The PILLAR OF LIGHT

Continued from page 6. "I was wondering what had become of you," she said. "My sister has asked me several times if you had arrived, and I imagined that I must have missed you by some chance. Now all this was Greek to him, or nearly so. Indeed, had it been intelligible Greek, he might have guessed its purport more easily. Holding the glass in his hand he looked at her in frank, open-eyed wonder. To be hailed so gleefully by a good-looking girl whom he had never to his knowledge set eyes on, was somewhat of a mystery, and the puzzle was made all the more difficult by the fact that he had discarded the weather-proof accoutrements needed when she first ventured forth on the gallery. "I'm real glad you're pleased. My name is Charles A. Poyne," he said, slowly. It was now Constance's turn to be bewildered. Then the exact situation dawned on her. "How stupid of me," she cried. "Of course you don't recognize me again. My sister and I happen to be alone with my father on the rock tonight. We were with him on the balcony when you acted so bravely. You see, the light shone clear on your face. "I'm glad it's shining on yours now," he said. "You must go two floors below this," said she, severely. "I will bring you some cocoa and a biscuit as quickly as possible." "I am not a bit tired," he commented, still looking at her. "That is more than I can say," she answered, "but I am so delighted that we managed to save so many poor people." "How many?" "Seventy-eight. But I dare not ask you how many are lost. It would make me cry, and I have no time for tears. Will you really help to carry a tray?" "Just try me." At the top of the stairs Constance called to her father: "Anything you want, dad?" "Yes, dear. Find out the chief officer, and send him to me. He can eat and drink here whilst we talk."

To be continued. DANKIES CORNERS. Mr. Geo. Ritchie, of Acton, spent over Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. Jas. Ritchie, and other friends. We wish to extend our hearty congratulations and best wishes for a happy future, and a calm and peaceful sail on the sea of life to Mr. and Mrs. John McGirr. The marriage took place on Tuesday last week. It was with deep regret we learned of the death of Mr. Harry Harrison, of Egremont. We had been personally acquainted with Harry since school-boy days, and always found him a young man of sterling qualities and highly respected by all who knew him. We extend our sincere sympathy to the sorrowing ones. Mr. Geo. Ryan, jr., has recently purchased a 100-acre farm in Sauguen Valley, from Mr. Geo. McKechnie, for which he paid a handsome figure. The Women's Institute had a very successful meeting at the home of Mrs. James McGirr, on Thursday afternoon of last week. About twenty-five ladies were present, all of whom were deeply interested, and played important parts in the program. Work is all being pushed on the new Sauguen bridge, and the forms are almost ready for the concrete at time of writing. Monday. The arch of the structure will be fifty feet long, and sixteen feet in width. There will be seven feet of a fill on both approaches, which will lessen the grade considerably. Mrs. Adam Watson, we are sorry to learn, has not improved any since last writing. We are pleased to learn that Mr. Donald Weir is on the mend. On Wednesday night of last week, conversation was quietly taking its course at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGirr, when suddenly the air was filled by most enchanting sounds. At this juncture it became evident that the exhilarating music came from the instruments of the 31st Regimental band, who had taken the opportunity of stealing a march on the home of the newly married couple, and extending their best wishes to their comrade. They received a hearty welcome from the bride and groom, after which an address was read by Mr. Peter Ramage, while Mr. Wright, band-leader, presented the young couple with a handsome mantel clock to which Mr. McGirr briefly replied on behalf of himself and his bride, and thanked the boys most heartily for the kindness shown. The evening was spent in vocal

Lesson VII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 13, 1910. THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES. Text of the Lesson. Matt. xxiv, 32-51. Memory Verse, 44—Golden Text, Matt. xxvi, 41 — Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The greater part of this great discourse is recorded by both Mark and Luke as well as by Matthew. As they left the temple one day His disciples called His attention to the great buildings with the goodly stones and gifts, and they were evidently greatly surprised by His remark that all would be thrown down and not one stone left upon another. Four of them came to Him privately as He sat upon the Mount of Olives and asked Him a question which was really threefold, though they probably thought it one. The destruction of the temple, His coming again and the end of the age were two, if not three, distinct events. In His discourse he covered the reply to all. The whole age until He shall come again will be characterized by wars, famines, pestilences and earthquakes, with increasing wickedness until it shall be as it was in the days of Noah. In Luke xxi, 24, He very plainly referred to the approaching destruction of Jerusalem and covered this present age by the words, "Jerusalem until the stones be built up, and the gentiles will be trodden down of the gentiles until the times of the gentiles be fulfilled." With this verse we should associate Rom. xi, 25, 26. Many of the circumstances connected with the destruction of Jerusalem were foreshadowings of those at the end of the age, and the warnings are therefore similar. Verses 27-31 of our lesson chapter speak plainly of His coming in power and glory immediately after the great tribulation at the end of this age. The destruction of Jerusalem was in no sense His coming, for it is written in Psalm cii, 16, that when He shall appear in His glory He will build up Zion, not destroy it. He is coming again to restore all things of which the prophets have spoken (Acts iii, 21).

FOOT BALLER'S BAD KNEE HEALED.

Zam Buk Once Again the Only Cure! Mr. H. Allinson, of 457 King St., London, Ont., says: "While a member of the East Kent Division Football Team, and during a rough and exciting game of football, I fell on the hard gravel, sustaining a badly lacerated knee. This required protracted medical attendance and sand and gravel were filled the open wound, which was very painful and sore. For several weeks the doctor treated my injury, and it was thought to be well healed over; but not sooner had I begun to move about than the skin broke, and I suffered more than at first. For seven long weeks I was actually laid up. It then developed into a running sore, and I was alarmed for fear the result would be a permanent stiff knee. The doctor's treatment failed to heal the wound, so I procured a supply of Zam-Buk. It was almost magical in its effect on the sore. The discharging soon ceased. The soreness and pains were banished, and perseverance with Zam-Buk made me gradually lacerated knee as good and firm as ever. Zam-Buk has no equal in clearing and healing open wounds and I recommend it to all athletes and sportsmen." Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, eczema, blood poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions, and chapped faces, cuts, burns, bruises and skin diseases generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co. Toronto, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitations and substitutes. See the registered name "Zam-Buk" on every package before buying.

EDGE HILL.

Mr. Geo. Staples was in Toronto on Thanksgiving Day. Miss Nellie Hepburn, of Durham, is the guest of Miss Lily Ritchie. Mrs. Lena Edge is home, after spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Grand Valley and Orangeville. Mr. Thos. Erth, B.A., has entered upon his duties as principal master in Goderich Collegiate Institute. Miss Ethel Greenwood, accompanied by a lady friend, has come from Midway over the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Volger, of Australia, visited a couple of days last week with Mrs. C. Williams. Mr. Bolger is a brother of Mrs. Williams' son-in-law, Mr. Jas. Bolger. Miss Amy I. Edge, of Warton High School staff, spent Thanksgiving holidays at her home here. Mrs. Doyle, and Miss Doyle, of Toronto, visited with the Edge families over Thanksgiving. Mrs. A. Binnie is visiting this week with her sister, Mrs. John Little, at Dundalk. The Edge Sunday School social will be held in the Grange Hall on Friday evening last. The weather was all that could be desired, and the hall was filled beyond comfortable seating capacity. Tea was served shortly after eight o'clock, and tasty and daintily prepared edibles were passed around, until the appetites of the audience were amply satisfied. After tea, the program was placed in the hands of Mr. R. T. Edwards, of Eborale, who makes an excellent chairman. He is possessed of a ready wit which gives him a wonderful command over an audience, and as a story teller, he cannot be equalled. The program was of high order, those taking part in it all doing remarkably well. A number of choice recitations were given by the children. Several choruses were sung, and also a couple of duets, Messrs. John L. McDonald and Chas. Ramage, jr., each gave short, witty addresses. Two rather humorous readings were given and Miss Kate McFayden sang an encore. Two acrostics, dealing with Thanksgiving, by the children, were well rendered. The collection taken up during the evening amounted to $6.75, and is being sent by the Sunday school to Muskoka Sanitarium. The average attendance for this year was 39, with 13 scholars and 3 teachers present every Sunday. At the close of the program, the children were given a treat of candies, and the meeting was closed with the National Anthem.
