Mavigation on the Osage. anywhere is the Osage river in Missouri. In that region they tell of a farmer living on the banks of that river who had a small flatboat which ope day he loaded with produce and floated down to market, six miles away. He exchanged the produce for goods at one of the stores and loaded his goods in the flatboat "How are you going to get your stuff home, Bill?" asked a friend. "Got a steamboat to tow you back?"

"I am going to float back," was the response.

"How are you going to do that? don't understand." "I guess you don't know much about this river. It doubles on itself just below here and runs back to within less than a quarter of a mile of my place. I've got a landing on both banks and a over from one landing to the other."-Kansas City. Journal.

Balkan Ballads.

In the Balkan countries the ballad makers have certainly been at least as important as the makers of laws. Servia's national ballads, commemorating the glories of the Servian Emperor Dushan, the fatal battle of Kossovo and the legendary exploits of the hero Marko Kralyevich and his horse Sharats, are of Homeric proportions and, sung to the accompaniment of a guitar with cords of horsehair tails, have kept national feeling warm for centuries. In recent years the Servian government published a popular edition. In Macedonia Sir Charles Eliot heard a schoolboy recite a Buigarian poem which took an hour and a quarter, with a simple but significant plot. The pasha of Sofia summons a Bulgarian bero who is his friend and tells him he has orders to execute him. The Bulgarian asks why. The pasha says he does not know, but he must do it, and he does .- London Chronicle.
