THE PARIS DRESSMAKER.

His Studio Would Prove Fascinating to the Ordinary Woman.

Plain, everyday little women who take pride in their one best frock made by the home dressmaker "whose work is really beautiful, my dear, and so reasonable, too," have but a very vague idea as to just what the workrooms of a great Paris dressmaker are like. There every one has his own specialty—how these Paris girls would smile over the efforts of the neighborhood sewing woman who can turn out a very neat little gown, or so it seems to us, in three days, putting every stitch into it herself—and the work is most cleverly and carefully divided. There are girls who never handle anything but bodices; others who only deal with sleeves; and for skirts, furs, cloaks, embroideries, lingerie, etc., there are special departments of workers. Again, in each atelier the workers have various ranks. There is the premiere, the seconds, the first "hands," the sewing machine girls, the small "hands," the apprentices, and finally the "arpettes," that is, the little girls who do the errands and run from floor to floor.

One of the most important workrooms is, of course, that of the draughtsmen, where new models are being invented and where models that have been created are "fixed." For among leading coutouriers there are some who work like architects and others like florists. The "architects," before handling the material with which the gown is to be made, draw sketches and meditate over them. Pencil or brush in hand they look for tone, shape, line, tissue, and it is only when every detail has been settled that the model is carried out according to the drawing and the various notes which accompany it.

After everything is "established," so that all there remains to do is to sew it together, the draughtsmen comes in and copies the model, which is pinned on to the mannequin.

King as a Fire Fighter.
The idea of a real live king acting as a fire chief is rather novel. Such was the case recently in Saxony when King Frederick rushed about directing the firemen who were endeavoring to quell the flames that ravished a portion of the palace. Princess Matilda, a sister of the king, gave a bridge party in her apartments and while the noble players were in the midst of their game the wires on a Christmas tree still standing in the apartments short-circuited and in a second the room was a mass of flames. The party scattered in confusion, but King Frederick rushed upon the scene and took an active part in extinguishing the blaze. When the fire apparatus arrived he took the firemen in hand and directed them with all the ability of an expert and experienced fire chief.

Foiled the Match Scraper.
The new boarder stepped into the room and closed the door. The landlady stood in the hall until she heard him exclaim, "Hang it all!" Then she chuckled softly and went downstairs. "Saved, and by vaseline," she said, "My detective instinct told me that that man is the kind that scratches matches on the woodwork. Many a door jam and mantelpieces in the vicinity of gas jets has been scratched upon the scene and took an active part in extinguishing the blaze. When the fire apparatus arrived he took the firemen in hand and directed them with all the ability of an expert and experienced fire chief.

The Arabic Day.
The Arabic day begins at sunset, and the particular one which begins any month is that on which the new moon is first seen after sunset. Apart from the cloudiness of the sky, there may be and generally is considerable difficulty in seeing the crescent, lost, as it must always be, in the radiance of the sea sun, and consequently there is always uncertainty for some time after sunset whether the day that has just begun is to be reckoned with the last month or as the first of a new month.

13 WEEKS IN HOSPITAL
Came Away No Better and Then Two Boxes of Zam-Buk Worked Complete Cure

Mr. Fred Mason, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer, of St. Andrews, N.B. says: "I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore spots would itch and burn and tingle, and when rubbed or scratched would become very painful. I tried various remedies, but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal, and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was not cured, and almost gave up. A friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial, and although I had little hope of it doing me good, I took the advice. Almost as soon as applied, Zam-Buk stopped the itching and the irritation. I persevered with the balm, and it was soon evident that it would do me good. Each day the pain was reduced, the sore spots began to heal, and by the time I had used a few boxes of Zam-Buk I was cured."

For eczema, blood poisoning, piles, ulcers, sores, abscesses, varicose ulcers, bad leg, sore feet, blisters, insect stings, poisoned wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. Zam-Buk Soap should also be used for washing all wounds, eczema patches and sores. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50 cents a box, and Zam-Buk Soap at 25 cents per tablet, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

A 50-cent bottle of Scott's Emulsion given in half-teaspoon doses four times a day, mixed in its bottle, will last a year-old baby nearly a month, and four bottles over three months, and will make the baby strong and well and will lay the foundation for a healthy, robust boy or girl.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION
The Junior Choir of the C. E. Society, of Holstein Presbyterian Church invited Dr. A. I. Brown to the residence of Mr. John Brown on Wednesday evening, May 3rd, 1911, apparently for the purpose of choir practice. The genial Dr. responded, but there was something far better than choir practice in store for them all. The Dr. was presented with a gold headed Umbrella, suitably engraved which visibly affected him, and the young warblers chimed their notes of joy, thus manifesting the truth, that a gift from proper motives is twice blessed. It blesses the giver and the receiver. The Address was read by Miss Ruby Rodgers and the Presentation was made by Mr. John Brown. The Dr. made a very touching reply.

ADDRESS

To Dr. A. J. Brown, Dear Friend:—With feelings of profound regret, we have learned that you are about to leave Holstein for the laudable object of prosecuting your studies in Medical Science, after a sojourn here of about thirteen years. These have been years of increased activity on your part, from start to finish, of self sacrifice and devotion to Church matters and all its interests at home; to the extension of the Master's Kingdom in foreign lands; to the removal of liquor as a beverage in our community, you were a prominent factor; these together with your professional duties meant activity, and while our eyes and hearts have not been closed to these things, the influence of which will not be easily forgotten; it is to the deep interest you took in the welfare of the young people generally, but especially in the musical instruction of the Junior Choir of the C. E. Society. As such we unitedly desire to approach you to-night for the purpose of acknowledging our high appreciation of your continued efforts on our behalf. At the end of each succeeding year you always made an earnest appeal that the following year should be the best one in our life and we believe it has been so. In parting we ask you to accept of this umbrella, not for its intrinsic worth but as a memento from young and loving hearts, in humble recognition of faithful and devoted service. Our united desires and prayers are that you will be spared to reach the goal of your ambition, that you will enjoy a higher and more extended sphere of usefulness to mankind in the years to come and that you may have long life and prosperity and that the same influence you have exerted in Holstein may be exerted where ever you go until the end comes.

Signed on behalf of the Junior Choir, dated at Holstein, this 3rd. day of May, A. D. 1911. Lena Rice, Elizabeth Brown, Elda Manary, Marion Coburn.

Last week, Mayor Constable Carson had contributed around town certain practices, but didn't seem to take much notice in just as if no notices had been posted. Mayor and constable had to enforce the rules, and neglect doing so, they never have made the good citizen will uphold seeing that proper laws are carried out. We never, to believe that are some who would fight the authorities in an effort to force good, wholesome.

On Thursday morning McGowan's big delivery made things rather along Mill street. frightened at a passing. They ran away from meal mill, where they were, and headed for town district. Luckily to the back street, where they dumped the wagon one corner, left the rest behind a little farther. A loose from the front of seconds later, and finally Mr. Rose's garden on A. no damage was done of broken tug. Had the current an hour later, children were coming to school, we might have serious accident to report.

Mr. W. Lavelle left on Monday morning, withers his position as a lacrosse player with the Toronto Lacrosse Club. Known that he needs lacrosse, and has figured lacrosse and hockey for number of years, being one of the best in the that this northern country produced. For the years, the big teams after him, but he paid attention to their overtures season, when the offer Toronto Lacrosse Club good to be ignored, accepted, signing up with on Friday last. While regret to lose him from line-up, still the best wishes go with him, throwing any taffy, but by of the opinion of "make good" with the any rate, the worst we but him is that he was good athlete while gentleman. So success boy and may your share grow less.
