

WOODEN culverts are unsightly, dangerous, expensive, short-lived.

Which kind of a culvert does your waggon cross?

DOES the road you use pass over rickety, dangerous wooden culverts, that are constantly in need of repairs and often washed away entirely? Or is it carried safely across the low places by modern, everlasting culverts? Build your which not only cannot be washed away, but actually grow stronger with age and use.

Every farmer owes it to himself to insist that the money he pays for road-taxes be spent to the best advantage. As a ratepayer, he is entitled to the best roads that can be made with that money. When culverts are washed out, and the road rendered impassable, he not only suffers inconvenience but may also be caused financial loss by inability to get necessary supplies in time for spring planting. And at best, with wooden culverts, part of the money that should be used to make better roads must be spent every year for repairs.

Insist upon Concrete Culverts

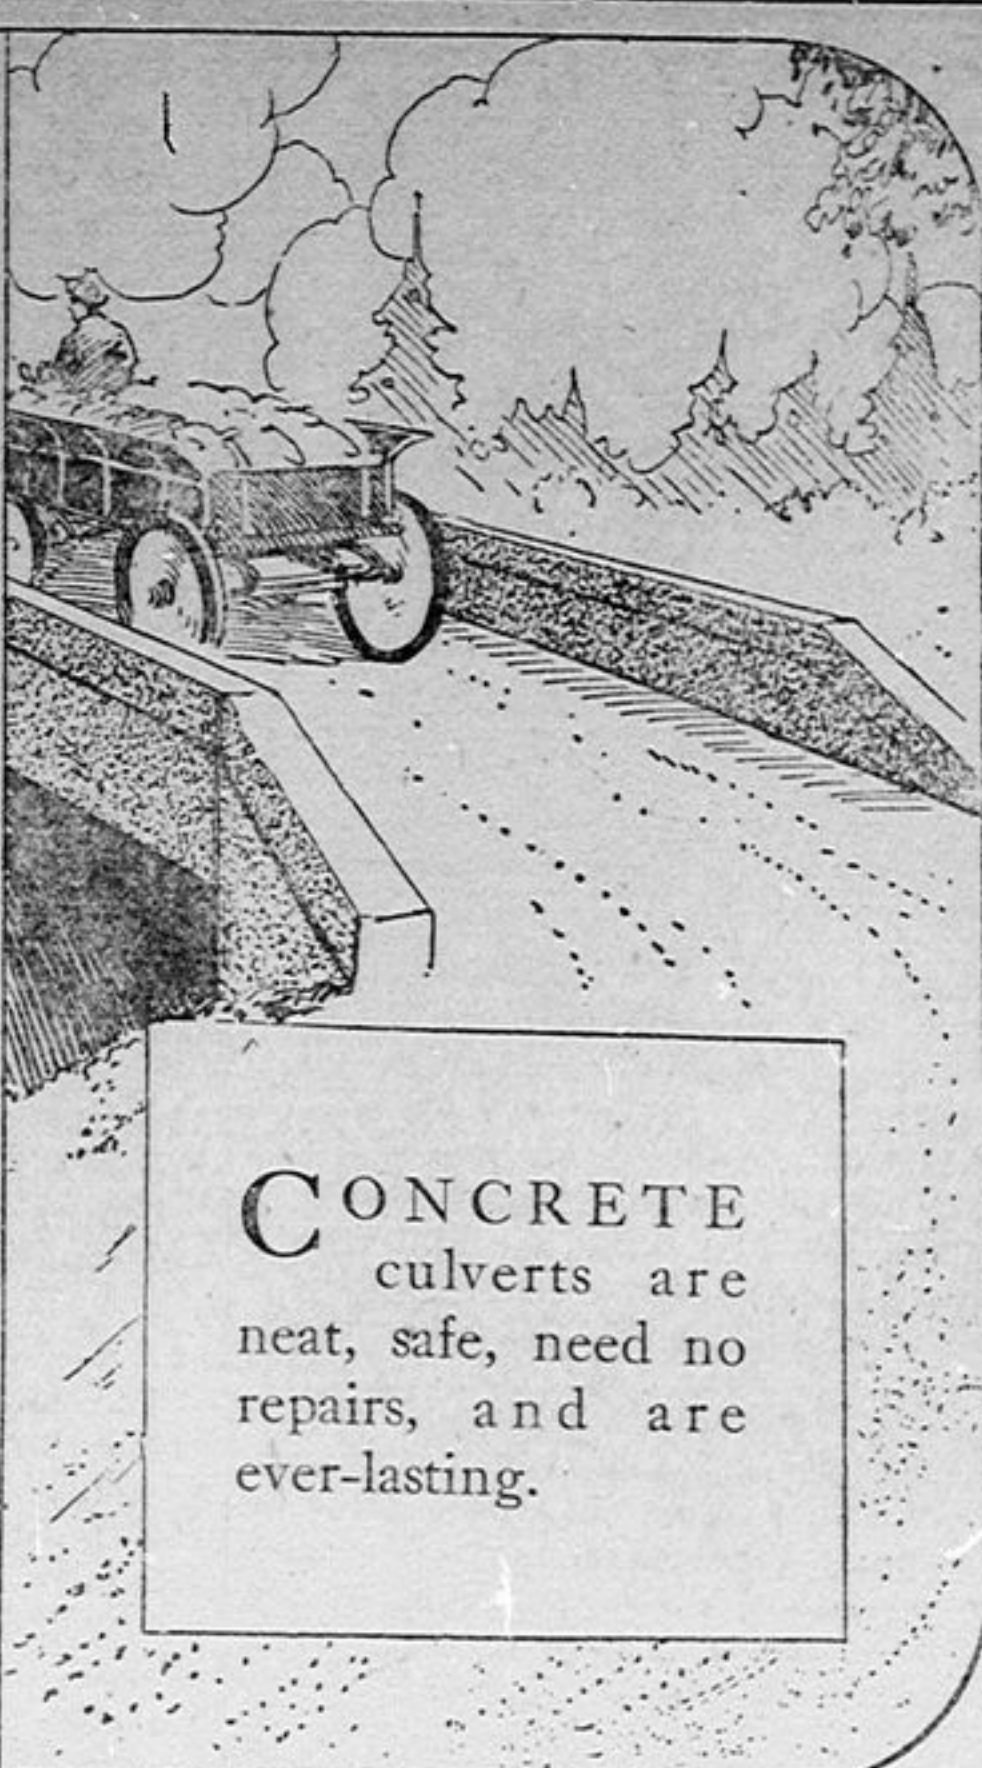

It will pay you and everybody else in your county.

HYMENEAL

ECTOR-CORY

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, July 10th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cory of Carlisle, Sask., when their daughter, Sophie Marian, was married to Mr. James Ector, of Arcola, Sask., Rev. Hunter officiating. Miss Mary Gregg, of Winnipeg, played the wedding march, and during the signing of the register, Miss M. H. Pearsons, of Winnipeg, cousin of the bride, sang "Because."

The bride was given away by her father, and looked very beautiful in a wedding gown of cream silk, with an overdress of white ninnon trimmed with satin bands and ball fringe. Her veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Her gift from the groom was a pearl and pink tourmaline necklace.

Miss Annie Ector, sister of the groom, acted as maid of honor, and wore a very pretty dress of canary satin de chene. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, and wore a coral cameo ring, her gift from the bridegroom. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Tuckwell, of Gladstone, and Miss Dorothy Cory, sister of the bride, looked very pretty in dresses of pale blue silk muslin, trimmed with ecre lace, and carried bouquets of white roses. Mr. John C. Cory, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

The groom's gifts to the bridesmaids were pearl crescents, to the best man, gold cuff links, and to Miss Mary Gregg, pianist, a pearl brooch.

A reception was given after the ceremony, and guests to the number of about thirty, sat down to a wedding breakfast, the bride's table being centred by the wedding cake.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Ector left by auto for Arcola and from there to points west, mid showers of rice, and congratulations. The bride travelled in a navy broadcloth suit, opening over an ecre lace blouse, and wore a tuscany hat trimmed with cream roses. Upon their return, they will reside in Arcola, Sask.

TRAVERTON

When it comes down to horse-dealing or pure wag wit, he's a clever coon who can excel Mr. Will Timmins.

One of the devil-wagons went by here on Monday, so speedily that you couldn't tell whether the color was green, golden or white. However, we have out some more rules. Mr. Editor and when we get to Lieutenant-Governor, we'll 'appoint ye a fine job."

S. Elmo Edwards came up on Saturday's excursion to visit the old home, and returned to his city work on Monday evening. Never a soul knew he was in the house, till he trotted down stairs to breakfast on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Summers and bright boy, Jackie, came up from Toronto on Saturday evening to Mr. John McNally's, her old home. Jackie and his ma remain for some weeks, but Bert returned on Monday evening. He holds a good position in Eaton's.

Mr. Arthur Bradley and his sisters, who are at present visiting the saddened home in Euphrasia, spent the first of the week with their sister, Mrs. T. E. Blair, of Zion's Corners.

Mrs. Jacob Neely and family of Artemesia are guests of her sister, Mrs. Will Timmins at present. Her hubby and his brother Rob, spent the weekend at the same merry home.

The garden party held at the fine O'Neil home on Thursday evening of last week was a splendid success, socially and financially. A monster crowd was present, scores being out from Durham, and big contingents from Priceville, Markdale, Dornoch and throughout the township. The dancing platform and the booth were well patronized. An excellent program was rendered before supper. Mr. Geo. Binnie most ably filling the chair Mrs. Blyth of Toronto captivated the audience with the sweetness of solos. Messrs. T. Binnie, J. O'Neill, and Wm Keating had to respond to enthusiastic encores to their catchy songs. There was some fancy step dancing and excellent musical selections interspersed.

Save Your Hair

Don't Use Preparations Containing Poisonous Sugar of Lead or Sulphur

Even if you have healthy hair you ought to use a little PARISIAN Sage once a week as a hair dressing. It keeps the hair healthy; prevents scalp itch, falling hair and dandruff, and baldness.

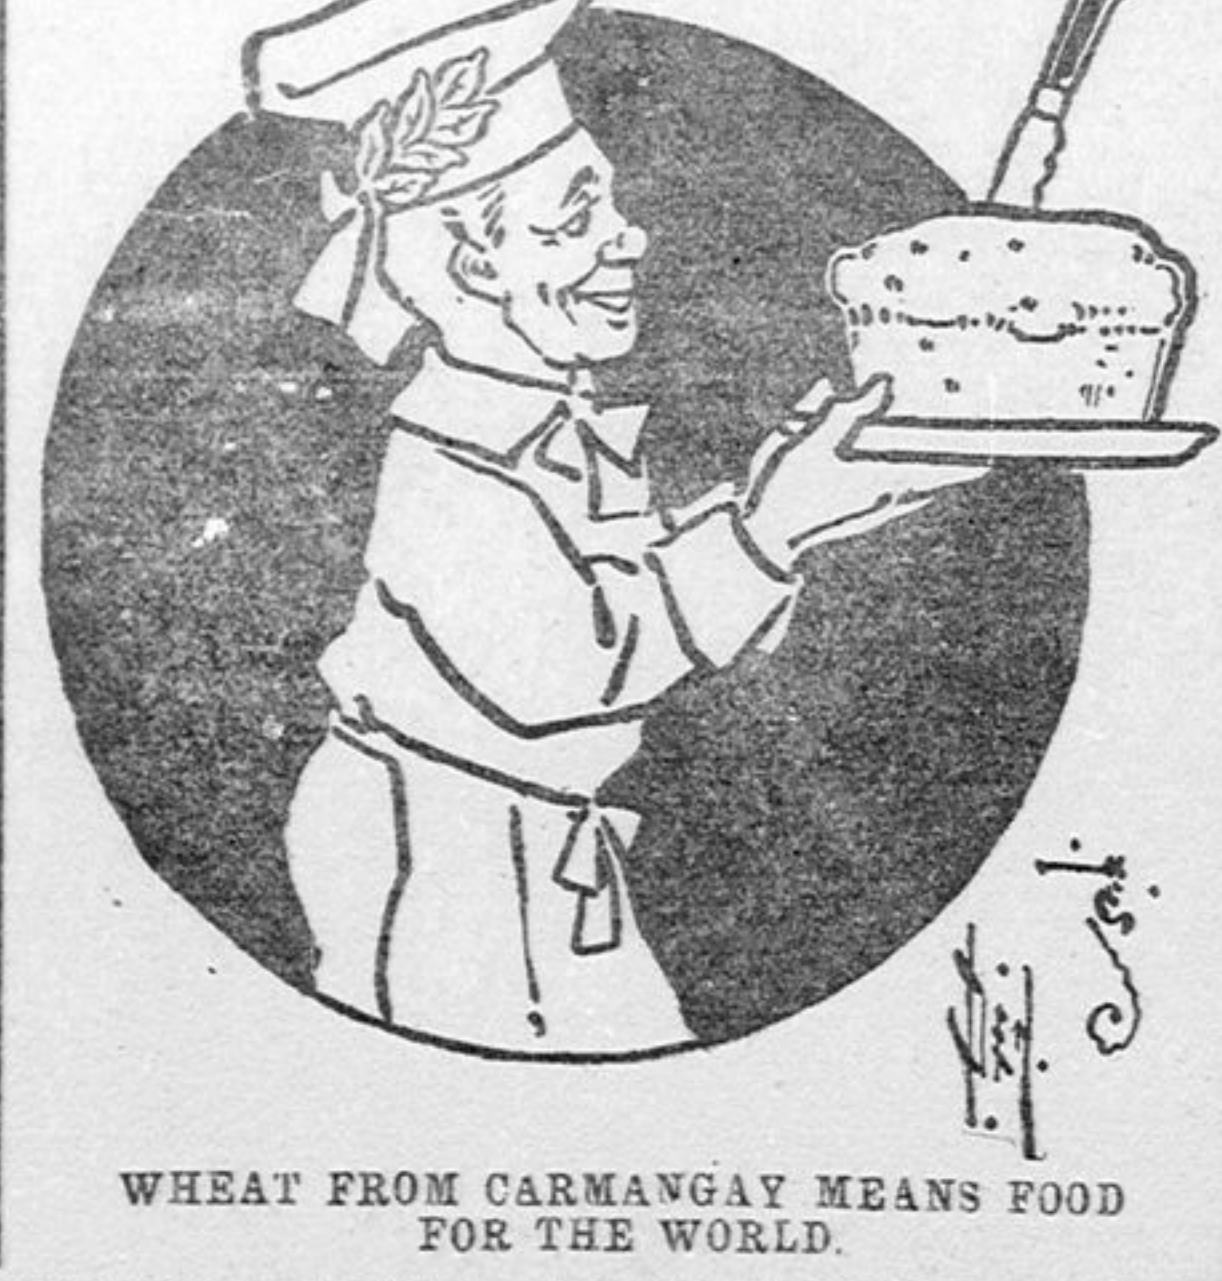

But be sure you get PARISIAN Sage. There are many imitations. The girl with Auburn hair is on every carton and bottle of PARISIAN Sage.

It banishes dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and imparts to the hair a brilliancy and lustre that all women, as well as men, love so dearly. PARISIAN Sage is a daintily perfumed and refreshing hair dressing. It's the best hair tonic you can buy. Large bottle 50 cents, at Macfarlane & Co's, and dealers everywhere.
