SOME FLY "DONT'S"

Don't allow flies in the sick room, or near any child or adult suffering from a communicable disease.

Don't allow flies to crawl over the mouth of the sleeping baby or over the nipple of baby's feeding bottle.

Don't allow your children to eat any food that has been exposed in any way to fly contamination. Don't buy fruit, confectionery, pastry, or any other food, that has been exposed to flies.

A large percentage of the cases of infantile diarrhoea is caused by flies.

If you have flies in your home, there is some filth near by. If your own yard and premises are all right, take a peep at your neighbors'.

Report promptly any breeding places for flies, to the chairman of the Board of Health.

Screen all doors and windows before the flies get in, and keep them screened until the flies have practically disappeared.

If flies have gained access to your home, two teaspoonfuls of formaldehyde and a teacup full of sweetened water, a small portion put on plates and saucers out of the way of small children, answers as an excellent poisoning for flies. Sticky fly papers and the various fly traps may be used.

T. S. Sproule, the present Speaker, made use of the chair during the recent session of Parliament but when the House meets again he will occupy a new chair, which has arrived in Ottawa and was delivered at the House of Commons. This chair, which is of particularly handsome design and workmanship will at the end of the present Parliament become the personal property of Speaker Sproule. -Advance.

HANGED HIMSELF BY STRAP

A despatch from Windsor says: Half-crazed with the intense heat and suffering from neuralgia, William Mickle, aged 40, a prosperous farmer residing near Amherstburg, in Malden township, committed suicide by hanging on Sunday. When his mother missed Mickle from the house, after an absence of several hours, she set out in search of him, and was horrified to discover the lifeless body dangling from the end of a strap attached to the rafters in a tool shed some distance from the farm house. For several days Mickle had complained that the pain he was being called upon to endure was driving him mad, but his remarks caused no suspicion that he contemplated suicide.

YOUNG MINISTER IN TROUBLE

A despatch from Boston, Mass., says: Everybody in semi-fashionable Wollaston, is discussing the attempt to oust from his pastorate Rev. William B. Ayres, a young minister from Walkerton, Ont., who for a few months has filled the pulpit of the Congregational church there, and the equally determined effort of the minister's supporters to have him retained. Chester Boynton, a wealthy member of the church, has sued the minister, seeking $25,000 for the alleged loss of his wife's affection. The pastor's friends have caused Boynton to be summoned, before the trustees of the church, who will sit in formal trial. Boynton has agreed to appear.

George Colburn, a member of the church said: "We have learned that Rev. Mr. Ayres has sworn falsely in regard to his age. At the request of forty members of the church I have conducted an investigation regarding Mr. Ayres. On September of last year, he gave his age as 32 years. I looked up his birth certificate at Walkerton, Canada, and found him to be but 27 years old."
