Mr. John Barbour is coming to the front. He has moved from the Marshall farm to Mr. Leeson's house near the front road.

Miss Cook of Ebordale, spent last week very pleasantly with her sister, Mrs. Wm. McFadden.

Mr. Samuel Patterson, of the new survey, returned home last week, after a three weeks' visit in Saskatchewan. He liked the country so well, that he purchased land in it.

There was a raffle and dance at Mr. Ben Woods' last Tuesday. We haven't got much light on the event, and as the lamps got out of kitter and went out, we are not the only ones kind of hazy over the affair.

Messrs. Jas. Kerr and Thos. Gordon have purchased the well-known model farm from Mr. Mike Morrison, being situated between and adjoining the two purchasers.

The former gets the front fifty, and the latter the back.

Mr. Jos. Lennox, sr., is recovering from his severe illness, and although not bright well yet, is bright and cheerful as ever, and enjoys an hour's chat with friends as well as ever.

Between ourselves, Mr. Editor, there will be a marriage of two of our most popular young people likely before our next budget, but it is too soon to announce it publicly.

A Sunday school concert given in No. 9, Glenelg, by amateur entertainers on Friday night was well attended, and much appreciated. In fact it might be called a great success, considering it was such a bad night, and in close proximity to a greater one given by professionals of high standard.

Friday night was not the best night we ever had for our Sunday school concert, but it was pronounced by those present to be the very best entertainment ever held in our school house. The school was comfortably filled and the order of the best. Our people knew well how to show appreciation of a really good thing, and we can't, without crowding the Chronicle, give the full program.

Suffice to say, the choir and children, in song and recitation, acquited themselves well, and the dialogues were also well given, and the musical part was by those who are far famed, and they seem ed to excel themselves on this ocasion. They were Dr. Brown,

Mr. Stein, Rev. Mr. Deller, Varney and Messrs. Frank Irwin and the McClecklin Bros. of Durham. Mr.

and Mrs. Wm. McFadden, Messrs.

Chas. Yeo and G. Heather, Miss

Bella McLaughlin and Mrs. John Queen, and Miss Mabel Mead, of this place. The tea and eatables was as customary in this place, both good and plentiful. The Secretary of the school, in his report showed a healthy, growing school and a balance on hand which was augmented by about $15 by the door receipts. Rev. Mr. Hartley makes an ideal chairman. Singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.
