KILLING OFF THE WOLVES

Algonquin Park Rangers Have Bagged Sixteen Animals in December

Sixteen wolves were bagged in December by the rangers in Algonquin Park, according to T. W. Gibson, deputy minister of mines. The animals are being poisoned and at the present rate of progress their extermination will virtually be accomplished this winter. Numbers of deer were killed last year by the wolves, and more aggressive protection of this game has been decided on. The poison is being supplied by the government, and the rangers are being allowed the usual provincial bounty on the head of every wolf.

DR. JAMIESON'S SPEECH IN ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Delivered by Dr. Jamieson, M. P. P., in Reply to the Speech from the Throne, at the Opening of the Ontario Legislature, February 8th., 1912.

Those of us who know Dr. Jamieson's splendid industry, capacity and earnestness, are not surprised at the fine speech to which we have listened this afternoon. Such was the tribute of Sir James Whitney, Prime Minister of Ontario, to the speech delivered by Dr. Jamieson, M.P.P., for South Grey, in moving the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Ontario Legislature, Thursday, February 8th. Dr. Jamieson spoke as follows:—

Mr. Speaker:—In rising to move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, permit me first of all to tender you my congratulations on your elevation to such a high and important position. I have no doubt that your long Parli-amentary experience and the careful manner in which you have always followed the proceedings of the House will fully qualify you for the satisfactory discharge of the duties which have to be per- formed by the occupant of the of- fice which you now adorn, and that the business of this Legisla- ture, under you, will be conducted in the same orderly and dignified way which has always character- ized it.

There are some paragraphs in the Speech from the Throne which I must take for my text in the few remarks I propose mak- ing to the House this afternoon, with which both parties can very heartily agree. It is gratifying to us as Canadians to know that we stand so well in the eyes of the Imperial Government that they have for the first time sent to us a Prince of the Royal Blood as our Governor-General. While per- haps nothing was needed, still it will stimulate our loyalty to British Institutions for it may be truly said that the Governor-General is one of the ties which bind us to the Empire. By the very democratic manner in which he has already gone about among the people, I am sure his stay in Canada will be productive of great good. (Ap- plause.)

"In proceeding to other para- graphs found in the Speech from the Throne I would like to refer to the question of prison reform. By the sale of the Central Prison property in the City of Toronto and the transfer of the prisoners to an 800 acre farm in the vicinity of Guelph, this Government is tak- ing one of the most advanced steps ever taken by any Government in the same, rational and modern treatment of criminals. (Applause.) Their object is not so much to punish crime as to prevent and cure criminal instincts. Moreover they are removing the criminal population from competition with free labor. It is almost necessary in order to understand the work that is being done, to make a per- sonal visit and see for one's self, as I had the pleasure of doing during the past year. The prisoners are allowed to be comparatively free, to go about on the farm, working among the cattle or the other live stock, in the fields or in the con- struction of buildings and of roads. And just here I may say that they have erected a cement concrete bridge over the river which runs through the property, which would be a credit to any architect who was aided by skilled workmen. In addition to this, some latitude is allowed for amusement and a night school is also conducted, so that they go out rejuvenated both in body and in mind and with their moral char- acter greatly strengthened. In speaking with Dr. Gilmour, the Warden of the Prison, he told me that although they had already 1000 prisoners, passing through their hands on the farm, there had only been 14 escapes, or a little over 1 per cent. He is also en- thusiastic in his opinion that he expects to effect a cure or reform of 60 per cent. of all the prisoners. If there should be even 10 per cent who come out with a determina- tion to become good citizens, then I think this Government is doing a work which will be a lasting mon- ument to itself and to the Provin- cial Secretary who has inaugurated it. (Applause.)

"Then, too, the other public in- stitutions under the care of the Provincial Secretary have been well looked after. The name of Asylum has been changed to that of Hospital, and while there is nothing in a name, still we find the medical staff in each of these Hospitals for the Insane are de- voting more time and care to the cases under their charge and are working along the most modern and advanced lines in the treatment of these unfortunate cases of mental disease. Efforts are being made to bring patients under treatment in the early stages, when perhaps laboring under tem- porary excitement and when mani- festing only the first symptoms of which may develop into per- manent insanity. A quarterly bul- letin has been issued, and distrib- uted free to all the doctors in the Province, so as to place before the medical profession the latest information which is obtained in all these institutions, as to the treatment and care of mental dis- eases. It is well known that such cases first drift into the hands of the ordinary medical practitioner, and it cannot be said that the medical profession as a whole is well educated on mental diseases. Hence, great good is being accom- plished by the diffusion of this in- formation, and by the early treat- ment at home, many may be cured, and the Public Institutions thus relieved of their care.

In addition, in the management of these institutions, a greater revenue is being derived. The De- partment is endeavoring to collect from all those who are able to pay, and yet they have not been guilty of inflicting a hardship on any one.

Now, I would like to make a reference to the question of Hydro-Electric power. We all recognize that Ontario is destined to become a great manufacturing Province, situated as it is with an abundance of all kinds of raw material. With the exception of a lack of coal, the conditions are of the very best, and this deficiency is made up by means of the mag- nificent water-powers which are scattered all over the Province, and which can supply power which will very largely take the place of coal in manufacturing. The ten- dency of the present age is for concentration, and this is true in population as in other matters. I firmly believe that the more of the moderate sized towns and cit- ies we can have, the better it will be for the Province, rather than building up a few large, un- wieldy centres. Each of these small centres, sustained largely by manufactures and giving employ- ment to hundreds of men, consti- tutes a market for the farm pro- duce of the district, and thereby stimulates the value of the land, and helps to solve the problem of keeping the people on the land. Now that there is to be some sta- bility of tariff, now that the coun- try at the last Dominion Election declared itself unmistakably in fa- vor of a fair measure of protec- tion for every industry, I feel sat- isfied that manufacturing will continue to increase and develop on new lines. (Applause.)

When talking of the Hydro- Electric question the matter of ad- ministration comes up, and there has been some discussion as to whether the control should contin- ue in the hands of the Commission or be placed in the hands of a responsible Minister and member of the Cabinet. In my opinion there is not very much in the argument either way. Certainly the experience of this Government with Commissions has been very satisfactory, as witness the T. & N. O. Commission, under the chair- manship of Mr. Englehardt, (ap- plause) and also the manner in which they have secured Adam Beck, who, by his industry, opti- mism enthusiasm and ability, has rendered such distinguished ser- vice to the Province. (Applause.) I think the Government has been extremely fortunate in securing three men of such business ability as those who compose the Hydro- Electric Commission, for it is sel- dom we find three men of such great capacity and of such high ideals of public duty, who are willing to give so much of their time and talents to the public ser- vice without recompense. (App.)

While they have shown great resourcefulness, I think there is also call for caution, and here, of course, I am not expressing the view of the Government, but merely stating my own opinion. I think the chief function of the Commission should be to build main transmission lines, and leave the small power, development more to private capital and local com- panies. I believe the Commission should do the experimental work, as it has done, should blaze the way, and place its services in an advisory capacity at the disposal of the municipalities, or of any company or individual developing water powers, but I think that is about as far as they should go. Municipalities may make foolish bargains, and I believe this Gov- ernment should be careful. (Continued on page 3.)
