

THE PEOPLE'S STORE

The Store the People Talk About

That's what we want them to do. Every purchase made at this store causes the people to talk. The quality of our goods and the reasonable prices at which they are sold is good reason for them to talk.

Again, we buy all kinds of farm produce at the highest cash prices, and we pay the cash for it, too. This causes the people to do more talking about us. Then if they want goods we sell them what they want and get the money back. They buy here with the cash because they know they can get as good goods at as low a price and in many cases at lower prices than they can get them for elsewhere.

This is a good time to buy RUBBERS of all kinds as we have a lot left which we do not care to carry over. In fact we will not carry them over if reduced prices will move them.

Our READY-MADE CLOTHING is of the latest pattern and style, and the prices sell the goods. Get the habit of examining our clothing before buying, and we are sure you will not go elsewhere.

Call and see our COON COATS. Now is the time to get a bargain.

Departmental Store Durham

BOOTHVILLE.

Misses Maud and Emily Wilson after spending the Easter holidays at home have returned to their respective schools at Glen Morris and Durham Road.

Mr. Neil Cameron had a wood-bee last week. Mr. Cameron is improving in health but not as quickly as we would like him.

Master Donnie McQueen spent his vacation with his Uncle, Neil A. McQueen and other friends in vicinity.

Miss Ida Wilson returned home from Queen City last week where she has spent the winter months.

Soon we will have rural mail and telephone in this part which will be of great convenience to all and a pass time to not a few. The next mode of progression will be the airships, and automobiles will be of the past.

Mr. Noble G. Wilson purchased a new buggy and when the roads dry up, you will see the dust fly.

It is our sad duty to chronicle this week the death of one of our brightest and most promising young men in the person of Edgar Wilson, aged 20 yrs. 3 mos., son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble G. Wilson of this place. A year ago last Christmas he was taken ill with diphtheria and although he partially recovered from his illness, still he did not regain his former strength and vigour and on Sunday evening April 7th, 1912, Eddie's soul passed to the great beyond from which no one returns. We cannot in words measure the qualities of this young man but the least we can say is that he was a good Christian and was ready to meet his Saviour when death came. Eddie was a general favourite and will be missed a great deal by all who knew him. His pastor, Rev. Mr. Leese officiated. The funeral service was held in Salem Methodist church, and was well attended considering the bad state of the roads.

We can sincerely extend the fullest sympathy of this neighborhood to the father and mother, brother and sisters in their sad bereavement.

General Invitation.

One morning Miss Lucy Halcomb, the most fastidious housekeeper in Bushby, who was reported to have washed an unfortunate grandnephew into a decline, opened her front door, having heard strange noises on the piazza. There stood a tramp, his shoes caked with mud, which he was scraping off with a knife and kicking off by alternate applications of his heels on her doormat.

"What are you doing?" demanded Miss Lucy indignantly.

"Doing!" echoed the tramp. "I was starting round to the kitchen to ask the young lady I saw hanging out your clothes if she'd hand me a bite of breakfast. Then I thought I didn't make a very good appearance, and I was about to go on to the next house when I saw this mat with the invitation, 'Please use this mat,' right on it, so I stepped up here. In about five minutes more I'll look well enough so I can go round to the kitchen."

"Well!" said Miss Lucy. "Well!" and then she closed the door.—Youth's Companion.

Eagle Stones and Luck.

Among the superstitious the eagle stone is held in high esteem as a lucky charm. Thus one of the richest men in the world would probably turn aside the question, if it were put to him, as to how much of his great success, how many of his millions, were due to his eagle stone. Yet for a quarter of a century, perhaps even more, that eagle stone has reposed in a pocket of his trousers each business day. When pondering over propositions that have needed immediate decision this magnet has been seen to take out this stone and pass it from one hand to the other. It is a genuine "charm" that will keep away disaster, it is said, and gets its name from the fact that it was found in an eagle's nest. Those who know something of the lore of superstitions say that if a ribbon or some scrap of fabric is passed through the hole which a perfect eagle stone is always supposed to contain the potency of the "charm" is much enhanced.—New York Sun.

The Welsh Language.

The quite erroneous idea that Welsh is a language of consonants probably arises from the number of w's it contains, according to a Welshman in the London News. "W" in Welsh is generally—and always between two consonants—a pure vowel, sounded like "oo" in English. Thus "cwm" is pronounced "koom," rhyming with "boom." What is really one of the most remarkable features about the Welsh language is the number of vowels which can come together. In English three vowels in succession are not often met with. In Welsh it is not uncommon to find four or five—e. g., in "llywlawdwr" (governor). Here each of the five vowels "ywlaw" is pronounced separately in rapid succession. Here are four lines, consisting entirely of vowels, made by Goronwy Owen in the eighteenth century:

O'i wyl wy a weua,
Ieua o ia, a e ly!
A i o au weua a we
A' i au i wau ei we wy!

A Bit Hot, but Loyal.

A girl went to India, and at the first New Year's away from home she wrote her devout mother:
"It is now very hot, and I perspire a great deal, but you will be pleased to hear that I am still a member of the Church of England."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Doing His Best.

"Mamma, the Smiths live in the town where we"—
"I think I should use the word 'reside,' Tommy."
"Well, they reside in the town where we reside before we moved here, don't they?"—Chicago Tribune.

SMART HATS

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER

Come to our Millinery Parlors every day if you will and each day you come you will find New Hats to admire. The collection is particularly strong in Hats for wear during these early Spring days, and choice of something very smart and becoming can be made at prices from $3.00 to $8.00.

Misses and Children's Hats

The prices we ask for these dainty productions are remarkably low, we doubt if Hats anything like as pretty could be sold anywhere at prices so reasonable. The time to buy is now. They will soon be picked up by mothers who know by experience how difficult it usually is to find Hats that are really becoming and girlish. We have been in Toronto and made another large purchase of New Shapes in Black, White, and Tuscan.

MISS DICK

Mr. W. J. Otto, who, with his two brothers, operates the largest transport service in Jasper Park, the national playground situated on the Western Alberta section of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and who was formerly located at Field and Laggan, while in conversation recently with a G. T. P. official in the west gave him some interesting and late information concerning the Park.

The new trail, he stated, from Fitzhugh to Lake Maligne was about 30 miles long, the route being up the Athabaska to Windy Pass. It was customary to take this trip in easy stages, the first night's camp being made on Buffalo Prairie, the second night at Windy Pass, and the third day reaching Lake Maligne. From the camp at Windy Pass, 16 lakes were visible and from this point a beautiful view was also obtained of the mountains. It was quite practicable to make the trip in two days, however.

In addition to the lake referred to above, Fish Lake at Interlachen station is well supplied with good sized rainbow trout. About three-quarters of a mile from Fitzhugh, and across the Athabaska there is a lake, noticed by Mr. Otto from the hill behind the townsite, and in this rainbow trout are again plentiful. The Athabaska River at Fitzhugh affords good fishing in low water and in Prairie Creek rainbow trout are usually small but numerous during the summer. In Hay River, north of Hinton station, a two day's trip, and especially in Rock Lake, fishing is splendid; there being no less than four kinds of trout to be caught in the last named sheet. Mr. Otto further reports that caribou are quite plentiful to the north of Athabaska river, east of the mountains, especially in the Hay River country, and that moose are also quite plentiful. Brown and black bears are very numerous and grizzlies are frequently seen in the same territory. Mountain sheep are fairly numerous still. He has seen them in groups of 15 to 45 during the past year.

Disease and Cold Air.

Diseases cured or improved by cold air are specified in American Medicine as malaria, tuberculosis, digestive disturbances, yellow fever, tetanus and organic troubles affecting the blood pressure. Cold air contains more oxygen, requires fewer respirations and less heart energy—vital matters when the heart is affected, as is the case in fevers and wasting diseases. American Medicine hints that a study of arterial tension in cold climates would yield the "key to much which is now locked from us," in explaining the benefits of cold air.

EAT RAISINS

On April 30th., the people of California will celebrate the fourth annual California Raisin Day when the slogan is "eat raisin bread, eat raisin pie, eat raisins cooked or raw, but eat them anyhow." The idea of the celebration is to assist one of the greatest industries of the State by bringing the native product before the public as prominently as possible and after four years the institution has become quite popular. It is not by any means confined however within the borders of California for many of the Eastern railways feature the dusky fruit by placing special raisin dishes on the menus of their dining cars for that day.

The Grand Trunk has fallen into line on previous anniversaries and will again give prominence to raisin dishes throughout their system on April 30th., this year.
