THE DISCOVERY OF EUGENIA FALLS

Councillor Miller, Who Lived in Markdale Suburbs, Was the Man—The Gold Rush

Written Specially for The Flesherton Advance, by Mrs. W. G. Pickell of Markdale, and Reproduced in The Chronicle by Kind Permission of That Paper

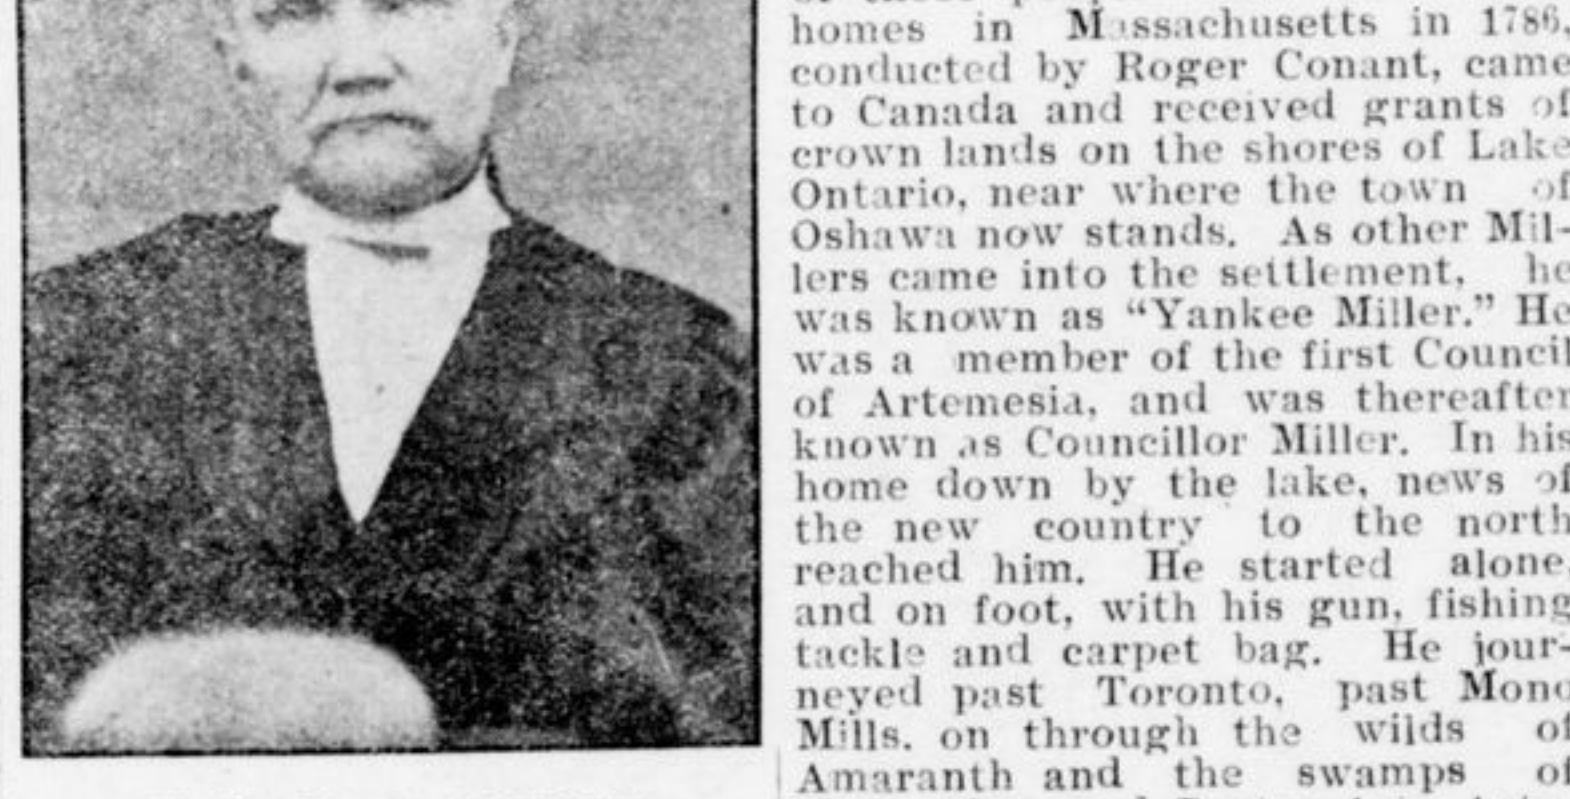

THE FISHER FOLK who frequent the banks of our pretty Saugeen River in Markdale suburb during the trout season would find an interesting scene could they but draw aside the curtain of time and see the stream as it was sixty-three years ago.

A clear, deep quiet stream, emerging from the dense forest on one side, crossing the new road under a rough corduroy bridge, and disappearing again in the woods on the other side.

Gliding along with the current, a bevy of wild ducks from the pond a little way up the river may be seen. They hesitate for a moment, startled, perhaps, by the quick movements of a sly muskrat or the splash of a beaver's tail as he goes down his water route to his home.

The mossy banks of the river have for their background the virgin forest, where may be heard the breaking of the undergrowth by the tread of a bear or wolf. Down these green slopes deer came to drink.

MRS. W. G. PICKELL Mrs. Pickell, the writer of this sketch, is herself classed as one of the pioneers, and is gifted with a clever pen, by which she can construct vivid pictures of past days.—Ed.

There is a man sitting on the bank, fishing rod in hand, his gun lying beside him. Tradition says he was the first white man that fished and hunted along the river in these parts.

out. Gold at the Falls! The rush and excitement following this discovery cannot be described. Men followed the trail to Durham by night to buy picks and shovels. They could not waste daylight. The old lanterns with horn sides, or perforated tin, inside which a solitary candle burned, were in great demand.

Knowing it was necessary to have expert knowledge as to the value of the mineral, samples were sent out to be assayed. This took some time, for communication with the outer world was painfully slow.

But though there was no gold at the Falls, it yet had other attractions. There at some time a great upheaval hollowed out the ravine and piled up the hill on the west side and made it necessary for the calm flowing river to make its leap over the brink into the chasm below and pursue its tortuous way among the rocks there.

The despoiler came. News of the beauty and possibilities of the place reached government ears. Surveyors were sent in and a town plot was laid out. The fierce battles of the Crimean war had recently been fought, and their names were given to the streets—Alma, Inkerman, Balaclava, etc.—

PLAYED FOOTBALL WITH BABY New York, Jan. 17.—A dozen boys playing football with a paste-board box in a vacant lot in Brooklyn to-day, sat down to rest after half an hour's play.

They undid the strings. A four-day-old baby boy, naked, and to all appearances dead, rolled to the ground. A policeman took it to a hospital. Half an hour later it was crying lustily. It will probably live.

WALKERTON TO BOOM. It is rumored that the Bell Telephone Company is negotiating for the purchase of the corner lot opposite the post office, now occupied by Mr. A. McCartney, with the intention of building their central office on that corner.

A new building there, with the library opposite would give the main street a decidedly improved appearance. With the new library and rink, and R. L. Gibson building a business block next to it, and a new factory and a foundry in view, it is beginning to look as though Walkerton was due for a long wanted boom during 1913.—Telescope.

FLAG FLEW FROM NEW STACKS The finishing touches were put on the new smoke stacks at the Malleable Iron plant on Wednesday, and as huge Canadian flags were run up to the top of the towering structures, the men who had been engaged at the work gathered at their bases and gave vent to ringing cheers.

LOCAL OPTIONISTS SKUNKED. Mt. Forest's local optionists were not only defeated at the polls on Monday of last week, but were skunked. For the benefit of out-of-town subscribers who were out of reach of the odor, we might explain that from the night of polling day, a strong odor of skunk was evident to everyone who had occasion to pass the Methodist church. After waiting a few days for the live skunk, as it was supposed, and its odor to pass on in the usual manner, but without avail, search was instituted, and buried in the snow was found that part of the skunk which generates the odor, between the church and the parsonage. It is to be hoped that its appearance there on and after the night of voting is only a coincidence, but it is so hard to convince a number of people that such is the case, that it is up to a certain suspected portion of the community to clearly prove their innocence in what looks to be a most contemptible outrage.—Mt. Forest Representative.

DEAR OLD FALLS. As a child we looked on it in wide-eyed wonder and awe. Later, in the gladness of youth, it was full of charm, and now, in the grey-tinted evening of life, its first memory picture is as fresh as ever. Let us hope Eugenia will yet come into its own, but its pristine loveliness can never be restored.—E. A. PICKELL.

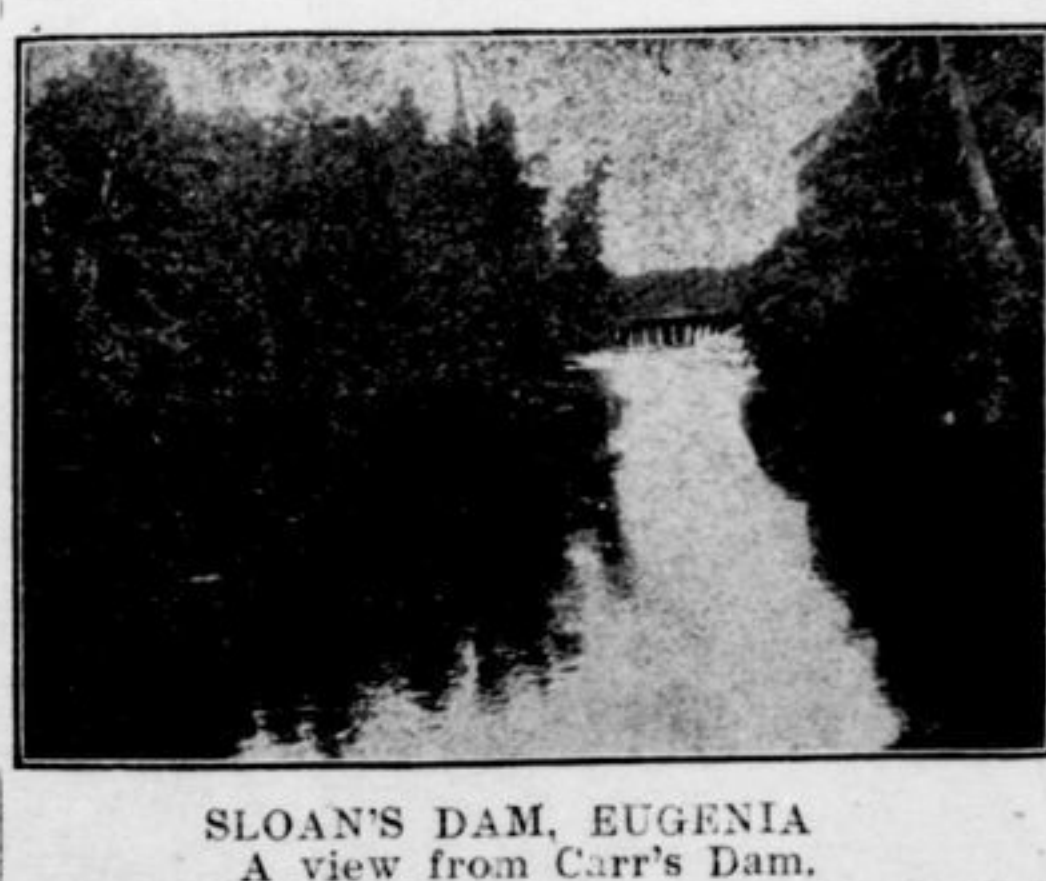

A LUCKY LUCKNOW DOG. One of the most familiar figures in Lucknow is Tom Webster's dog, Frisco. Frisco walks about with the kindly, yet dignified air of an old resident who is perfectly satisfied with the town, local option and everything else. One day, among the parcels which came to Lucknow post office was one addressed to Mr. Frisco Webster. Our postmistress was not puzzled for a moment; she knew the party. The box was duly sent up to carpenter Frisco's place of abode, and its contents were fed to him—a lot of nice creamy chocolates such as young men across the line buy for their sweethearts. Also came a post card from an old friend in Windsor, wishing Frisco a Merry Christmas. Possibly no other dog in Lucknow was ever remembered in quite the same way. Frisco is as modest as he is famous, and there is no likelihood of his ever sacrificing his days of leisure to become an aspirant for any official position other than that of night watchman in his master's household.—Lucknow Sentinel.

KILLED BY A TREE. Isaac G. Hughson, a former well-known resident of Shelburne, was killed while working in the woods for Finley & Thompson, near Tea Nova, on Tuesday afternoon. He had chopped down a tree, which lodged in another, and the falling tree skidded back over the stump, and struck the deceased in the breast. He lived about half an hour after the accident. He is survived by his widow, three sons and two daughters.—Shelburne Free Press.

BEST KEPT ORCHARDS IN THE COUNTY OF BRUCE. Walkerton, Jan. 16.—Mr. T. J. E. McGregor, of the local G. T. R. station, is in receipt of a cheque for $5, from the department of agriculture of Ontario, for the second prize for a well-kept orchard, in the six counties bordering on Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

To encourage fruit growing, the department divides Ontario into districts, then divides the large orchards and small orchards into classes in order that every man has a chance to compete. Mr. McGregor's orchard was classed in the large orchards. It is understood that Mr. Cameron, of Lucknow, was awarded the first prize. Thus Bruce county has captured both first prize and second prize, and the owners of the orchards are justly proud of the awards. The judging was done just about the time the apples were ready to pick in the fall.

TO TAKE INK OUT OF LINEN. Dip the ink spot in pure melted tallow, then wash out the tallow and the ink will come out with it. This is said to be unfailing. Milk will remove ink from linen or colored muslins, when acids would be ruinous, by soaking the goods until the spot is very faint, and then rubbing and rinsing in cold water.
