PRINTED BUTTER PAPERS

From The Farmer's Advocate. The pound print is the form in which most retailers like to get their butter for the trade. It is a convenient package for the maker in the farm dairy to put up. It is easily handled on the market, is what the dealer wants, and it pays to sell in the form which the market demands. Print butter always has the best appearance, provided it is printed and wrapped in butter or parchment papers. It is in a good condition to be used on the table, but its attractiveness is made or marred by the kind of wrapper used. First, the dairy should be named, and the name, with that of the maker, should be neatly printed on every wrapper. Some design, appropriate to accompany the dairy name, such as one of the best cows, or a "brand" mark adds to the attractiveness. There is no better way of pleasing customers than by putting up good goods in attractive parcels. It is possible with butter, and never should it be neglected. Butter should be known by the dairy name, and the way to establish the trade is to keep the name on the wrapper before the customers.

-The Chronicle has long advocated printed butter papers, but for some reason only very few in this locality have got into the way of using them. It will pay all good butter makers to use printed wrappers. We have a supply of the best butter parchment made, and will be pleased to show you samples and quote rates at any time.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO

While rummaging through the attic of the Middaugh House last week, the present owner, Mr. J. C. Nichol, discovered an old coat, and in one of the pockets was a letter dated at St. Thomas, September 29th, 1891. The envelope was addressed to "B. F. Warner, win, J. McClocklin, J. Bogle. Esq.," and was signed by the late H. J. Middaugh. In it the writer stated: "We are here all safe and sound, and hope you and all are well. We will leave here on Friday, the 2nd of October, for Toledo, and do not think we will be back until the 15th of October. If there are any letters for me send them here at once. Tell Billy to put Jim in at nights, and give him hay, but no oats. Tell Billy to see after him. With kind regards to you and wife, I remain, Yours truly, H. J. Middaugh."

MOUNTAIN, ONT., DEC. 14th. 1910 "I desire to let the world know the reat debt I owe "Fruit-a-tives" which saved my life when I had given up hope of ever being well again.

For six years, I suffered from dreadful Kidney Disease. My legs and lower part of my body were fearfully swollen. The pain in my side and legs would be so bad that I would faint with the agony. Five different doctors attended me and all said it was Kidney Disease and gave me no hope of getting well. A kind neighbor visited me and mentioned the case of Mrs. Fenwick who had been cured of a sickness like mine. I took "Fruit-a-tives" and in a short time, I began to feel better-the swelling went down - the pains were easier-and soon I was well.

I have gained over 30 pounds since taking "Fruit-a-tives" - and my friends look upon my recovery as a miracle." (MISS) MAGGIE JANNACK.
