The farmers have started to reap their grain this week, and were very thankful that it was only rain, and not hail, that slashed their grain down, as a great many of our poor western friends had their grain all destroyed by hail.

Dandruff Disappears

Scalp Itch Vanishes and Hair Quickly Stops Falling

PARISIAN Sage—remember the name when you want a good, pure hair tonic, free from dangerous lead and other dyes.

PARISIAN Sage is not a dye. Most tonics that dye the hair are full of poison and are dangerous to use.

PARISIAN Sage is a clean, delightful hair dressing that nourishes the hair roots and besides killing the dandruff germs imparts life and beauty into the hair. Your hair will look nice and brilliant after applying PARISIAN Sage, and you can quickly get rid of dandruff and scalp itch and stop the hair from falling. Avoid imitations—get the genuine. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle and carton. Large bottle 50 cents at Macfarlane's and dealers everywhere.

Muscular Rheumatism
Muscular rheumatism exists in two forms: acute and chronic. In acute muscular rheumatism there is first noticed a dull pain in the muscles which gradually increases. This pain often shifts from one muscle to another and the working of these muscles makes the pain very severe. Muscular rheumatism is a blood disease and should not be neglected, a proper treatment should begin with the first symptoms. Rheumatism is recommended by the foremost people everywhere because it drives all uric acid poisons from the blood and enriches it so that the system becomes healthy and free from the tortures of rheumatism. The Central Drug Store sells Rheumo and guarantees it to give entire satisfaction, or money refunded. Get a bottle of Rheumo to-day and rid yourself of rheumatism.

BUNCHED MISFORTUNES.
A series of misfortunes seems to have fallen upon the occupants of the Presbyterian manse, Clifford, lately, says the Express. On Sabbath two weeks ago, just at the closing of the morning service, Mrs. Lemon, of Toronto, who is visiting her son, the pastor, took suddenly ill in church, and her condition caused some anxiety for a day or two. On Wednesday afternoon last week, three-year-old Eleanor, the baby of the home, was at play with the other children at the manse. The little folks were enjoying themselves playing "threshing machine" with a washer, when baby Eleanor's right hand got caught in one of the cogs of the machine. The thumb was terribly mangled and it was feared that amputation would be necessary. It is now confidently hoped that the member may be saved intact. On Monday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Lemon himself met with a serious mishap. He was starting out on his bicycle to make pastoral visits in the country, and on the street near Geo. Scott's residence, in some way which he is unable to account for, was thrown from his bicycle. The knee cap of his left limb is badly injured, and although at the time Mr. Lemon did not anticipate serious results, it has since considerably crippled him, he being unable to move about, without the aid of crutches, kindly loaned by Mr. E. Tolton. It is hoped no serious complications may arise.

NO SNAKES IN HAWAII.
No snakes or poisonous reptiles of any kind have ever been found on the islands of Hawaii, and it is against the law to introduce them. Not even mosquitoes were found there till brought by a ship from Mexico, about a hundred years ago.

GETTING RID OF HELL GATE.
The work of eliminating Hell Gate in New York harbor has been going on for many years. A great deal of rock has been removed, and the channel deepened and widened so that there is now much shipping by this point, but there is yet room for improvement, and a great movement has been started with the object of cutting down the powerful current rushing at present through the narrow body of water and at the same time making other improvements for the benefit of the shipping interests, and of New York as a shipping port.

SWARM OF BEES ON HIS ARM.
Walking an eighth of a mile the other day with a swarm of bees on his arm, Manuel Cullen, of Corrserville, Ind., consigned the swarm to a hive without receiving a single sting. He was at work on a turnip patch, some distance from his home, and had sat down to rest under a tree, when a swarm of bees descended about him. He saw the queen of the swarm alight, but feared the attack of the whole swarm if he tried to remove her. When the last one had settled, the man made his way to his home. He gently shook and shifted the bees till he found the queen, which he dropped into an empty hive of his own. The bees all went inside and were shut up.

THE NEW MIKADO.
The new Emperor of Japan, the Mikado Yoshihito faces a gigantic task as he steps into the place made vacant by his remarkable father, the Emperor Mutsuhito, who died recently after a prolonged illness.

Yoshihito is the third son of the deceased ruler and was proclaimed crown prince in 1888. He is a man of strong character and enviable attainments in war and statecraft. He is an officer in the army and in the navy and has seen severe service in both branches. He was married in 1900 and has three children. With all the advantages of a modern education and in full accord with the advanced ideas of the late Emperor he should prove a worthy successor to his father, who, though an Oriental, was one of the truly great men of the age. He is the 122nd ruler of Japan in his line, which, according to Japanese legend, is descended from the gods.

The late Emperor, who was only 60 when he passed away, succeeded to the throne at 16 and was married at 17. He will go down in history as the ruler who brought the Japanese out from the wilderness of slavery to ancient customs and established them as a nation governed by a constitutional Assembly. In the successful war with China and Russia, in 1894 and 1904-5 respectively, his policies aroused the patriotism of Japan and it was to the virtues of their Emperor that the Japanese generals ascribed their victories. Under him Japan was opened to the world and made and made such progress.

Emperor Mutsuhito was a wealthy man when he died, as he lived very frugally and the investment from each year's savings was always made wisely. The Emperor received $2,500,000 a year for his household uses, and his private fortune was large. He kept close watch on his financial affairs, many of his investments being in public lands and roads.

The household department of Japan is as much of a national institution as the navy or army departments of other nations and has to do with all matters of the imperial palace and the Mikado's welfare. A royal prince is grand master of the imperial kitchen and has charge of the cooking, so Mutsuhito's "chef" may be classed as the best in the world.

Mutsuhito was an extremely studious man, and was classed as one of the leading poets of his country. He rose early, and breakfasted almost always alone, between 7 and 8 o'clock. After breakfast it was his custom to go immediately to his study, and at 9 o'clock he received the ministers who had important matters to put before him.

These affairs of state generally occupied his time until the noon hour, when he returned to the dining room for luncheon. After the midday meal the Emperor would read the newspapers or books. Newspapers from all over the world were on file in his library, the articles about Japan and her affairs being marked by the Emperor's secretaries, and, when in a language he did not know, translated for him.

SPARKLING WATER, cool and sweet, refreshes the farmer who builds a Concrete Well or Tank

THE FARMER, above all others, appreciates good water. He drinks more water than the city man. The city-dweller is dependent upon the public water-supply for the purity of his water, while the farmer can have his own private source of water, and thus be sure that it is pure and healthful.

MAN hasn't found a better drink than cool water, properly collected and stored. But in order to keep water fresh and pure, a tank or well casing that will keep out every possible impurity must be used.

CONCRETE IS THE IDEAL MATERIAL FOR TANKS AND WELL-CASINGS.

IT is absolutely water-tight, protecting your water from seepage of all kinds. It cannot rot or crumble. It is easily cleaned inside. Time and water, instead of causing it to decay, actually make it stronger.

THERE are scores of other uses for concrete on your farm—on every farm. If you would like to know of them, write for our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." The book is absolutely free.

OUR Farmers' Information Department will help you to decide how to build anything, from a porch-step to a silo. The service is free—you don't even have to promise to build. When in doubt ask the Information Department.
