A TREE OF KNOWLEDGE

A student of holy writ has composed statistics of the King James authorized version of the Bible in this form:

The Bible contains 8,556,498 letters, 810,697 words, 31,175 verses, 1,139 chapters and 95 books. The longest chapter is the 118th Psalm; the shortest and middle chapter the 117th Psalm. The middle verse is the 8th of the 118th Psalm. The longest name is in the 8th chapter of Isaiah. The word "and" occurs 46,627 times; the word "Lord" occurs 1,855 times. The 37th chapter of Isaiah and the 19th chapter of the second Book of Kings are alike. The 1st verse is the 9th of the 8th chapter of Esther; the shortest verse is the 35th of the 11th chapter of John. In the 1st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra is the alphabet. The finest piece of reading was in the 26th chapter of Acts. The name of God is not mentioned in the Book of Esther. It contains knowledge, wisdom, holiness and love.

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.

SATURDAY NIGHT SERMONS BY REV. SAMUEL W. PURVIS, D.D.

THE MILLS OF THE DIVORCE GOD.

Text, "Whosoever putteth away his wife," etc.—Matthew v, 32.

"For better, for worse, till death us do part."—Marriage Ceremony.

"Mr. and Mrs. Firsttime, allow me to present my wife, Mrs. Gayburd." Confusion and perplexity play on the faces of the Firsttimes. "Pardon me; I should have said 'the new Mrs. Gayburd.'" There's much laughter and congratulations. "It surely doesn't seem six months since we entertained him and the last Mrs. Gayburd. Time flies so quickly," says Mrs. Firsttime. "Sloux Falls" asks her husband laconically.

One of the largest questions before the American people today is that of divorce. Figures alarm. They vary from Maine, with one divorce to six marriages, to the last government figures with a national average of one in twelve. Our nation leads in drink, murder, suicide, divorce. We are nearing where Rome was when the storm broke, where France stood before the reign of terror. The nation's sky is dark and would be ominous were it not for signs of better things.

Light and Shadow.

Possibly we exaggerate the divorce evil, or, rather, underestimate the other side. Houghton, the eminent sociologist, says: "American men and women today hire their wives and husbands as they do their horses and carriages. When they are not suited they dismiss one and hire another. Women mostly think they can hire, tire and fire." Hire! Tire! Fire! Is that the order? Sometimes, in theatrical circles, most prolific in divorce, Mr. Mat Goodfellow may write charmingly of "Why Beautiful Women Like to Marry Me." In the "smart set," where "affinities" come and go rapidly, among some heiresses who are put on the auction block and sold to the highest bidder, and among some millionaires who have much money and no work, divorce is the correct thing, and that happy consummation with the taking on of a new amour is heralded as leading news. But back of that is the ten hundred thousand happy men and women who through poverty, sickness, calamity, are faithful to each other "till death them do part." They form the backbone of the great American republic. Feel thankful that you do not live in the foul moral sewer, the nauseous mess, that constitutes the testimony of cabby who carried milady up the steps too drunk to walk and of the sergeant in the "red light" district who told of the escapades of milord. The devil's meal is mostly bran that goes as grist to the mills of the divorce god.

The Road to the Mill.

I believe in lawful divorce just as well as lawful marriage. But just as long as the front door of marriage stands wide open day and night the back door of divorce will be left conveniently ajar. It is not only to divorce, but to marriage, that attention should be turned. A man anxious to "do" a rival, a social clothes rack craving the title of "Mrs." before her name, an anxious minded mamma, the pocketbook of an overworked papa, are mighty important factors in many marriages. As a rule, a fairly wise normal marriage does not end in the divorce court; the figures show that. It is the hasty, impulsive, foolish marriages that end on the rocks. A Pennsylvania village stepped smilingly into the limelight for recognition when a young fellow took a dare to propose to a strange girl visiting in the town. She caught the spirit of the joke. They applied for a license; were married before midnight. It should be impossible to marry without six weeks of public announcement through pulpit or press. There's a town in Delaware where marriage is a local industry, and another Jersey town until recently was just as infamous. We read daily of couples "married by phone," in a cage at a circus, on a merry-go-round at the picnic, on top of the Ferris wheel at the county fair—all sorts of fantastic situations that furnish "fun" for their friends. They are followed by a hail of rice, indecent suggestions, old shoes and obscene postcards. It's a great "hark," surely, but it takes at least three dances to complete the ceremony.

The Cure For the Cancer.

The viciousness of our present divorce evil lies in lax divorce laws, secrecy, quickness, larger number of causes (or lack of causes) and permission of speedy remarriage. One western judge announced he would grant divorce to any couple three days after filing. He was swamped with applications. Divorce should be at least as public as marriage. Screening the parties by a secret order, as a friendly judge did recently in New York city, is as scandalous as the divorce while you wait plan of the western judge. Many shrink from publicity. The newspaper is a good policeman. Of course matrimony develops friction with some well nigh intolerable, but marriage presupposes patience and forbearance. "Incompatibility" is as elastic as the most flexible conscience needs or the occasion demands. Remarriage forbidden within a year would check the speed of lustful applicants. Uniform laws would give some legal safeguards. But way down deep underneath must be a more sacred view of marriage, better home training of both men and women and a public sentiment by those in high social rank that the union is "till death us do part."
