

THE DURHAM CHRONICLE

H. IRWIN Editor and Proprietor.

DURHAM, SEPTEMBER 5, 1912

TRAVESTION.

This weather is good for producing snails and beetles, crickets and bugs, but 'tis no use for harvest operations. It is a happy season for snakes. They need never hunger for a meal. Frogs abound as in the plains of the Nile in wicked Pharaoh's days.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Robson, and two boys, of Edmonton arrived at the Robson homestead last week, and are remaining the month. They have been enjoying the summer with her people in Ottawa district. Asa has prospered in the fast growing city, has filled his out physically, but retains his youthfulness and his genial manner.

Mr. R. P. Dawson, of Port Burwell, arrived on Saturday evening, and on Tuesday takes charge of S. S. No. 5. Mr. Dawson has had some eleven years' experience teaching in Ontario, and the western provinces, and has already created a most favorable impression.

Mr. Wilfrid Hunt leaves this week for Owen Sound Collegiate Institute, to take up what we call First-class work, but we don't know what name the Education Department terms it. We would most readily deliver a few copper-toe kicks to the mighty nippers who are causing so many erratic and unnecessary changes in scholastic lines. There is a deep-rooted revolt smouldering among the masses of rural communities. Some day it will break out, and then—

Our lassie, Mina, left last week to spend a week in the city with Mr. S. K. Correll's family, and to drink in the sights of the big fair. The old home seems lonesome without her.

If correspondents have to give an account for overdrawn yarns, what will become of the parsons for their many invented incidents for illustrative purposes?

W. L. Falkingham of the Falls Farm, left on Friday last for Regina.

We wondered why W. J. Greenwood got through harvesting so early, till we spied that new 7 ft. cut Massey-Harris binder in the field. Agent G. E. Arrowsmith is like the big firm he represents—grows more popular every day.

Mr. Dave Davis, who came home from South Africa last December, and has made himself generally useful around the old home, left on Friday last for Bruce, Alberta, where he may take up land, or may purchase. Mrs. Davis, and Missy Kathleen remain at the old home, here. Dave has won a wide popularity by his helpful spirit, his genial comradeship and his manliness. A wide circle of friends wish him every success out west.

Miss Jennie Cook arrived home last week, after spending a fortnight with her sister, Mrs. W. J. McFadden, of Egremont.

Mr. James Hall, one of the early pioneers of the 10th concession, passed away on Sunday morning, August 25th, after some years of failing health. Deceased was 84 years of age, being born in County Armagh, Ireland, in 1828, and in 1848 came to Canada and settled on lot 10, on the 11th concession, shortly afterwards. He was twice married, first to Miss Sophia Ebery, who died 36 years ago, leaving one son, James, now living in Manitoba, and some years later to Miss Sorby. To them were born four daughters, and one son, the eldest daughter dying at an early age. Mr. Hall was a good neighbor, a man of strict integrity and accumulated a snug property. He was a staunch Conservative in politics. The funeral took place to Zion cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, of last week, when quite a concourse of people gathered. Rev. Mr. Phelan, Presbyterian minister of Markdale, officiated at the home and open grave.

The vagrant's remedy for hunger—that of tightening his belt, has been put to scientific test by Dr. R. Leenhoff, a German investigator. Drinks and solid foods were made opaque by the addition of a metallic salt, and the effect of swallowing these articles was then watched by means of X-rays. It was shown that the simple act of swallowing caused the stomach to contract by reflex action, thus hastening satiation. When solid food was swallowed, the contraction of the stomach was seen, a relatively small amount being needed to satisfy the appetite; the swallowing of liquids gave less contraction, a larger quantity of such food being necessary, and when the liquid was passed into the stomach through a tube, without swallowing, twice as much was necessary as before. It was concluded that artificial pressure on the stomach must have the same effect as swallowing. Further experiment confirmed this, and in all cases persons eating as they pleased took less when wearing a tight belt around the waist than when without the belt. When, however, liquid food was introduced through a tube, the belt had no effect whatever on satisfying the appetite, so that swallowing evidently plays some part even when aided by artificial pressure.

Though most countries permit the use of saccharine only as a medical agent, it appears to be much employed in Egypt,—at any rate in beverages. Cairo alone is said to use yearly more than 600 pounds, equivalent to 336,000 lemons of sugar, and out of 20 lemons from different sources only one was found to be sweetened with sugar.

HYMENEAL

CHRISTIE—STERNE.

On Wednesday afternoon, August 28th, at three o'clock, a very quiet, but pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Dromore, when Ethel, youngest daughter of the late Mr. Plummer Sterne, and Mrs. Sterne, was united in matrimony to Mr. David Christie, of Dromore.

The bride, daintily attired in an allover white embroidered gown, was attended by a small boy as ring bearer, and entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march. During the ceremony, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," was sung. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. George Kendall.

After the customary congratulations, the bridal party drove to the home of Mr. Harry Sterne, Hopeville, brother of the bride, where a reception was held.

All their friends join in good wishes for the future happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Christie.

DAVIDSON—LEVINE.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Levine, Toronto, formerly of Durham, when their daughter, Bessie, was united in marriage to Mr. D. G. Davidson, a prominent business man of Toronto. After the ceremony and the usual congratulations, all participated in a sumptuous repast, where a very pleasant and enjoyable hour was spent. The happy young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Buffalo and other points.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. K. Levine, uncle and aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Holland, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, all of Chicago, and many Toronto friends of the contracting couple.

The bride's wedding dress was a delf blue, very richly trimmed with cerise satin. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her travelling suit was brown, with hat to match.

The bride's mother was dressed in a gown of navy blue satin, covered with gold trimmings.

After returning from their honeymoon the young couple will start house keeping in their richly furnished home in the city.—Com.

"Maxie, mum."

It has been not so very many years since attacks on small-pox vaccination as a great absurdity found many sympathizers, but the later swing of the pendulum has been bringing faith in inoculation as a preventive of most serious diseases. Experiments in cholera prevention have been recently in progress at the Pasteur Institute in Paris. The physicians, Charles Nicolle, A. Conor and E. Conseil, report that a culture of the cholera bacillus was used, free from dead bacilli, and the harmful products of living bacilli, and that the inoculations were tried on 36 patients. It was demonstrated that a healthy person could be made so immune that in three cases water contaminated by cholera patients actually produced no ill effects. The injection is usually made late in the afternoon. About two hours later a sensation of cold is felt, followed by fever-like sweats, and a rise in temperature that may reach 103 degrees. After an hour or two of this the patient falls asleep. He awakens quite well, with no diarrhoea or other noticeable effects.

EDMONTON, ALTA., Nov. 20th, 1911 "I have been a sufferer since babyhood from that terrible complaint, Constipation. For Aching, Sore and Sweating Feet

In summer ache, perspire, feel damp and uncomfortable. Good shoes and thin stockings help some, but not enough.

If You Want Real Ease Use FOOT COMFORT

Dust a little in the shoes, sprinkle a little in the stocking. It absorbs moisture and checks perspiration to a large extent. Then the feet are comfortable, do not swell, do not ache.

It's fine when breaking in new shoes, summer or winter, makes them slip on easily, overcomes friction and the pinching places, prevents formation of corns and blisters
