Rev. R. W. Wright has, on account of Mrs. Wright's poor health, decided to resign the pastorate of the Methodist church, Paisley, and give up active ministerial work for a year. The congregation, and people of Paisley generally, will regret to learn of the reverend gentleman's intention to leave town at the end of his first year.—Paisley Advocate. Her friends in Durham will regret to learn of Mrs. Wright's illness.

The water wagon got a bad jar on Monday morning. Just after filling it up at the supply pipe, Mr. John Whittaker, who does the street sprinkling, started his horses. In turning off the platform, a loose plank caught in one of the wheels and the whole load capsized, breaking the tongue, and causing other damages. One of the horses was knocked down, and held fast until cut loose. He was taken from the wreck apparently uninjured. As an eye witness of the affair, we feel surprised that the horse didn't have his legs broken. Last fall, about the last time the wagon was used, it had a similar mishap. It was borrowed, we understand, by some one in connection with the public library, to draw water to fill the new heating system, and when turning at or near the building, it upset in a similar manner, causing damage which was repaired only before using it a few days ago. There may be some fault in the way the thing is balanced, and before attaching blame to the drivers in either case, it would be well to investigate.

A five-year-old daughter of Jos. Radic, of Brantford, was badly burned on Monday. Her clothing caught fire from a bon-fire, around which children were playing. The child has a chance to recover.

Peter Cornish, of Normanby, must have a sort of feeling that it pays to raise hogs. Last week he sold thirteen to John Brown, of Holstein. The total weight was 3,260 pounds, and he sold them at 9c. The proceeds amounted to $309.70.

Mrs. Banks, widow of the late Richard Banks, of Glenelg, died Saturday, and her remains were laid at rest in Zion cemetery on Monday afternoon. We expected an obituary from our Traverston correspondent, but it has failed to reach us this Wednesday noon.

The Southland Serenaders gave a fine musical entertainment in the Presbyterian church on Monday night. The company consisted of five members, all of whom were musical artists. The concert was fully enjoyed by a fairly good good audience. Had it not been for the unfavorable appearance of the weather, the attendance would have been larger.

On Sunday, May 25th, the annual missionary campaign throughout the archdeaconry of Perth will be conducted. The pulpits of the various Anglican churches will be supplied by visiting clergy. The Rev. J. W. Hodgins, B.A., of St. Paul's church, Stratford, will conduct the services and preach in Trinity church here, and in St. Paul's, Egremont. Rev. W. H. Hartley will take similar duty in Southampton.

We are glad to announce that the advance agent of the National Sanitarium Association has been in town this week, arranging for a lecture to be given by Mr. J. B. Watson, field secretary and lecturer of the association, on "Tuberculosis, and the work of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives." The lecture will be delivered on the 22nd day of June, in the town hall. Those who have been privileged to hear this lecture will be glad to hear it again. We strongly recommend those who have not heard it to make a point of doing so. Entertainment, interest and education are the three outstanding features.

On Monday of this week, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Campbell called at the manse and on behalf of a number of friends in the congregation presented Dr. Farquharson with a purse of gold, expressive of their sympathy with him in his present illness, and of their desire that means should not be lacking for the prosecution of his efforts towards recovery. Dr. Farquharson acknowledged with sincere thanks the kindness manifested by this gift, which he appreciated all the more, as it is one of a series of continued acts of kindness and expressions of goodwill which he has received, not only from members of his congregation, but from the citizens of Durham generally. He regrets very much the long continued illness that has laid him aside, from active service, but trusts that under the active aid of God he may be speedily restored to his usual health and strength and enabled to resume his accustomed work.

We regret to learn that Frossard Benton, who came home sick a few months ago, is not improving in health. We hope the approaching warm weather will have a beneficial effect.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Prudham, who was assisting Rev. Mr. Ward at Varney and Ebenezer on Sunday last, the Methodist pulpit here was ably filled by for the morning service by Inspector Campbell, who preached a very edifying and inspiring sermon.

Mr. Andrew Pennington, a recent G. T. R. conductor on the line here, was stricken with paralysis while in the discharge of his duty on Saturday and had to be brought home from Hamilton to Palmerston. Mr. Pennington was held in high esteem here, and the community regret with us in learning of his illness.

Mr. George William Jackson died Tuesday in Chicago. The remains will be brought here for interment in Trinity church cemetery, at half-past two on Thursday afternoon. His son, Arthur H., of this town, from whose residence the funeral will be held, was in Chicago for a short time, and is accompanying the remains home.

The tower of Knox Presbyterian church, Stratford, was struck by lightning on Tuesday morning about two o'clock, and the building was completely destroyed. Three firemen lost their lives by a falling beam while trying to fight the fire. The killed are fire chief, Hugh Durkin, police chief McCarthy and police constable Matthew Hamilton. A $7,000 organ, just installed, was burned.

Hotel bars must now be closed until eight o'clock in the morning. This new restriction will go hard with those who have long been in the habit of taking an "eye opener" before going to work at seven o'clock in the morning. The former hour of opening the bars was six o'clock. The new law also says that all liquor must be consumed on the premises, and the selling of liquor by the bottle in bars is now legally a thing of the past in Ontario.

In order to encourage the proper celebration of Empire Day, and inspire the rising generation with a spirit of patriotism, the Education Department has issued for circulation amongst the Public and Separate schools of the province, ten thousand copies of a booklet of patriotic poetry and prose. The regulations require that the forenoon of May 23rd shall be devoted to a study of the greatness of the British Empire, and the afternoon to public addresses, recitations, music, etc., of a patriotic character.

The refusal to grant licenses to the hotels in Meaford puts the whole of North Grey in the dry belt, not a single license being now held in that part of the county. Meaford failed by a majority of a vote to pass local option of a vote to pass local option last January, and according to the strict interpretation of the law, it wasn't necessary to refuse the licenses to the three hotels making application. Surely the temperance Liberals ought to give Mr. Hanna credit for this one act, if for nothing else. Will any of them do so? How does The Review feel on the subject?

About the middle of last week, Mr. Thos. Wilson met with a painful accident, which will lay him off work for a number of weeks. While engaged in the clay building, a heavy piece of scantling slipped through an opening in the floor, some fifty or sixty feet above him. This struck him on the shoulder, and, we are told, broke his collar bone in two places. This is the second time Mr. Wilson met with painful injuries in the same building, the former occasion being two or three years ago, when he was caught under a heavy bank of The G. T. R. freight sheds and station at New Lowell were completely destroyed by fire on the 25th of April. Between five and six thousand dollars' worth of grain was destroyed.

A $30,000 fire occurred Monday about mid-day in St. Catharines. The fire is supposed to have originated from children playing with matches in an old junk shop. The flames spread to the ice house of the St. Catharines Fuel and Ice Company, totally destroying the building, valued at $7,000. Most of the ice can be saved. The fire occurred in a section containing many working men's frame houses, and the loss will not be so great as the number of destroyed buildings would indicate.

There's a man in town cleaning and renovating feathers, and from what we hear of him he is giving excellent satisfaction. We don't know his name, but we know the pillows he renovated for The Chronicle home have been greatly improved, and we feel no hesitation in recommending him to those who have work for him to do. It seems reasonable to suppose that pillows and feather beds, when long in use, will become more or less unsanitary, and a proper cleansing is needed. His prices seem reasonable, and as he intends to remain in town for some time he will likely call at every home.

The world's greatest descriptive organist, Gatty Sellars, of the Queen's Hall, London, England, will play at the Presbyterian church, Monday next, and from reports from neighboring towns, his performance of such descriptive pieces as his "Storm at Sea," and the "Russian Patrol" will come as a revelation, these effects being described by the world's press as the finest ever heard. The performance of the Coronation music with cathedral chimes from the Queen's Hall, London, England, will be a special feature. Secure tickets early, at 25c, to avoid disappointment, as the world famed organist's performances have the largest audiences on record in many of the larger cities visited.

We regret to learn of the severe illness from heart trouble of Mr. Wm. Brown, a former resident of this place, now residing in Holstein. Mr. Brown was taken ill on Friday last, and we understand his recovery is somewhat doubtful. He was for the past four or five years a resident of this place, and while here he made many friends who will regret to learn of his serious condition. His son, Mr. James Brown, and daughter, Miss Sarah, arrived from the West on Tuesday night's C. P. R. train, and drove to Holstein immediately on their arrival here. Mrs. Mel. Storey, of this place, is also a daughter, and has been in attendance at her father's bedside since he was taken down. Mr. Brown, who is in the neighborhood of 75 years of age, and a very active man for his years, had a similar attack about three weeks ago, but had apparently recovered. In a conversation with Mr. Jas. Brown this Wednesday noon, the son stated that his father's condition was much improved, so much so, in fact, that he believes he has a good chance for recovery.

On Sunday evening, just after the churches had been let out, a horse driven by Mr. Spencer Hopkins, of Bentinck, took fright at an automobile standing at the side of the road near Rowe's bakery, and started on a run up Garafraxa street. In the buggy with Mr. Hopkins was Miss Donnelly, daughter of Mr. David Donnelly, of Viekers, who was thrown out and sustained some minor injuries. A livery rig belonging to liveryman Shutz, and driven by Enno Bauer, was run into and had the hind axle bent, and near Gun's drug store the runaway collided with a post, got loose from the buggy and pulled Mr. Hopkins out over the dashboard. Mr. Hopkins, however, was stopped without further damage. We understand neither man nor horse were injured, and, beyond smashing the buggy somewhat, no further damage was done.
