HOW TO AVOID TUBERCULOSIS

A Few Rules Which Should be Strictly Observed

A healthy body is the best protection against the tubercle bacillus or any other disease breeding germ. Therefore, keep well by observing the following rules:—

Live, work and sleep in rooms flooded with fresh air and purified by sunlight every day. See that your sleeping room is thoroughly ventilated.

Use good, pure nourishing food, and thoroughly masticate what you eat.

Cultivate cleanly, temperate and regular habits of living.

Avoid breathing dust-laden air. In sweeping and dusting use a moist broom and duster.

Don't spit on the floor of the dwelling, shop, school, public building or on the sidewalk. If you must do so spit in the gutter or into a spittoon.

If you have a cough do not resort to quackery, but consult a physician or go to a dispensary. Make full use of good food, fresh air and rest. Live as much as possible in the open air and have your sleeping room always thoroughly ventilated.

For the protection of others when coughing or sneezing hold a handkerchief before your face.

LIBRARY IN A BAND STAND

A curious little building is situated at Pinebluff, N.C., and is believed to be the smallest public library in the world. Pinebluff is only a small place with a population of fewer than 100 in Summer, and when the ladies of the village decided that they ought to have a public library, they found themselves without a building suitable for the purpose.

Finally, a gentleman offered them a band stand which he had built in the hope that Pinebluff would soon become a city, and the offer was accepted with thanks. By giving entertainments and so on, the ladies were able to raise funds to purchase materials to fill in the openings of the band stand, and generally fit it up into a snug little building. Over 500 books have been given and the tiny library, of which Pinebluff is very proud, is now in full working order.—Wide World.

STERILIZED SOIL FOR FLOWERS

Few persons are aware that the soil used by florists for filling window boxes and flower pots is sterilized. This is not done to kill germs, but to destroy all animal and vegetable life in the soil so that weeds will not be springing up along with the flowers and worms eating their way through the wooden boxes.

The sterilizing plant consists of a large bin with steam pipes running through it about four feet apart. Along these pipes there are holes every few inches. The soil—which is sod, plowed up and left to decay for a year—is dumped in. Then the steam is turned on for half an hour. At the end of that time the process is completed.

"It's simple enough," said Charles E. Heite, as he explained the process. "But one thing has to be avoided. If the soil is heated too much it becomes useless. Some of the elements are destroyed by excessive heat."—Kansas City Star.

TOWNS WITHOUT TAXES

It was recently reported from Germany that there was a little town within the Empire in which there were no taxes. The town possessed benefactions, the revenues from which enabled it to pay its way without the intervention of the tax gatherer.

France never likes to be outdone by anything German, so a Paris contemporary has set itself the task of finding a parallel. Something more than a parallel has been discovered, for not only are there no taxes but the timbers on the communal lands are sufficient to grant each person a small annuity. This happy land is Montmarion, in the Midi. There are seven electors in the hamlet, so to avoid anything like rivalry the seven return themselves to the local council.

Cutting down trees and selling them is sufficient to provide a livelihood for these simple people, whose tastes are so modest that they may be termed by some uncivilized.—London Globe.

TERRIBLE NEW WEAPON

N. Y. Police Find Deadly Little Tube Which Burglars Carry Hid in Palm.

A recent capture by the police of New York city unearthed a new and terrible weapon for the destruction of human life, one that can be carried by the thug or the burglar and no one be the wiser unless he have occasion to use it.

This weapon is a single blue steel gun barrel that can be concealed in the hand. At its base is a hard rubber cap that fits snugly into the palm; the first and middle fingers encircle the barrel over a steel ring, and a pull downward on a spring discharges a 32-calibre centre-fire cartridge.

About four inches long, the weapon is so inconspicuous that it can be carried in the upper vest pocket as a fountain pen or in the trousers pocket as a penknife. The police are seeking the manufacturer of this weapon, but so far no dealer has been found who is handling it.

ENGLAND'S LAST FATAL DUEL

It would be difficult to find anybody who remembers the last fatal duel in England. The date was May 20, 1845 and the place a spot on the shore near Gort, Lieutenant Hawkey, of the Royal Marines, believing Lieutenant Seton had paid too much attention to his wife at a South Sea fiction, called him a villain and blackguard, threatening to horsewhip him and attempted to kick him.

A though dueling had been forbidden by articles of war in 1844, after the horror caused by the death of Colonel Fawcett at the hands of his brother-in-law, Lieutenant Munro, in 1843, the provocation in the Hawkey-Seton case was such that a meeting resulted. Seton fired and missed, The hammer of Hawkey's pistol being set on the safety notch, would not go off. At the second discharge Seton fell. Hawkey fled to France.

Constipation

is an enemy within the camp. It will undermine the strongest constitution and ruin the most vigorous health. It leads to indigestion, biliousness, impure blood, bad complexion, sick headaches, and is one of the most frequent causes of appendicitis. To neglect it is slow suicide. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills positively cure Constipation. They are entirely vegetable in composition and do not sicken, weaken or gripe. Preserve your health by taking

Tongue Twisters

Now that they are talking of having a department for stammerers under the management of the Board of Education, some people are wondering what will be taken as the limit which shall mark a stammerer from a person who has only an occasional stutter on a certain word.

If anything of the kind is done it is probable that some learned doctor will devise a system of tests for the powers of speech just as they do now for the powers of sight. Some day we may see children asked to stand up and repeat something like this:

She sells sea shells on the sea shore.

The shells she sells are sea shells, I'm sure.

So if she sells sea shells on the sea shore,

Then I'm sure she sells sea shore shells.

Here is another one that should prove an excellent test of smooth running tongue:

Kimbo Kimble Kicked his Kinsman's kettle.

Did Kimbo Kimble Kick his Kinsman's kettle?

If Kimbo Kimble Kicked his Kinsman's kettle.

Where the Kinsman's Kettle Kimbo Kimble Kicked?

CANADIAN FLAG IS UNION JACK

Colonial Secretary Settles A Time Honored Controversy

There has been some controversy of late in the capital as to the actual flag of Canada. The matter is settled by the following despatch received from the Secretary of State for the Colonies by the Governor-General:—

"Sir,—I have the honor to transmit to your Royal Highness a copy of a letter in regard to the flag which should be used by private persons who are British subjects.

"I should be glad if you would be good enough to cause the public to be informed that the Union Jack is the national flag of Canada, as of all other parts of His Majesty's dominions, and may be flown on land by all British subjects and that of the red ensign with the arms of the Dominion of Canada in the fly, is intended to be used only by Canadian merchants vessels."

THE CORPSE STILL WARM

A country doctor, returning from a visit in the small hours of the morning, in the time of the body snatchers, had to pass a secluded burial ground, in which a deceased patient had been interred the day before. When he reached the wall he saw a horse and trap standing unattended on the road outside. Looking cautiously over the wall he saw that two men had just disinterred the corpse. Standing in the shadow of the wall, he saw them bring the body and place it in a sitting position on the seat of the trap, so that, when they drove away, the body which they had wrapped in a dark cloth, would in a dim light look like a third man, sitting between the other two. Then they got over the wall again to fill in the grave. The doctor lifted the body down from the trap, laid it under the wall and seated himself in its place. After a short time the two men got over the wall again, threw their spades into the back of the trap, seated themselves one on each side of him, and drove off. Presently one of the men said to the other: "The body seems to be warm still." The other replied: "So it is." Then the corpse said, "Warm! And if you had been where I have been for the past twenty-four hours you would be warm too!" The two men leaped with a yell out of the trap at opposite sides and ran for their lives.

WHAT IS THE BEST AGE TO MARRY?

A number of well known men and women contribute their opinions of what is the "right age for marriage."

Lady Warwick leads off with "Marry at any age, so long as there is any real love." Mme. Sarah Grand says that "the time to marry must vary according to temperament." "Mrs. Kendal, confesses that her own views on marriage are strange and weird. "All should marry in their own class of life, their own professions," declares the famous actress. "They may be happy, but when they marry above their position or below it the world suffers as well as themselves."

Miss Fanny Brough thinks the best time is 21. Sir Francis Burnand, in an exceedingly interesting letter, confesses that it is impossible to fix any right age.

Mr. Bernhardt would say to the man: "Look for a wife who will be your companion." To a woman: "Seek a man whom you can trust to be a sympathetic protector."

Lack of Marl at Shallow Lake

We understand that in the course of a few days the plant of the Canada Portland Cement Co. at Shallow Lake will shut down as to the producing of cement for a short space of time. We believe that, owing to the high water on the lake, the men have been unable to get out after the marl. So far this season, the works have been fed by marl stored up from a time when the lake was low. It is the purpose of the company, however, to keep all the men at work about the mill.

ENGLAND'S NEW RIFLE

Easier to Handle and More Effective Than Present Model.

The British troops are to be armed with a new rifle. Ever since its introduction in 1903 the Lee-Enfield rifle, with which the British forces are now armed, has been the subject of fierce controversy. The shortening of the barrel was the point chiefly criticized, and as the rifle has not been able to hold its own against the longer weapon with which the territorials have been equipped the controversy has never died down.

The idea underlying the adoption of the short rifle was to have a weapon which would be easily handled by both mounted and dismounted troops. To suit the cavalry, five inches was taken off the rifle and the reach of the infantry soldier with the bayonet was thus shortened. Attempts have been made to restore this lost advantage by the issue of a longer bayonet, but the developments of the modern high power cartridge have intensified the defects of the short barrel as regards fire efficiency. A longer barrel is necessary for accuracy and ease.

The barrel of the new rifle will not have the full five inches restored, but about one-half of that. A change of considerable importance will be made in the calibre, which in the new rifle will be .276 instead of .303.

An advantage in velocity is expected from this change, as the bullet will be lighter. The chamber of the new rifle being larger and the breech mechanism stronger the explosive to be used will possess very high power; and it is not improbable that the velocity will be 3,000 feet a second, as against 2,450 of the rifle and ammunition now in use. This would give Britain an advantage of 100 feet a second over the nearest rival, and with the alterations the bullets should never travel higher than the height of a man.

The principle of the aperture sight, which makes aiming partially automatic, has been accepted, and the loading also will be much quickened by the new methods of feeding cartridges into the chamber. The new rifle will be a few ounces heavier than the present army Lee-Enfield. It is expected that trials will be made with it by elected troops this summer.

Each age of our lives has its joys. Old people should be happy, and they will be if Chamberlain's Tablets are taken to strengthen the digestion and keep the bowels regular. These tablets are mild and gentle in their action and especially suitable for people of middle age and older. For sale by all dealers.

A gentleman out Wareham way shot a groundhog the other day. Discovering after he had despatched the animal that they were to young ones, he carried these home and introduced them to an old cat, who straightway adopted them, and is carefully bringing them up by the cat route. The infant ground hogs, too, appear to be thoroughly satisfied with their wet nurse.—Flesherton Advance.

SILVER PLATE FOR HON. T. S. SPROULE

Orange Grand Lodge Honors Its Former Grand Master

At the meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge of British America held in Fredericton, N. B., on Wednesday last, Hon. Dr. Sproule, M.P. of Marsdale, Past Sovereign Grand Master, was presented with a handsome chest of silver plate. The presentation was made on behalf of the Grand Lodge as a token of appreciation of the efficient manner in which the Past Grand Master has filled the office. On the chest was the following inscription:

"Presented by the Grand Orange Lodge of British America to M. W. Bro. Hon. T. S. Sproule, M. D., M. P., in recognition of his invaluable services as Grand Master and Sovereign from 1901-1911."

Further particulars of the event are not to hand, but we learn that the meeting at which the presentation took place was one of the largest and most representative in the history of the Grand Lodge, and that hundreds of delegates from ocean to ocean cheered the former Grand Master as he stepped forward to make his reply. The handsome chest of silver plate cutlery arrived by express on Monday night, and has been admirably viewed by many. The Dr. is expected home from New Brunswick this Wednesday.—Marsdale Standard.

BH "ENGLISH" PAINT

SAID THE FARMER—"I never look for bargains in paint—and I wouldn't buy cheap paint at any price. My time is worth money to me, so I use BH ANDRAMP, HENDERSON, Limited, "ENGLISH" Paint whenever I have a job of painting to do. I find B-H "ENGLISH" Paint spreads easier than cheap paint—I can do my painting quicker with it. I find too that it holds its color longer—so I don't have to paint so often. In all, therefore, B-H "ENGLISH" is the cheapest of all the paints I have used."
