ERRORS OF SPEECH.

Common Abuse of the Verbs to Get, to Lay and to Lie.

The verb to get is one of our much misused words. It means to acquire, win, obtain, and primarily it signifies the putting forth of effort to attain something. Consequently it is not only superfluous, but incorrect, to speak of a man as "getting drowned" or "getting sick," and you may unfortunately "have a cold," but it is impossible that you "have got a cold."

At this moment no exceptions occur to the writer to the rule that got should never be used in connection with have, which alone sufficiently expresses possession. Say "I have the picture," not "I have got the picture." "The dog has a broken leg," not "The dog has got a broken leg."

The irregular verbs lay and lie are frequently confounded. Lay is an active or transitive verb, and lie is passive or intransitive. We lay things down or have laid them down, but we and things lie at rest. You lie down, have lain down, will lie down or are lying down. She lay down yesterday and is going to lie down this afternoon. A frequent error is to confound the past tenses of these verbs. One should say, "Mary laid the book on the table and lay down herself," but the book lies on the table.—Exchange.

BAD FOR THE STOMACH.

When Non-fatty Foods Are Intimately Mixed With Grease.
The stomach never has the least power of digesting true fat. This is disposed of in the intestines. When eaten in the ordinary forms, as fat meat, butter, etc., the fat separates out in the stomach and does not in the least interfere with the work of the gastric juice on the other food, but when a non-fatty food has been intimately mixed with grease the latter prevents the gastric juice getting at the food it could digest.

Fish fried in oil or butter is by no means the most marked example, as the fat does not penetrate very deeply. Potatoes mashed with butter are rather worse, and minced vegetables fried with butter are bad offenders. The reason advanced explains why pork is difficult of digestion. The muscular fibers are mixed up with fat cells, and by the liberation of the oil in each tiny cell the eaten pork is made into an oily paste.
A very strong stomach will do the work required, but it is not a fair task to impose frequently, and a weak stomach will refuse to do anything beyond reminding its owner by a few stabs that it will not stand such treatment.—Exchange.

Horse Hatred.

Of all the domestic animals the horse is probably the most gentle, but there are exceptions. A California man had in his stable a fine thoroughbred horse, of which he made quite a pet. One day he went into the stable, and stopping to pat his favorite steed, he was surprised when the horse, with a violent plunge, broke the halter and came at him with open mouth. At first he thought it was in fun, but he soon realized his mistake and hastily climbed up a ladder and yelled for help. On the arrival of his son the horse went back to the stall and immediately resumed its former gentleness to all but its owner. To him it remained a deadly foe until he was compelled to sell it. He never knew the reason for its sudden animosity.

Among the world's left handed geniuses was Leonardo da Vinci, who wrote a treatise on aviation, the handwriting of which travels from the right side of the page to left. Nelson, too, was left handed, but that was from necessity.
J. R. Green records a story of Admiral Nelson's visit to Yarmouth to receive the freedom of the borough. "A storm met him on his landing, but the danger failed to prevent his appearance on the quay. When the freeman's oath was tendered to him the town clerk noticed that the hero placed his left hand on the book. Shocked at the legal impropriety he said, 'Your right hand, my lord.' 'That,' observed Nelson, 'is at Tenerife.'"

Requiescat In Pace.

The man with the old clock under his arm laid it on the jeweler's show case "I wish you'd see what is the matter with this," he said.
The jeweler removed the dial, screwed his eyeglass into place and inspected the works of the ancient timepiece. "Nothing is the matter with it now; its sufferings are over."
"Well, how much do I owe you?" asked the man.
"Nothing," answered the jeweler. "This isn't a professional treatment. This is a coroner's inquest." — Exchange.

Making It Plain.

Sapleigh—Oh, I say, Miss Hamerton, why is it that you are always out when I call? Miss Hamerton—Because I'm foolish, I suppose. Sapleigh—I—er—beg pardon! Miss Hamerton—Well, you know the old saying, "A fool for luck."

The Family Skeleton.

Hatcher—Isn't Jones' wife thin and skinny? Scratcher—Yes; she's the one family skeleton he can't keep in the closet.—National Monthly.

A Human Sieve.

THE POTATO BUG DESTROYER.

If our author farmer, Peter McArthur, is right, Carthage should come out in the spotlight and go down into history as a notable place. The antidote to the Colorado beetle has been discovered in that favored locality. In The Globe a few days ago, Mr. McArthur thus announces the wonderful discovery:
A correspondent from Carthage sent me a new bug in a little tin box. He had discovered it on his potato vines, and as it looked like a fighting bug, he wanted to know if I could tell him anything about it. It so happened that a few days previously I had discovered the same kind of bug on our potato vines, and after investigating, had decided that it must be the Perillus Bioculatus, the bug that lives on the eggs and larvae of the Colorado beetle. The one I found was in the act of dining on a young potato bug when I caught him. Apparently this new bug is a noble creature and should be welcomed with open arms when ever found. The scientists are hopeful that it will yet clear out the Colorado beetles and take its place among the benefactors of humanity.
Potato growers would experience an astonishing amount of relief if the new bug sends the Colorado beetle back to the place from whence it came. We could well do with its banishment from Canada.

HINTS FOR THE WIFE.

There is nothing like children to bind husband and wife together. Don't annoy a man by talking to him in the mornings or when he feels bad.
Avoid mother-in laws. Don't let them live with you or interfere in your affairs.
If you must have your own way, do not let your husband know you are trying to boss him. Have your own way by letting him think he is having his.
Don't be jealous, or give your husband cause for jealousy.
When your husband is in bad humor, be in good humor. It may be difficult, but it will pay.

POPULAR FLESHERTON GIRL TO WED THIS MONTH

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Boyd have announced the coming marriage of their second daughter, Miss Lillie, to Mr. Gordon McDonald Laird, son of Mr. Robert Laird, of Sumatra, Straits Settlements. The happy event will take place on the 17th inst., and will be of a private nature, owing to Mrs. Boyd's indisposition since her accident on the railway.—Flesherton Advance.
