FOUGHT TO A FINISH.

Tiger and Crocodile in a Battle in the Water. In India a native went to bathe in a ravine. He was in the water up to his neck when a tiger on the hill above gave a leap toward its prey. But the tiger had not calculated that, since his victim was much lower than himself, a leap of the right strength for a horizontal range would carry him far beyond his mark; consequently he fell some ten feet on the other side.

Now, it happened that a hungry crocodile was at the same time drawing a bee line under water toward the native. When the crocodile had almost come upon his prey he heard a splash just in front and made a dash, bringing his enormous jaws down on the tiger's paw.

The bather nearly fainted with fright when he saw the tiger fall into the water, and for a few moments he could not understand why the creature did not devour him. Why did he persist in keeping one of his paws under water, beating savagely with the other? And the water turned red!

Then all at once the assaults of the tiger became more furious, and his growls developed into roars. The huge tail of a crocodile reared up out of the water. The obvious intention was to pull the tiger under water and drown him, and the tiger, understanding this purpose, tried to frustrate it by beating the snout of the crocodile with his other paw. But the snout was too far down, and he left much of his force on the surface of the water. His struggles became more and more feeble, and at length he disappeared altogether, only a cluster of bubbles remaining to show where he had been.

His fight, however, had been a game one, not entirely in vain, for when the bodies of the two beasts finally came to the surface it was seen that the tiger had literally torn away the whole front of the crocodile's face and had blinded it so that its victory was a useless one.—Chicago Record-Herald.

FALLING BODIES.

Their Velocity Varies According to the Force of Gravity.

A man falling from a three story building in New Orleans will not fall as fast as he would if he were in New York city. In fact, in hardly any two places will he fall with the same speed. This is because as we go toward the equator the force of gravity gets less and less, and consequently the acceleration of a falling body becomes less, and the force of impact is therefore less.

While it does not make very much difference in the injury to a person falling from a height, it does make a difference in other things. Take a rifle and fire it exactly horizontally, and if the gun is sixteen feet above the ground, say, at New York the bullet fired from such a rifle will strike the ground in exactly one second after it leaves the rifle. If the bullet has a horizontal velocity of 1,000 feet per second it will strike the earth exactly 1,000 feet away. Let us take the same rifle to a place where the force of gravity is not the same as at New York, but a good deal smaller, say two-thirds smaller. We find that if the gun is placed sixteen feet above the ground, as before, and absolutely horizontal the bullet will not fall the sixteen feet in one second, but will take over one and a half seconds to fall, thus enabling the bullet to be in the air during that length of time. Therefore it will strike the ground about 1,600 feet away. Thus it is seen that the range of a rifle is increased as it is taken toward the equator.

Of course there is no place on the earth where the force of gravity is two-thirds smaller than at New York, but there are many places where the difference is considerable enough to affect slightly the range of rifles.—Harper's Weekly.

The Chicle Tree.

Chewing gum is nothing but chicle mixed with sugar and flavoring, and chicle is the gum of a tree that grows plentifully in Mexico and Central America and that of recent years has been cultivated on a large scale in Yucatan. The chicle tree is not unlike the india rubber tree, and the gum was first shipped to America by men who believed that in it they had a perfect substitute for rubber. In this, however, they were mistaken, as it was found that the chicle gum was insoluble. Not to this day has any medium acid or alkali, spirit or ether been found that will dissolve it.—Argonaut.

It is not the straining for great things that is most effective; it is the doing the little things, the common duties, a little better and better—the constant improving—that tells.

One Doctor—Only One

No sense in running from one doctor to another! Select the best one, then stand by him. No sense either in trying this thing, that thing, for your cough. Carefully, deliberately select the best cough medicine, then take it. Stick to it. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for throat and lung troubles. Sold for nearly seventy years. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Why try this thing, that thing, for your constipation? Why not stick to the good old reliable family laxative—Ayer's Pills? Ask your doctor if he approves this advice.

AN ACCOMMODATING FLAG

"The King of the Cocon Islands," who died the other day, came of a stock that would have done credit to the old Scottish clan system. The original "king" was king in more than name, but he preferred to be like an old-time Highland chief. So he came voluntarily under the shelter of the British flag, and remained king all the same. It is a most accommodating bit of bunting is the British flag.

"I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of, and safest remedy for coughs, colds, and bronchial trouble," writes Mrs. L.B. Arnold, of Denver, Colo. "We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief." For sale by Gun's Drug Store.

AN EYE TO ECONOMY

A young lady who taught a class of small boys in the Sunday-school, desired to impress on them the meaning of returning thanks before a meal. Turning to one in the class, whose father was a deacon in the church, she asked him:
"William, what is the first thing your father says when he sits down to the table?"
"He says, 'Go slow with the butter kids; it's twenty-eight cents a pound,'" replied the youngster.

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough - Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Junction City, Ore. This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale at Gun's Drug Store.

George Lloyd, who works at the cement works, had the misfortune to have his hand burned on Monday evening, by coming in contact with an electric wire, from which the insulation had worn. He was only slightly burned, we are told.

Note the changes in the C. P. R. time-table, which came into effect on Monday morning last. Steam-bound trains are now scheduled to leave Durham at 7:30 a.m., and 4:15 p.m. and Westbound trains at 12:24 and 9:14 p.m.

Miss Rita Irwin, a talented piano pupil of Miss Eugene Quebec, of the faculty of the Conservatory of Music, is making her influence felt in Newmarket as a teacher. She is also organist and choir directress at the Methodist church.—Toronto Globe.

Mrs. W. E. Buchan met with a misfortune Sunday night by falling on Garafraza Street, near the C. P. R. crossing. The large bone of the left arm was broken, an considerable time will elapse before she can have any use of it. We sincerely regret the accident.

While driving into town on Monday night, Mrs. Robt. Hill, accompanied by Mrs. Jas. Donnelly, was run into by a team and vehicle when opposite Smith's harness shop, and her buggy so badly wrecked that it was found impossible to proceed further in it. We understand the ladies were not at all responsible for the accident, as they were on their right side of the road. Two children were also in the buggy with them, but fortunately no one was injured.

Large congregations at all the services last Sunday, and sermons by the pastor greatly appreciated. Several new faces appeared in the choir, who rendered two new anthems, besides a splendid solo by Mr. Eugene Barker, and selection by the Male Quartette. Miss Irwin the new organist, appears to be filling the bill, and her opening selections are eliciting great praise from the congregation.—Newmarket Era.

The McGowan Milling Co. is not likely to go idle for a while. At the present time they have sufficient orders booked for export to Liverpool, England, to keep the mill running night and day up to the middle of February. From one firm alone, they have an order for nine thousand 140 pound sacks. They have advertised for a night miller, and expect to run night and day after a week or so. We are glad to report such success.

The anniversary and re-opening of Mulock Baptist church, will take place on Sunday, November 13th. Rev. A. R. McDonald, B. A. B. Th., from Dalesville, Quebec, the new pastor, will preach morning and evening, on Monday evening there will be a social gathering and reception, and a fine program. Revs. Leslie and Oakley of Crawford, are invited to take part, also Rev. Mr. McCausland, of Durham. Tea served from 6 to 7:30. Admission 15c, and 15c.

As a sequel to the depositions committed there on Halloween, sixteen informations were laid by Chief Constable Carson on behalf of the town. The blue papers were properly served and Tuesday night was set for a general hearing before Police Magistrate Bedford. Before the 10:30 hour arrived, fifteen of the sixteen had put in an appearance and settled their little bills, which amounted to about five dollars each, including costs. John V. Lett was the only case to come to trial, and on his own evidence, confirmed by that of his employer, Esob. Even, his innocence was established, and he was honorably acquitted. Badmaster Wicket, who was sworn in as special constable for the night, gave the only evidence against him, and the police magistrate, believing it a case of mistaken identity, gave his decision as above. We hope this will put an end to such conduct, and that the boys and married men also, will now realize that fines can be imposed for depositions committed on Halloween, just the same as any other night.
