YOU NEEDN'T DESPAIR

Here's an Offer that should Interest Sufferers of Skin Irritation.

First of all we want to explain that the remedy we are about to tell you of carries our promise of money back for the mere asking to anyone not thoroughly pleased with its use. That should unquestionably establish the sincere faith we have in it.

Parasites or germs cause eczema, and eczema is probably the most prevalent cause of all skin ailments. To overcome them, the remedy must of necessity destroy or remove the parasite or germ before relief can be obtained.

Possessing remarkable antiseptic, germicidal, cleansing, soothing and healing power, the curative value of Rexall Eczema Ointment is very pronounced in the treatment of eczema, and allied skin diseases, whether of the dry scaly sort, the weeping type, where there is a flow of ill-smelling excretion, or the intermediary kind, such as pimples, blotches, discolorations, ringworm or acne. It is very useful for treating hives, nettle rash, insect bites and wounds. It is ideal for the skin ailments peculiar to children.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is grayish-white in color, has a pleasant odor, and is very cleanly for use. If you are a sufferer of skin irritations or eruptions, in any form whatever, we urge you to try a box at our risk. At the mere hint of dissatisfaction, you may have your money back. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, it is only sold at our store—The Rexall Store, Macfarlane & Co.

"Dearie, that was awfully good tea we had at the 'bridge' last night. Do you know what kind it was?"

"Yes, Jack, I ordered some this morning—it was Red Rose!"

Besides her daughter here, she leaves one son, William R., in Orangeville, and another son, John H., in Montreal. She leaves also, eighteen grandchildren, and fifteen great-grandchildren.

COLIN C. McFADYEN

On Sunday last, after a brief illness, one of the oldest and best-known residents of Glenelg passed away in the person of Mr. Colin C. McFadyen.

The deceased was born in the Island of Mull, Argyshire, Scotland, in 1834, and was therefore seventy-seven years of age. In 1847 he came to this country with his parents, and other members of the family, and settled in Glenelg, where he remained to the time of his death, occupying part of the original homestead of 300 acres, taken up by his father, and eldest brother John, who died in 1854.

Mr. McFadyen was a devoted member of the Presbyterian church. He was one of the original members when the Rocky Saugeen church was established, and has ever since been a faithful and regular attendant and communicant in that congregation.

Deceased was never married. Besides his brother John, already referred to, he had a brother, Hugh, and two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Firth, and Mrs. Angus Black, also deceased. The surviving members of the family are, his brother Donald, on the homestead, and sister, Mrs. Turnbull.

Mr. McFadyen was known far and wide in the western part of this country, and more especially in Scottish demonstrations, where the big gatherings were assembled. He was an enthusiastic Scotchman, and a fond admirer of the pipes, the tartans, and the kilts. In politics he was an unswerving Liberal, but apart from his loyalty to the party, we have no knowledge that he was ever offensive in any way. He leaves many friends and acquaintances, who will regret to hear that he has passed the bourne from which no traveller returns. Interment took place Tuesday afternoon at Rocky Saugeen cemetery.

A STRONG PLEA.

He referred briefly to the railway oppression felt by the Canadian people in the West. The evils they complain of can be adjusted and remedied by the Government at Ottawa if they go about it with vigor and determination. He himself, fought the railway corporations for a 2c. rate, and succeeded so far as to get a uniform rate of 3c. instead of 3c., 3 1/2c. and 4c. as formerly. They would still keep up the fight, and would ultimately conquer if the Government would only press the fight.

Pointed reference was made to the Favored Nations clause, and the damaging influence of competition in the same materials as we produce, was clearly pointed out. He also stated that Patterson and Fielding admitted their ignorance of the Favored Nations clause being operative in Canada if reciprocity went into effect.

BLUNDERS ON THE WIRE

Telegraphic Mistakes that Have Caused Much Annoyance

"Yes," said the telegraphic operator, "there is no doubt that the almost universal adoption of the Morse system of telegraphy has considerably diminished the number of mistakes made in the transmission of telegrams, but the telegraph is still a long way from being an unmitigated boon and blessing. Many of the symbols are so perilously alike that errors are sure to occur from time to time.

"For instance, 'bad' and 'dead' are composed of dots and dashes, the so-called difference being that in 'dead' there is a very slight space or pause that does not occur in 'bad.' The difference is so slight, however, that one has to be listening very attentively to hear it. Now, it is a most unfortunate fact that many people are very fond of using the phrase 'he is bad' for 'he is ill,' so there are quite a number of telegrams which should read, say, 'Father is bad,' that get altered in transmission to 'Father is dead.'

"Then, again, many people curtail their messages to such an extent as to invite errors. For instance, a certain lady telegraphed to a registry office for servants, 'Send them both thanks,' by which she meant 'Thank you, send both of them' (the 'both' referring to two servants). The telegram reached its destination as 'Send them both back.' This error was due to the fact that 'th' and 'b' are not unlike in the Morse alphabet, which, together with the fact that telegraphists totally ignore punctuation, fully explains the error."

NOVEL ORCHARD EXPERIMENT

Mr. W. H. Underwood, a great fruit raiser of Hutchinson, Kansas, is preparing a novel experiment to protect his orchard from frost. Mr. Underwood has purchased 20,000 ten-gallon oil-stoves, which he proposes to set up in his orchard of 550 acres, and when the frosts come a d the trees are blossoming he will keep these stoves alight day and night until the crisis is over.

Covering one mile in 2 minutes 43 2/5ths seconds at Olympia, A. R. E. Kingston created a world's record on roller-skating.
