it, tooth and nail, and the thunders of applause that greeted every brilliant play were deafening.

In five minutes, Cowan scored for Durham, and five minutes afterwards saw Owen Sound drop gaining the lead for Durham in one minute more. Cowan tallied again for the locals, nine minutes afterwards, and with a score of 3 to 1 against them, the Sounders' rooters were feeling a bit anxious, and put away their rooting machines for the time being. In eight minutes of play, however, they scored, which brought out a thunder of applause, and three minutes afterwards, when they slipped in another, the old rink was almost wrecked, so great was the explosion that followed. This ended the scoring for this period, the first half ending a tie, 3-3.

The second period was possibly the best, from a hockey standpoint, and the Durhams upheld half commenced at 9.46, and in left, Loos. five minutes, Saunders netted the Referee, A. T. For another five minutes, the puck travelled up and down the ice, and then across the ice, never resting, never stopping for even a second, so closely was it followed. It was at this juncture that Thomas, at point, got hold of it, and started down the ice. Passing man after man on the Owen Sound line-up, he dropped the rubber in behind the
