"SHALL WE DEE?"

Pathetic Story of a Flooded Colliery.

Describing, in his annual report on the mines of North and East Lancashire, the disaster at the Aspen Colliery, Accrington, Mr. Gerrard, Inspector of Mines, gives a moving account of the efforts of two men and a boy to escape from the water which had flooded the workings. The water was too strong for Harworth, who turned back. Kenyon kept on; some distance in the water he came to the boy Redmayne, crying and calling out "Mother, mother!" The boy had no light. Kenyon said, "Thee cling to me" (he had only a flannel vest with a belt over it on him, no trousers, shoes or stockings). The boy said, "Shall we dee?" They struggled on through the water until a large stone knocked Kenyon down. Recovering himself, proceeding a little further, he missed the boy, but did not dare to go back for him; he nearly gave in several times. Resting by placing his head against the roof, he thought of his home and children and struggled on until met by Butterworth and rescued.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
