THE SECRET of PAUL FARLEY

way at the curious scuttling in the top of the curtain behind him. The next instant a ringing yell made his blood run cold. It forced open his eyes, and he saw something white dash past, to spring with the agility of a panther on to the lap of the woman opposite him. With the impact the revolver kicked, and simultaneously with the stinging pain in his left thumb he heard a hoarse, tuneless voice shrieking: "She shan't hurt you, man, kind man. The goat shall hurt her; the goat shall hurt her. Like she hurts me so—so!"

Half fainting, half dazed, and full of excruciating pain, he stared at the horrible scene before him. Guy's red, bony fingers were fastened round his mother's slim, white throat. He clung there, shrieking to Paul to run away, to hide himself now, while the goat held her. The woman struggled to her feet and tried desperately to throw him off. She struck sickening blows at him with the butt end of the revolver; she scratched, fought, writhed, lost her balance, and fell back in her chair with the strong fingers locked, smelted into an iron grip by the frenzy of the mad paroxysm consuming him. Several times Paul essayed to rise from his chair. He had a confused idea that he could persuade the boy to leave hold, to let go his choking, gurgling victim. But constant anxiety and loss of nerve power, combined with this present supreme horror, had completed their work; he was powerless to move or speak, utterly unable to interfere between the rocking creature, the yelling boy and the gurgling woman.

SWANS FOR OWEN SOUND.

Mayor Lemon after much correspondence has been able to land three pairs of swans for Owen Sound Parks, from His Majesty, King George. Mr. Lemon has noted how the presence of swans would beautify Owen Sound stream and on March 12th began correspondence re the acquiring of some. He wrote to T. W. Geary, Secretary of the Thames conservatory, who referred him to write His Majesty's swan keeper, owing to the fact that the swans on the Thames are the personal property of His Majesty. Mr. Lemon wrote and received in reply a letter from Douglas Dawson for the Lord Chamberlain advising him that three pairs of swans would be sent to Owen Sound, and asking him for particulars of shipment. The mayor answered with an acceptance and asked for particulars regarding housing and feeding. The mayor is personally bearing the expense of the swans. The proposed location of the swan house is between 10th and 9th St. bridges on the Sydenham.—Sun.

NEW BRAIN INSERTED.

Can we repair the human brain by removing decayed cells and transplanting new ones? According to an experiment now being made at St. John's Hospital, Baltimore, U. S. A. such repair can be undertaken satisfactorily. The patient was a wealthy land-broker, named William Buckner, who suffered from coma. Examinations under X-rays showed that a portion of the brain was decayed and that the frayed tissues were causing the healthy section gradually to become affected. That day a child born in one of the wards died of inanition. Here was the opportunity. Dr. Cushing hurried to the ward, and after obtaining permission removed the brain. Assistants had rushed Mr. Buckner to the operating room, and prepared him for the ordeal. Then in view of a score of professors and students, Dr. Cushing performed his greatest operation. After administering an anaesthetic, he removed the back of Mr. Buckner's skull, and with great care took out the entire brain, which was placed on a piece of linen beside the head, and could be seen to pulsate with each heart beat of the patient. The diseased portion was then very carefully severed from the minor brain, and while Dr. Cushing was severing the diseased section another surgeon was transplanting the infant's brain. The major brain was left untouched. After the transplantation, says the "Telegraph," the entire brain was restored to its proper place, and the section of the skull which had been cut out was replaced. Though Mr. Buckner's life is still in danger, he is reported as improving.

THE FADDEST.

There was an old woman, And what do you think? She grew fat and healthy On victuals and drink. But now her digestion Is all in a riot, Because she got cranky And tackled a diet.

COULD NOT RAISE MY RIGHT ARM

OLD BRIDGEPORT, C. B. "For the past 41 years, I have been suffering with Rheumatism. When I read in the papers that GIN PILLS would positively cure rheumatism, I wrote you for a free sample to try. I could not raise my right arm because of the awful pain in my shoulder—was not able to drink. After taking a few GIN PILLS, I was able to lift my hand and put it on the top of my head.

I went to the Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon and met an old fisherman named La Pape. His limbs were stiff from Rheumatism and I gave him some Gin Pills. I met him again in a few days and he told me he could lift his arms, which he had not been able to do for ten years. ADOLPHE E. MAHE, soc. a box—6 for $2.50—money back if not satisfied. BADLY ULCERATED LEG

Zam-Buk Cured her when so Bad she had to use Crutches

For varicose sores, bad leg, or chronic ulcers, Zam-Buk is without equal as a healer. A proof of this is just to hand from Montreal, Mrs. T. Edwards, of 164 Amherst St., writes: "Some time ago a bad sore broke out on my left leg near the ankle. For a week or two I did not heed it, but it got so bad that I could hardly walk. I sent for our doctor and he told me I would have to lay up with the wound. I did so for three weeks. At the end of that time the ulcer healed a little, but I could only move about by using crutches.

"The sore then broke out badly, and the doctor told me that the only thing that would cure it would be an operation, and that I should have to lay up for a year. This, I knew, was impossible, as I had a family to attend to.

"My son had cured a bad cut on his finger by using Zam-Buk, and he advised me to give this balm a trial. I did so, and in less than a week's time it gave me wonderful relief. It stopped the pain, which had been so bad that many nights I did not get a wink of sleep. In a very short time the wound was so much better that I had no more sleepless nights, and was also able to move about and do my work. I persevered with Zam-Buk, with the result that the wound is now perfectly cured, and the limb is as sound and strong as ever. To any person suffering from ulcerated sores I would say 'try Zam-Buk.'"

Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, abscesses, boils, scalp sores, blood poison, festering wounds, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, eczema, eruptions, and all other injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores, 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations. Have you tried Zam-Buk Soap? 25c. tablet.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For sale by all dealers.

OWEN SOUND.

Miss Olivia Smith, suffragette, of London, England, and Mrs. Hamilton, of Toronto, addressed a small audience of women on "Votes for Women." The local women were not enthusiastic. Mayor Lemon, after much correspondence, secured the promise of three pairs of swans from His Majesty, King George.

Dr. J.J. Brown was arrested on a serious charge. He was committed to jail, but was bailed out, three thousand dollars being the amount of his sureties.

The south section of Wright's flour mill, wrecked by the recent floods, will not be rebuilt.

The annual Horse Show is being held this week in Toronto. It is one of the finest entertainments we know of.

LOOKED LOONY.

About eight bells last Friday morning, P.C. Carson, while striding around town, in solitary state, heard discordant noises issuing from a side street. He decided to investigate. He found that the cause of it all was a bucolic gentleman named Irwin, whose home was said to be in the vicinity of Williamsford. Irwin appeared to be either drunk or demented. He was pawing the air, and giving utterance to weird and unintelligible sounds, when the astonished guardian of the peace swooped down upon him and began to ask him pertinent questions. Irwin's mind appeared to be a hazy blank on almost every score, and the constable decided that for the peace and quietness of the citizens a six-foot plank in the cells would do Irwin for the rest of the night. The proper authorities were notified the next day, and Irwin was given a preliminary hearing. His head seemed to be constructed on the vacuum pattern and he was remanded to the county bastille, where a doctor will search his upper storey for traces of sanity.—O. S. Times. —We might remark that the Irwin's are not all like this fellow.—Ed. Chronicle.

Don't let repairs eat up your profits

Whether they represent actual cash outlay, or only the time of yourself and your help, repairs are waste just the same. When you make an improvement—no matter how small its cost may be—let it be permanent. Then it is a real investment, something on which you can realize in cash should you decide to sell your property; and something that will pay you constant dividends in convenience, sightliness and comfort as long as the farm remains your own.

Concrete Improvements Are Permanent

They last as long as the very hills themselves. They do not require experts to build them. Their first cost, in most cases, is no more than for inferior materials.

Aren't you interested in the subject of permanent, modern farm improvements?

Then write for the book that describes hundreds of them—

"WHAT THE FARMER CAN DO WITH CONCRETE"

It isn't a Catalogue. Every one of its 160 handsomely illustrated pages is interesting and instructive. They tell how to mix concrete, how to place it, what can be done with it. The book was printed to sell for 50 cents, but we have a copy for you, free.
