Marjorie's... Everybody felt a good natured edge against her for being such a snob. The car was jingling with merriment, when the porter came stumbling in and paused at the door, with eyes all white, hands waving frantically, and lips flapping like a fish out of water in a vain effort to speak.
 The passengers stopped laughing at Marjorie, to laugh at the porter. Aston sang out:

"What's the matter with you, porter? Are you trying to crow?" Everybody roared at this, till the porter finally managed to articulate:
 "T-t-train rob-rob-robbers!"

Silence shut down as if the whole crowd had been smitten with paralysis.
 From somewhere outside and ahead came a pop-popping as of firecrackers. Everybody thought, "Revolvers!" The reports were mingled with barbaric yells that turned the marrow in every bone to snow.

These regions are full of historic terror. All along the Nevada route the conductor, the brakemen and old travelers had pointed out scene after scene where the Indians had slaked the thirst of the arid land with white man's blood. Ashton, who had traveled this way many times, had made himself fascinatingly horrifying the evening before and ruined several breakfasts that morning in the dining-car, by regaling the passengers with stories of pioneer ordeals, men and women massacred in burning wagons, or dragged away to fiendish cruelty and obscene torture, staked out supine on burning wastes with eyelids cut off, bound down within reach of rattlesnakes, subjected to every misery that human devilry could devise.

Ashton had brought his fellow passengers to a state of ecstatic excitability, and, like many a recounter of burglar stories at night, had tuned his own nerves to high tension.

The violent stopping of the train, the heart-shaking yells and shots outside, found the passengers already apt to respond without delay to the appeals of fright. After the first hush of dread, came the reaction to panic.

Each passenger showed his own panic in his own way. Ashton whirled round and round, like a horse with the blind staggers, then bolted down the aisle, knocking aside men and women. He climbed on a seat, pulled down an upper berth, and scrambling into it, tried to shut it on himself.
 Mrs. Whitcomb was so frightened that she assailed Ashton with fury and seizing his feet, dragged him back into the aisle, and beat him with her fists, demanding that he protect her and save her for Sammy's sake.

Mrs. Fosdick, rushing out of her stateroom and not finding her luscious-eyed husband, laid hold of Jimmie Wellington and ordered him to go to the rescue of her spouse. Mrs.
 Wellington tore her hands loose, crying: "Let him go, madam. He has a wife of his own to defend."

Jimmie was trying to pour out dying messages, and only sputtering, forgetting that he had put his watch in his mouth to hide it, though its chain was still attached to his waistcoat.

Anne Gattle, who had read much about Chinese atrocities to missionaries, gave herself up to death, yet rejoiced greatly that she had provided a timely man to lean on and should not have to enter Paradise a spinster, providing she could manage to convert Ira in the next few seconds, before it was everlastingly too late. She was begging her first heathen to join her in a gospel hymn. But Ira was roaring curses like a pirate captain in a hurricane, and swearing that the villains should not rob him of his bride.

Mrs. Temple wrung her twitching hands and tried to drag her husband to his knees, crying:
 "Oh, Walter, Walter, won't you please say a prayer?—a good strong prayer!"

But the preacher was so confused that he answered: "What's the use of prayer in an emergency like this?"
 "Walter!" she shrieked.
 "I'm on my va-vacation, you know," he stammered.

Marjorie was trying at the same time to compel Mallory to crawl under a seat and to find a place to hide Snoozeleums, whom she was warning not to say a word. Snoozeleums, understanding only that his mistress was in some distress, refused to stay in his basket and kept offering his services and his attentions.

Suddenly Marjorie realized that Kathleen was trying to faint in Mallory's arms, and forgot everything else in a determined effort to prevent her.
 After the first blood-sweat of abject fright had begun to cool, the passengers came to realize that the invaders were not after lives, but loot. Then came a panic of miserly effort to conceal treasure.

Kathleen, finding herself banished from Mallory's protection, ran to Mrs.
 Whitcomb, who had given Ashton up as a hopeless task.
 "What shall we do, oh, what, oh what shall we do, dear Mrs. Wellington!" Mrs. Whitcomb screamed; then she began to flutter. "But we'd better hide what we can. I hope the rah-rah-robbers are gentlemen."

She pushed a diamond locket containing a small portrait of Sammy into her back hair, leaving part of the chain dangling. Then she tried to stuff a large handbag into her stocking.

Mrs. Fosdick found her husband at last, for he made a wild dash to her side, embraced her, called her his wife and defied all the powers of Nevada to tear them apart. He had a brilliant idea. In order to save his fat wallet from capture, he tossed it through an open window. It fell at the feet of one of the robbers as he ran along the side of the car, shooting at such heads as were put out of windows. He picked it up and dropped it into the feed-bag he had swung at his side. Then running on, he clambered over the brass rail of the observation platform and entered the rear of the train, as his confederate, driving the conductor ahead of him, forged his way aft from the front, while a third marauder aligned the engineer, the fireman, the brakeman and the baggage men.

EIGHTY SEVEN YEARS OLD; IS NEARLY DROWNED.

Mr. John R. Booth, the multimillionaire lumber king, of Ottawa, who the other day barely escaped with his life from drowning when the coffer dam of one of the Chaudiere flumes at his mill at the collapsed, in spite of his 87 years, is one of the hardest worked men about the establishment. Whenever there is hard work to be done he is there to superintend it, and the harder it is the better he seems to like it. Particularly does he seem to take delight in conquering the mighty torrent of the Chaudiere Falls, which he has so successfully harnessed and trained to do his work. The water from the falls is led to the great Booth tunnels through vast subterranean canals and deep cuts, and Mr.
 Booth himself has personally superintended the construction of every inch of this work, and has done his share in the hard manual labor as well. He appears to regard the fight with the mighty power of nature as peculiarly his own and has had the better of it so far; but the Chaudiere nearly got its revenge the other day, one of Mr. Booth's foremen saving him from the maelstrom by grabbing the collar of his coat as the leader was being swept away from under his feet. Two or three years ago, while a wheel pit for the new Booth paper mill was being made, Mr. Booth caught a dangerous cold which the doctors feared might end fatally. The octogenarian was put to bed, physicked, poulticed and ordered to remain in bed. He obeyed the order for just two nights and a day, then after six o'clock on the morning of the second day, one of Mr. Booth's sons went to his father's room and was surprised to find that he was already up and had gone to the mill. He hurried after him, expecting to find his father in the office; but instead of that he found the old gentleman attired in oilskins and up to his knees in icy cold water working with his men at the bottom of the new turbine well. A short time ago this active old prince of industry took occasion to give a few pointers on how to live to be 87 or more. Said he: "Our constitutions are what we make them at meal time. Most ailments can be cured by observing the laws of nature and common sense.
 Doctors are necessary only in extreme cases. No man ought to eat a meal when he is tired. Only persons who do manual labor should eat three meals a day.
 Two are enough for brain workers. We are all inclined to eat too much." And the man who still persists in "doing odd jobs" in his huge mills, and never misses a day, is testimony to this dictated. Mr. Booth is a native of Sherbrooke, Que., commenced business as a bridge carpenter, moved to Ottawa in the late fifties, and was one of the pioneer lumbermen of the Ottawa Valley.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS ASTONISHED

RHEUMA Acts on Kidneys Liver and Blood the first Day—and Out Goes Uric Acid Poison

Anybody can afford to pay 50 cents to get rid of terrible Rheumatism, Sciatica, or Gout, and that's all RHEUMA costs at Macfarlane & Co's, and they say if it doesn't do all that is claimed for it, money back.

It's wonderful how speedy this simple remedy takes hold and how the sore muscles limber up and the swollen joints come down to normal. Make no mistake—RHEUMA costs but little, but it's the best remedy you can find to drive Rheumatic poison from the system and bring back health to misery-racked bodies.

"I had Rheumatism for a long while, and tried many medicines, but was not cured until I used RHEUMA. I cannot praise RHEU-MA too highly. My advice to those suffering from Rheumatism is to use this great remedy, as I believe it will effect a permanent cure in any case."—C. B. Lanham

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it.
 I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got THE NEW Hinton Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day.
 I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."
 HENRY C. LOCUST.
