Will Farmers Gain or Lose When Canada's Door is Open?
 Is the United States Market Worth the Price that We Must Pay for it under Reciprocity?

A Question for Farmers
 From The Canadian Century

When we allow vast quantities of food from Australasia and the twelve favored foreign nations to come freely into Canada how are we going to prove to American customs officials that the farm products we are trying to send across the United States boundary were really produced in Canada.

Ask your neighbors this question. We may be sure that the farmers of the United States will insist upon customs regulations that will prevent Canada becoming the back door entrance to the United States for all the great food exporting countries of the world. The enforcement of these regulations will be very annoying. The necessity of proving that every consignment of food imported into the United States from Canada is actually Canadian will scare American buyers. They will naturally pay lower prices for Canadian farm products than for American farm products when they have to take the risk of disputes with customs officials as to whether they are genuine Canadian or come from countries overseas.

Prices are always fluctuating in the United States and while a consignment of Canadian butter or eggs is being held up at the United States customs awaiting proof of genuineness the price may go down.

Australasian Food for Canada
 During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1901, there came to Canada from Australia and New Zealand 568,989 pounds of butter, 1,149,979 pounds of fresh mutton and lamb, 107,353 pounds of canned meats and small quantities of other meats. In view of the fact that such quantities are imported under the present tariff, what may be expected when the duties on butter and cheese are abolished and the duties on meats greatly reduced as a result of the Reciprocity Compact with the United States.

Farm products from Australia and New Zealand come in by way of both the Pacific and Atlantic. New Zealand frozen lambs coming in by way of Vancouver have been sold as far east as Winnipeg. A large consignment of lamb carcasses from New Zealand has just reached St. John, N. B.

The New Zealand steamship "Aorangi" is now on its way to San Francisco with 5000 carcasses of New Zealand mutton and large quantities of butter. They cannot pass into the United States without payment of high customs duties. Is it not probable that such cargoes will be diverted to Canadian ports when the Reciprocity Agreement goes into effect? There is nothing in the Reciprocity Compact binding the United States to admit farm products free or at reduced rates from Australia, New Zealand and the twelve foreign countries that have favored nation treaties with Canada.

He Loses His Bet
 A New Brunswick farmer writes to The Canadian Century as follows:—"There may be something in what you say about the danger of competition from great food exporting countries like Australia and Argentina, but I'm willing to bet that not one pound of food will come to Canada from Switzerland, which is one of the twelve countries you mention as entitled to the privileges of the Reciprocity Agreement. What do you say to that?"

Grease stains on leather may be removed by carefully applying benzine or perfectly pure turpentine. Wash the spots over afterwards with the well-beaten white of an egg.

A mirror should never be hung where the sun shines directly upon it. The mercury spreading on the glass to form a looking-glass is soon ruined by exposure to rays of the sun.

A good way to wash bottles or vinegar cruets is to put crushed egg-shells and warm soapy water together in them and shake well. This will clean the glass well and will not scratch it.

A delightful sweet may be made by pressing a bit of nut meat, candied lemon or orange into the heart of a toasted marsh-mallow and then rolling the whole in melted chocolate.

Don't make the mistake of using cream cheese just so for sandwiches. Add to it a minced red pepper or onion juice or some seasoning which will add to its deliciousness.

If potatoes are overboiled, the best thing to do is to drain leave them in the pan, stand it over the fire without the lid and stir briskly for a minute or two. Then add a little butter and serve as mashed potatoes.

Boiled potatoes are an excellent substitute for soap when the hands have become soiled by contact with blackened pots and pans. Potato water should, besides, be kept for renovating silk.

To kill lice on any feathery plant, such as small ivy and the like make a paper cone to cover the plant and burn a small quantity of sulphur under the cone. A

Rules for Living

There are eight rules for living which have been posted in a nurses' training school in a California hospital.

How would they do for your home?

1. I will not permit myself to speak while angry, and I will not make a bitter retort to another person who speaks to me in anger.
2. I will neither gossip about the failings of another, neither will I permit any other person to speak such gossip to me. Gossip will die when it cannot find a listener.
3. I will respect weakness, and defer to it in the street car, in the department store, and in the home.
4. I will always express gratitude for any favor, or service rendered to me. If prevented from doing it on the spot, then I will seek an early opportunity to give utterance to it in the most gracious way within my power.
5. I will not fail to express sympathy with another's sorrow, or to give hearty utterance to my appreciation of good works by another, whether the party be friendly to me or not.
6. I will not talk about my personal ailments for misfortunes. They shall be one of the subjects on which I am silent.
7. I will neither eat nor drink what I know will detract from my ability to do my best work.
8. I will strive to be always prepared for the very best that can happen to me. I will seek to be ready to seize the very highest opportunity, to do the noblest work, to rise to the loftiest place which God and my abilities permit

BURGLARS GET AWAY WITH OVER $1000.

Saturday night last burglars got into the offices of the Maganetawan Tanning and Electric Co., Burks Falls, broke open the safe, and got away with over $1000 in hard cash. Saturday was pay day at the tannery and all the men received their wages in full to that date. Of course in a big concern like this there was a lot of cash over for other purposes and this was put in the office safe. Evidently some outsiders knew of this money being in the safe—or at least made a pretty good guess that it was there—and tapped it during the night with the result given above.

The firm does its banking in Toronto where the head office is located. Perhaps the light-fingered artist traced the money from there. Or perhaps he was "Johnny on the spot."

Meanwhile detectives are on the trail and startling developments are expected within a few hours or mayhap within a few days.

It isn't safe these days to trust any considerable sum of money outside of the bank, but it is surprising what risks are taken in this respect by even the most careful people.—Burks Falls Arrow.

Spring Millinery Opening

Last Friday and Saturday we held our Spring Millinery Opening of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats. Suit Hats for early spring appeared in all the new Empire effects. Small Hats are the thing; the Military Helmet or the Napoleon are both smart. Entire flower Toques or else a crown or brim of flowers are shown. As for the Millinery itself what better praise could there be than this, many a woman came to look, came also to a quick decision to buy. "The best Opening Miss Dick ever had," was the general verdict of the crowds of interested visitors who on Friday and Saturday thronged the store.

This Feeding Floor Could Be Built in The Fall

and it would help greatly to preserve the condition of your live stock in the Spring.

Every farmer knows that in the Spring of the year his barnyard is almost bottomless. The live stock mire down into the mud and almost float around—greatly to the detriment of their physical condition.

By building a Concrete feeding floor in the yard, this trouble is done away with.

A Feeding Floor of comparatively small area and built this Fall, would pay for itself next year. Concrete is the only material that can be used in this way at a moderate cost.

Will you ask for your copy of the book which we have prepared for you—"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"? It's free—and, take our word for it, you'll find it one of the most interesting pieces of such literature you ever read. And profitable, too—because it will save you money.
