spent a short time around the foundry, but didn't try his hand in the work.

A soreness in one of his legs a couple of weeks ago started all kinds of rumors, even to amputating the offending member, but Dave isn't going to be knocked out yet. We sincerely hope for a speedy and complete recovery. He has been so patient he deserves to get well.

Rev. Mr. Hartley preached his first regular sermons in Trinity church Durham, and St. Paul's, in Egremont, since his appointment to this parish, on Sunday last. Mr. Hartley created a most favorable impression, and won many friends by the able manner in which he performed his duties. A fluent orator, and a clear enunciator, it is a pleasure to listen to his discourse, and Trinity and St. Paul's churches are to be congratulated on their good fortune in securing such a man, who is an untiring church worker as well.

Mrs. John Moffet is bewailing the loss of a handsome bed of tulips, which were stolen from her flower garden one evening last week, and though she hasn't said anything to us, we are of the opinion she does not possess a very kindly feeling for the person who did the thieving. Mrs. Moffet had watered them the evening before, and was congratulating herself on their fine appearance, and it can easily be imagined with what consternation she found next morning that during the night hours, some lowly pilferer had removed them. While the world may have a certain amount of respect for the criminal who can hoodwink a corporation or a firm out of a couple of hundred thousand dollars, it must regard the person who will stoop to swiping flowers with a feeling of contempt. Though the monetary loss in Mrs. Moffet's case is not great, it is practically a whole spring's work for beauty gone to naught, and she must have the same feeling for the culprit as the Irishman had for the man who stole his shoes. He didn't wish him any harm, but he hoped he'd trip over them and fall down stairs and break his confounded neck.

Dr. Brown, eye, ear, nose and throat, will be at the Hahn House Durham, on Saturday, June 11th, from 12 noon to 5 p. m. Eyes tested and glasses supplied.

The volunteers, led by the 31st Regimental Band, made their way to the C. P. R. station on Friday morning, and took the train for Niagara, where they will spend a fortnight in camp. We have no special war correspondent, but shall be pleased, just the same, to learn of their success while absent.

Even if Norman Walpole does charge the two local editors with being drunk and disorderly while on the Press Excursion, we emphatically deny such a slanderous statement, as Mr. Ramage was perfectly sober during the whole trip. It takes a lot of gall for an ordinary liverman to make such charges against men of our cloth. O ye little fishes!

Mr. A. H. Preston, for the past year manager of the Traders Bank branch here, has been succeeded by Mr. Batchelor, who comes here from Embrum. Mr. Preston goes to the Stettler, Alta. branch as manager. While here, Mr. Preston made many friends, and though we are loath to see him leave, we wish him every success in his new field. To Mr. and Mrs. Batchelor, we extend a hearty welcome.

We haven't seen Rev. Mr. Hartley, the new rector in Trinity church, but we met Mr. Kerr, of the Blyth Standard, and Mr. Fleuty of the Oakville Record while on our trip up north, and both gentlemen pronounced him white clean through and spoke of him so favorably that we take pleasure in telling about it. We do like preachers when they're men, but when they're not we have no more use for them than we have for other people. We tender a hearty welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Hartley as citizens.

It was not our intention last week to omit mentioning the Tennysonian Recital given by Mr. W. M. Booth, of McGill University, on the Wednesday evening previous. The recital, which was under the auspices of the Continuation school consisted of the reciting of "Enoch Arden," and was put on as a help to the members of the Continuation class here, rather than as an entertainment. Throughout the recital, Mr. Booth was assisted by Miss Green, of the Dominion Conservatory of Music, who played the musical accompaniment by Strauss, composed especially for this poem. Though the attendance was small, all were thoroughly delighted with the rendering, which was done in a most masterly manner, both Mr. Booth and Miss Green handling their parts with great credit to themselves.

Chief Carson has rolled up his sleeves and laid bare his fighting arm to those whose cattle run at large, and one day last week put four head of strayed bovines behind the bars of the law. Before he caught them, however, they had damaged the gardens of Mr. I. Allen, and Mrs. D. Campbell by running over them and eating everything in sight, so the owner was assessed damages for this, as well as the demands of the poundkeeper. The animals impounded turned out to be the property of Mr. Wm. Andrews, of Glenelg, and had, with eight others, broken out of a back field and wandered away. Sunday last was the first intimation he received of the affair, and we learn that he is still on the hunt for the others. We hope he may recover them with less expense than the four that wandered in here.

Mr. James Carson returned the Collector's Roll for 1909 with an unpaid balance of less than $20, some of which grew out of assessments on income, the parties assessed having left town. This is a pretty clean showing, and Mr. Carson deserves credit for the way he got after his job, and broke the record of all past years.

The muzzling order has passed out of existence in Hanover, according to reports and now the canines of that burg are enjoying unrestricted liberty. Just where Hanover got the authority to do away with the muzzling regulation is not very clear to us, but they must have obtained special permission from the authorities. The order, when passed, was to remain in effect until rescinded, and we in Durham have not yet received notification that this has been done.

The Orangemen are making preparations for a big day here on the 12th, and they'll have it without a doubt. Train arrangements have been made from Southampton to Walkerton with the G. T. R., and then by the C. P. R. to Durham, also with the G. T. R. from Listowel, Palmerston, Mt. Forest and other places to the south of us, and from Shelburne and Chatsworth over the C. P. R. Bands will be present from Hanover, Walkerton, Shelburne, Markdale and elsewhere.

REV. AND MRS. NEWTON

BANQUETED ON THURSDAY

On Thursday evening last, the auditorium of the Baptist church was comfortably filled with members and friends of the congregation. The object of the gathering was to spend a social hour in giving expression to kindly feelings to Mr. and Mrs. Newton, who have decided to leave Durham after a successful pastorate of about nine years, during which time their handsome church has been built, and the congregation largely increased.

Mr. Wm. Colder acted as chairman, and after the opening chorus by the choir, and a short address, Mr. and Mrs. Newton were called, when a very eulogistic address was read by Mr. J. H. Brown, and a purse presented containing considerably over a hundred dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton expressed their gratitude to the Baptist people, as well as to the members of other congregations, for the very kindly way in which they had been treated during their stay here.

From Mr. Newton's remarks, we are inclined to believe he would consider very favorably a proposition to return again to Durham in the not far distant future.

Very kindly addresses were made by Messrs. Thos. McComb, John A. Graham, Geo. Binnie, Zenus Clark, H. J. Snell, Dr. Farquharson, Thos. Allan, Dr. Jamieson, and the local editors. Mrs. Harding, of Hamilton, and Miss Gertie McComb and Mrs. Grant McComb, sang appropriate solos, while Mrs. Harding, Grant McComb, and Allan Bell, pleased the audience with a well-rendered trio.

Every speaker, without exception, expressed himself in the very highest terms of good will and confidence towards Mr. and Mrs. Newton. Mr. Newton has proved himself a good pastor, a good church builder, a good financier, a good worker, and a good citizen. Mrs. Newton was equally esteemed, and in musical and moral circles her departure from Durham would be a decided loss to the town.

Personally, the editor of this paper has always held Mr. and Mrs. Newton in the very highest esteem. As dependable citizens of the sterling character, they had few equals. On any question you could always tell where they stood, at least, we always found them that way. Mr. Newton's stay in Durham has been a material benefit to the place. The beautiful church he caused to be erected stands out as a monument to his memory, but this is not all. He erected two houses, and the neatness of the surroundings in each case is well worthy of imitation. He wasn't a lazy man by any means, and if there's any dignity in honest labor, Mr. Newton has always had his share of it. It would be a blessing to have many citizens like Mr. and Mrs. Newton.

At the close of the program, a magnificent supper was served by the ladies of the congregation, and it was nearly midnight when the crowd dispersed, feeling that the time had been well and profitably spent. Mr. Newton goes to Lumsden, and carries with him the best wishes of the community.

Very meagre particulars have been received here by the family regarding the death of Mr. John Smith of Souris, North Dakota, after an illness of four days from pneumonia. Deceased was a son of the late Mrs. John Smith, who died at her home in Bentinck, near Crawford in May 1909. He went to North Dakota seventeen years ago and has not been home since. He was well known here before leaving, and much respected by the residents with whom he was best acquainted. (He was born at Branchton, Ont. February 25th, 1859, and was therefore in his 52nd year. He leaves a widow and two sons. Though death occurred early in April, the intelligence was not received here till a few days ago. The sorrowing members of the family here are Wm. James, Nancy, and Ellen. On the homestead, and Mrs. John McDonald, at Aberdeen.
