

THE DURHAM CHRONICLE

W. H. WIN Editor and Proprietor.

DURHAM, AUGUST 15, 1912.

FRANCE AND THE VATICAN.

The prestige conferred on France among Oriental and Mohammedan peoples by her position as traditional protector of Christians in the east, has been sadly missed. Other changes, notably in the matter of the Morocco missions, which are now maintained by Spanish priests, make evident the undeniable need of re-establishing relations with the Vatican in the interests of the nation. With governments such as those of Combes and Clemenceau the late Pope Leo declared he would have nothing to do, and even the present pope will not recognize unofficial approaches on account of past treachery in negotiations. Telegrams from Paris say it is common talk in the best informed circles that Prime Minister Poincaré is too wise a statesman not to see the necessity of again working in harmony with the Vatican, and indicate the existence of a strong movement for the re-establishment of Catholicism as the state religion. It is pointed out that, notwithstanding the action of government leaders, France is profoundly Catholic, remaining for the sovereign pontiff the eldest daughter of the church.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.

From The Bowmanville Statesman. Young men, why are so many of you sauntering aimlessly through this world, with no definite ambition to excel in something but how to gratify your selfish desires by having a good time? Why don't you have a conference with yourself, and discuss the openings that present themselves to young men of ability to fill them creditably? This age and this country offer unlimited opportunities to the diligent young men. Have a serious talk with yourself, young man, about what course to pursue and resolve that whatever you decide to devote your energies and talents to, remember there is no greater obligation that you owe to yourself, your family, your friends and your country than that of being square with yourself and to seek the greatest wisdom this world has to offer. Give attention to the health and the hygiene of mind and body to the end that you may enter most effectively into the work of your choice. Will you pardon a man of years who has watched with more than ordinary interest the career of hundreds of young men if he seriously advises you how to be square with yourself and the world? Yes, gladly. Then you must assume gladly and willingly and observe religiously the four-fold vows of honesty, purity, service and efficiency. Aim at nothing less, and success will be your reward.

RIVERDALE.

Miss Bella McGirr came home one day last week, after visiting for the past few weeks with friends at Tweed. Mr. Thos. Whitmore left a week ago Monday for Woodbridge, where he is engaged threshing for the autumn. The trustees of the school have engaged Miss Elizabeth Scott as teacher for another year. Misses Annie and Agnes McGirr are holidaying with Erin friends. Quite a number from this part took in the garden party at St. Paul's church on Friday night last, and report a very good time. Berry picking is the order of the day. There are some angry farmers in this part, when a whole load of berry pickers go driving through their crops, leaving gates open, fences down, and letting cattle and horses out, which sometimes take a day or two to find.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Miss Lillian Russell, at a birthday supper in New York, was congratulated on her un fading beauty, and on her high spirits. Miss Russell, laughing gaily, replied: "A woman is as happy, you know, as she looks pretty." "And a man?" said her interlocutor. "Oh, a man," she answered, "is as happy as he feels important."

ORCHARD.

Miss Annie Rogers, visited at Mr. Jas. Mark's for a few days last week. Mr. John Brown visited his brother, James, one day last week. Mr. Wm. Bradley lost a fine cow last week. The garden party on Thursday evening of last week, was a very good success, notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather. There was ice cream in plenty, and some to spare. The proceeds amounted to about $15. Miss Mary Hoeflin, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoeflin, of this place. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, of Varnay, attended our garden party on Thursday night last, and spent the night and following day at Mr. Wm. Bradley's home. Mrs. Ann Moffat is very poorly at time of writing. Brown being the buyer. Misses Jewel and Rita McComb, of your town, visited with Miss Eliza McCormick, one day last week.

We notice in the last issue of the Review that in the tug-of-war contest on Civic Holiday, at Pricerville, between the townships of Glenelg and Proton, the honor was given the Proton team. The contest lasted for five minutes, and both parties seemed so even that it was pronounced a tie by the judges, and the prize money was equally divided between the two teams. We would like the editor of the Review, who was an eyewitness, to explain where the Proton team deserved more honor than the boys from Glenelg. It was pronounced a tie. All we want is fair play, and we would like the Review man to give it to us.

A REQUEST.

"Andrew Carnegie," said a New York librarian, "holds—and I agree with him—that the multiplication of his libraries has increased the public's care for a book's appearance."

"Mr. Carnegie once told me that, in the beginning, it discouraged him to see the maltreatment that books sometimes received. He said, with his merry chuckle, that he was once tempted to carve above the lintel of every library he erected: "Readers are requested not to use bread and molasses as a book mark."
