JOHN IS A GREAT HORSEMAN.

Quite an exciting instance of presence of mind was witnessed by several of the residents of Aberdeen on Thanksgiving Day. John Robertson was the hero of the occasion. While driving up the hill to the east of Aberdeen, John and a companion were met by Norman McIntyre in his auto. The horse became frightened, when Jack, by a superb feat of horsemanship wheeled the horse in the middle of the hill, probably saving the lives of himself and companion.

Tact is believing a man out loud and calling him a liar under your breath.

Judging by the quality of the product, it is no wonder we get so much free advice.

SANDS THAT SING.

A Scientist Declares That Scotland Has the Best Singing Sands.

A lecture given recently at the Royal Societies Club by Mr. Carus-Wilson was devoted to a consideration of the extraordinary sands known as "musical" or "singing" sands.

The best singing sands in the world come from the Isle of Egg, off the coast of Scotland, and it is comforting to know that, whatever figure Britain may cut in grand opera, she is at least prominent when it comes to a question of singing sand. But what is singing sand? Mr. Carus-Wilson went to great pains to leave no doubt on the subject, and although his audience contained many eminent geologists, he asked leave to begin at the very beginning and to treat his audience "as an audience of boys."

The lecturer showed how the rocks of which the earth is composed are decomposed by the action of natural causes, chiefly the weather; how cliffs become boulders; how boulders become pebbles, and pebbles in turn become sand. In the course of time it occurs that nature, that most versatile old lady, produces a kind of sand which has music in its soul; a sand composed of quartz, rounded and highly polished, of a uniform size, and very clean.

And when these are agitated so as to produce vibrations, by means of the wind, by being trodden upon, or by being struck, they produce musical notes. Such perfect deposits are found in the Isle of Egg, and it was by means of samples of the real Egg variety that the lecturer produced musical notes.

Filling a wooden egg-cup with sand from the Isle of Egg, he stabbed the sand with a wooden ninepin abstracted, he said, from the nursery at home, and produced a high musical note. The sand behaved better in the egg-cup than in anything else. In a cardboard box its musical note remained dumb, as it did in a flower-pot and in the half of a rubber ball. In half a wooden Easter egg the sand from the Isle of Egg, as the lecturer remarked, "positively revelled" in its surroundings, and emitted a sharp, joyous squeaking.

Musical sands have been known for 1,000 years, and it is believed that there is a reference to them in one of the tales of the "Arabian Nights." But nature, who conducts experiments on quite a different scale from those at the Royal Societies Club, produces much finer results. There is the Mountain of the Bell on the shores of the Red Sea, which makes extraordinary sounds and boomings when the winds set the countless millions of particles rubbing against each other and vibrating.

A Queer Club.

"The Little Club" of London was a distinctly original institution. It was intended for those not five feet high. Invitations to be present at the inaugural meeting did not meet with a very hearty response. The scheme had to be modified owing to the occasional awkward situations created through the use of ordinary sized furniture; as when a member, imaging the president to be absent, gave vent to some contemptuous criticisms of him, only to find that his face had been temporarily eclipsed by a flash of wine which stood before him on the table. After this the premises were furnished in proportion to the size of the club members, the door was made high enough to admit a man of five feet, and no more, and to "brush your forehead" on entering was to be disqualified for membership.

Queer Clubs.

The title "Cave of the Golden Calf" bestowed on London's first Cabaret Theatre Club, which has just been opened, recalls other curiously-named clubs which have flourished in this country at different times. For instance, there was the "Calves' Head Club," founded in "ridicule of the memory of Charles I.," whose meetings for obvious reasons were rather suspiciously regarded after the Restoration. "The Everlasting" was a purely social club, with a membership of 100 souls. Social intercourse was always obtainable within its walls, for the rules arranged for the presence of members day and night throughout the year.

Rousseau in England.

Part of Rousseau's stay in England was spent at Chiswick, where he lodged over a small grocer's shop. "The philosopher sits in the shop," writes a contemporary, "and learns English words, which brings many customers to the place."

The grocer must have been sorry to lose so alluring a lodger, but David Home, who brought Rousseau to England, was heartily glad when he returned to France. After his departure he described Rousseau as "a composition of whim, affectation, wickedness, vanity and inquietude, with a very small, if any, ingredient of madness."

Took It to Himself.

When Gen. Moreau was in England he was once the victim of a rather droll misunderstanding. He was present at a concert where a piece was sung by the choir with the refrain: "To-morrow, to-morrow."

Having a very imperfect knowledge of English, he fancied it to be a cantata given in his honor and thought he distinguished the words: "To Moreau, to Moreau."

Each time the refrain was repeated he rose to his feet and gracefully bowed on all sides, to the great astonishment of the audience, who did not know what to make of it.

A Vegetarian Banquet.

The menu of a meal given lately by the London Vegetarian Association included walnut cutlets with brown sauce, cauliflower and new potatoes, asparagus on toast, spaghetti on toast, tomato farcie and young carrots.

HAPPY THOUGHT

Why Bread is Better Baked in Some Ranges Than in Others

It is all a matter of the way the heat gets into the oven. Some stoves have ovens that heat easily and quickly and remain very hot.

Others have ovens that require a wasteful amount of fire in the fire-box before baking heat is reached.

These are the two extremes. For some things each type has advantages. But for all your requirements neither is really satisfactory.

"Happy Thought" Ranges give you the heat in the oven that exactly corresponds with the fire in the firebox. So a little fire means a light heat and a big fire means a perfect hot-blast in the oven.

In baking bread, this feature enables you to secure the benefit of every ounce of heat—to make every lump of coal pay for itself—to continue the heat steadily for as long as you wish in order to have the bread baked uniformly all the way through.

More than a Quarter Million Canadian women use the "Happy Thought" every day.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT.

Newspaper publishers and citizens generally throughout the Dominion are unanimous in their opinion that the picture entitled "Mother's Treasures" given with The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, this season, is a most delightful and beautiful subject. Here is the opinion of one publisher: "Mother's Treasures" is a marvel of beauty. The subject is one that will have a tendency to strengthen home ties. We in the same business wonder how you can afford to give such value in pictures besides the vast amount of good things in The Family Herald and Weekly Star." Signed, E. W. Richards, The Mirror, Millbrook. No home in Canada should be without this beautiful picture. One dollar pays a full year's subscription to The Family Herald and Weekly Star, including the picture, which is ready for framing, size 23 by 29 inches. It is a big dollar's worth, indeed.

FOR CONSTIPATION.

A Medicine that Does Not Cost Anything Unless it Cures.

The active medicinal ingredient of Rexall Orderlies which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is a comparatively new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate, and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they act to overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physics and permanently removes the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Macfarlane & Co.

A WONDERFUL CASE.

Three Months in Hospital and Came Out Un cured.—Zam-Buk Cured Him in a Few Weeks.

Mr. Fred Mason, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer, of St. Andrews, N. B., says: "I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore parts would itch and burn and tingle, and then when rubbed or scratched would become very painful. When the knee got warm, it burned worse, and the itching and burning and smarting were almost unbearable. I tried various remedies, but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was not cured, and almost gave in. A friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial.

"Almost as soon as applied Zam-Buk stopped the itching and irritation. I persevered with the balm, and it was soon evident that it would do me good. Each day the pain was reduced, the sore spots had begun to heal and by the time I had used a few boxes of Zam-Buk I was quite cured.

"Since then Zam-Buk has cured blood-poison in my finger, and at a time when my finger was in such a terrible condition that I feared it would have to be amputated."

For eczema, blood-poisoning, piles, ulcers, sores, abscesses, varicose ulcers, bad leg, cold sores, chapped hands, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. 50c. box all druggists or stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse imitations.
