THE CHALICE OF COURAGE

to old Kirkby, who with his mastery skill, amusing nonchalance and amazing profanity, albeit most of it under his breath lest he shock the ladies, toolled along the four nervous, excited bronchos that drew the big supply wagon. Kirkby was Maitland's oldest and most valued friend. He had been the latter's deputy sheriff, he had been a cowboy and a lumberman, a mighty hunter and a successful miner, and now, although he had acquired a reasonable competence, and had a little wife and a pleasant home in the mountain village at the entrance to the canon, he drove stage for pleasure rather than for profit. He had given over his daily twenty-five mile jaunt from Morrison to Troutdale to other hands for a short space that he might spend a little time with his old friend and the family who were all greatly attached to him on this outing.

Enid Maitland, a girl of a kind that Kirkby had never seen before, had won the old man's heart during the weeks spent on the Maitland ranch. He had grown fond of her, and he did not think that Mr. James Armstrong merited that which he evidently so overwhelmingly desired. Kirkby was well along in years, but he was quite capable of playing a man's game for all that, and he intended to play it in this instance.

Nobody scanned Enid Maitland's face more closely than he, sitting humped up on the front seat of the wagon, one foot on the high break, his head sunk almost to the level of his knee, his long whip in his hand, his keen and somewhat fierce brown eyes taking in every detail of what was going on about him. Indeed there was but little that came before him that old Kirkby did not see.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

CLASSIC CITY CHRONICLES.

I remember how excited we were when it was announced that certain lakes in Grey would furnish cement for Ontario for one hundred years to come, but if a coal mine is found, Dufferin "excited" will be a mild term to use to describe the feelings of the Dufferiners.

We had the pleasure of a visit from councillor A. D. McLeod, of Priceville, on Thanksgiving Day. We trust that in the near future Mr. McLeod will be filling the reeve's chair in the council of Artemesia.

Some of our citizens put up their storm windows this week. They are evidently good weather prophets, as we are enjoying our first snow-storm to-night, Nov. 1. It seems only yesterday since the screen doors were hung to keep out the pestilent flies and mosquitoes.

Hallowe'en was duly celebrated in the Classic City. Black clouds and a heavy rain made ideal conditions for a night's sport, according to a boy's way of looking at it. Heavy fusillades of peas on the windows indicated the chief means of attack pursued by the youngsters this year. However, it was harmless fun, as it did the panes no damage, and gave the lads pleasure.

Two weeks ago, I suggested to the urban readers of The Chronicle that it didn't pay to burn up the leaves. Here is an article that I clipped from to-day's issue of The Beacon, which is worth reading:

"Don't sweep the leaves off your lawn into the gutter. Hundreds of citizens, garden enthusiasts included, are daily wasting nature's best fertilizer, when, by sweeping the fallen leaves into their gardens they could greatly enrich the soil. People who take pride in the appearances of their front lawns would also be doing the grass a good turn by allowing the leaves to remain on it. Don't sweep your leaves off the lawn; sweep them into the garden, pile them and cover them with a little lime, or just enough earth to prevent them from being blown around by the wind, and they will be converted into the richest kind of loam a gardener could wish for."

I would also add that if poultry is kept, the leaves should be thrown into the poultry yard. My poultry yard has always been a disgracefully muddy hole in October and November heretofore. This year, however, an entirely different state of affairs obtain. The children gathered fifteen or twenty bags of leaves in the park, and dumped them into the yard, and it is really a pleasure to see the splendid, clean, sanitary, out-of-door carpet of leaves, which the hens so proudly strut over or scratch among. Not a particle of mud can be seen, notwithstanding the heavy rains of this fall. In the spring, these leaves will make a most valuable humus fertilizer for my heavy clay garden.

LOCAL OPTION IN NORTH BAY.

North Bay, Nov. 1.—Signed by five hundred ratepayers, a petition asking for a local option contest for this town was presented late yesterday to council. Temperance advocates are looking for a 75 per cent. majority. Commenced only three weeks ago, the campaign, they say, has had gratifying results.

HER QUESTION.

"Our cause is just and must triumph," concluded the suffragette in ringing accents. "And now if any lady cares to ask a question I shall be pleased to answer it." "How do you get that smooth effect over the hips?" asked a lady in the read of the hall.

Freezing politeness is not restricted to the iceman.

MURDERER GIVES A BANQUET IN JAIL.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—In order to formally say farewell to three companions in the condemned cells and also to show his utter indifference to the fate that will soon overtake him, Sylvia Yacloff, to die, if no reprieve is granted him, on November 15th, for the murder of his sister-in-law, this morning gave a party. Yacloff sat at the head of the table, and the usual prison fare was supplemented by delicacies bought by the host.

Yacloff delivered a speech expressing his regret at having soon to leave his friends, and then sang a funny song in Russian, his native language.

You never catch a man in the act of sneaking up quietly behind your back for the purpose of putting money in your pocket.
