HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Thick blotting paper under doilies will prevent hot dishes from marking the table.

An excellent household remedy for burns is olive oil or vaseline. The great thing is to exclude the air from the burned surface, and this the oil will do.

When a slice or two of bread is left from a meal, do not put into the bread box to be forgotten, but cover over in a dish and use for toast at the next meal.

There is no more efficacious way of removing finger-marks from woodwork, window-panes or porcelain, than by wiping them with a cloth moistened with kerosene.

Don't throw away the unsealed envelopes that bring circulars to the house. Cut off the gummed strips, and save them. They will serve a dozen household uses.

For washing windows, which should be done when the sun is not shining on them, use warm water with a tablespoonful of kerosene added to each pail of water.

A sponge in a porcelain umbrella stand will keep the umbrella from striking the bottom of the jar, which is often broken in this way, and will also absorb the rainwater from a wet umbrella.

When making a mayonnaise in which only the yolks of eggs are used, the economical housekeeper will use the whites in a dessert, such as apple snow for frosting or for a meringue on a pie.

Ink stains on mahogany can be removed by painting them with a solution of six drops of nitre mixed with a teaspoonful of water. Then rub well with a damp cloth and polish with a dry one.

Using a warm iron when cutting out cloth will do away with wrinkles and weights on tissue paper material, and press it lightly with a warm iron. It will adhere to the cloth.

A bathing cap may be kept in good condition for another year by sprinkling it thickly inside and out with toilet powder before putting it away. It will prevent it sticking together and rotting.

When books become badly soiled if not gilt-edged close the book tightly, then erase the marks with an ink eraser. This will cut off all rough edges, all soiled marks and leave the book very clean.

To remove an ink stain from a colored waist put the stained part into sweet milk and let it remain until the milk sours. Hang the wash up and let it dry. Then brush off the dried milk and rinse with cold water.

A floor covering of good linoleum should hold its own at least five years. It needs no soap, ammonia or any strong cleansing agent. A simple wiping with a cloth, just moist with warm water, is all that is needed.

Salmon, well minced and mixed with a yolk of egg and sufficient lemon, pepper and salt to season well, makes a delicious filling for sandwiches. It is equally good with white or brown bread.

When the skin burns and is harsh to the touch, it does not need water. It should be cleansed with cold cream and wiped with a soft cloth, then sponged with a mild solution of benzoic and alcohol.

Try serving macaroni with a simple cream sauce, as one would asparagus or cauliflower. It is delicious.

A weak solution of oxalic acid, used for stained fingers, is good. For minor stains, lemon juice is helpful.

A teaspoonful of vinegar added to the water in which black stockings are rinsed will keep them a good color.

When the suede belt or purse becomes greasy looking, try rubbing it with a fine emery paper. It will look like new.

For a much-used ironing board make two slips of heavy, unbleached cotton cloth and use it alternately to keep the board fresh and clean.

A delicious salad is made of bananas cut in slices, dipped in mayonnaise, rolled in minced nuts and served on white lettuce heart leaves.

An excellent cleaner for painted surfaces is made as follows: Two quarts of hot water, two table-spoonsful of turpentine, a pint of skimmed milk and enough soap to make a weak suds.

Mashed potatoes, left over, should be packed in a cup or bowl until needed for frying. Another way to use it is to put into a double boiler, with some warm milk. It will be quite tasty.

Lamp burners should be washed frequently to remove dust and carbon that choke the perforations. Occasionally they should be boiled in a washing soda solution.

CONSISTENT!
The Globe says: "With no war debt, no war panic, no war mania, Canada may show the nations the more excellent way." What, then, is to become of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal to place a Canadian fleet unit on either coast at an initial cost of $140,000,000 on plant and ships, and a prospective outlay of $400,000,000 of $500,000,000?—Toronto News.

GOES TO CENTRAL PRISON FOR ASSAULT ON YOUNG GIRL.

Albert Henry Lambert is the name of a home boy, about 16 years of age, who has been out from the old country some three years. For the last six months he has been engaged with Wm. Gilchrist, 4th line, Nottawasaga, and left there on Friday morning last, when he came to Creemore and started to walk down the railroad towards Alliston. When he got as far as John Wheeler's, the other side of Avening, he saw Mr. Wheeler's two girls, aged twelve and three years, at the way gate, and told the elder girl, Fanny, that he had left the place he had been working without his breakfast, and wanted something to eat. He followed her to the house and she gave him some bread and butter, a part of which he ate, and gave what he did not want to the dog. He gave the little girl five cents, but after he had finished eating demanded it back. She gave two to him, and the young scoundrel then seized her and threw her on the floor and assaulted her. The boy then left the room, and warned her to stay there. Before this he asked her if there was a revolver in the house, as he intended to kill her. On being told there was none he picked up a knife from the table and threatened her. It was a terrible shock to her nervous system is one that she will not soon get over. When the boy left the bedroom, the little girl wrapped her undershirt around her and ran through the field with her young-sister to W. Millsap's residence, where she told Mrs. Millsap what had happened. On leaving the house the boy took Mr. Wheeler's watch, which was hanging on the wall, and some forty cents in change he got in ransacking the house. The police were immediately put on his track and succeeded in capturing the boy near Lisle. He was brought back to Creemore and was arraigned before Crown Attorney Cotter the same afternoon. He pleaded guilty to both charges, that of stealing and of assault, and the evidences of constable Young, the father girl Fanny Wheeler, her sister and Mrs. Wm. Millsap were taken to find out the extent of the young rascal's depredation. The boy was quite unconcerned, and even when the magistrate was giving him a talking to he seemed not to care, but he probably will before he gets his liberty again.

He was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison for the theft of the watch and money, and to eighteen months on the charge of indecent assault, the terms to run concurrently, and in connection with the latter charge he is to get eight lashes with the cat o' nine tails—four on entering and four within a month, before leaving the institution. Constable Young took him to Barrie on Monday, from whence he will be taken to Toronto.—Creemore Star.

BURNED FINGERS.
There are many ways of having one's fingers burnt. Children burn theirs by touching the ornamental parts of a hot stove, druggists and doctors burn theirs by sniffing ammonia, carbolic acid or vitrol business men burn theirs by dabbling in questionable securities or real estate that's a "good buy," and sometimes housewives have their hands burnt while engaged in the homely duty of pressing their husband's clothes. This happened to a woman on a street, says the Lucknow Sentinel, and the how it was so unexpected and novel as to suggest a timely warning. This lady had passed the hot iron several times over the pocket of a vest, and feeling that there was something in the pocket that shouldn't be there at pressing time, she inserted her fingers and extracted a number of heated matches. No sooner did the air than they burst into flame with a snap that suggested a suffragette's bomb. Zep! the blazing matches were thrown to the floor, but not before they had inflicted burns that stung for hours afterwards, at the same time suggesting that at least on pressing day a wife has a perfect right to go through her husband's pockets.

NEW CONVENIENT TRAIN TO WINNIPEG.
CANADIAN PACIFIC.
The popularity of Canadian Pacific service, and the excellence of the road's equipment has been so greatly appreciated by the travelling public that it has been found necessary to put into service an entirely new Through Standard Express Train between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Commencing Sunday, October 27, the "Gate City Express" will leave Toronto at 2.30 p.m., and will run daily thereafter, arriving Winnipeg at 8.00 a.m. second morning. The train will consist of the highest-class modern equipment: Compartment Library, Observation Car, Standard Sleeping Car, Tourist Sleeping Car, Dining Car, First Class Sleeping Car and Colonist Car. This will be found the most convenient and best train between Toronto and Winnipeg on account of the daylight departure from Toronto at an hour when the Union Station is not badly congested, and also on account of the early hour of arrival at Winnipeg.

The present "Vancouver Express" will continue to leave Toronto at 10.20 p.m. daily and will consist of the same equipment as the "Gate City Express." This train is the best to take for points west of Winnipeg, but for Winnipeg and east, the "Gate City Express" is the right train to travel by.

Full particulars from any Canadian Pacific Agent or write M. G. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

A Big Newspaper Offer

The extension of the rural mail routes has wonderfully increased the number of newspaper readers, and many rural residents who formerly did not take any paper at all now subscribe for both their local weekly paper and a daily newspaper as well.

The approaching session of Dominion Parliament will see the inauguration of the new parcel post system, which will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the farming community, as a telephone message to the local merchant will bring an article by the next mail and will save many trips to town.

The Chronicle has arranged with The Toronto Daily World to club the two publications, and those subscribing now will receive both papers until the 1st of January, 1915, for less than the price of one year's subscription. These two papers will be mailed to you to the year subscription order in now and take advantage of the longer period.

We have also arranged with The World to include The Sunday World, the big five-section, week-end newspaper, printed in colors, and with a very handsomely gotten up illustrated section. This will be clubbed with The Chronicle for $1.75 additional. Thus for $3.25 you will receive The Chronicle, which contains all the local news and happenings, The Toronto Daily World, which has the best produce and live stock market reports of any Canadian newspaper, the United States Government in the United States, and the big week-end newspaper, The Sunday World. The entire three for $5.25.

KILLED BEAR WITH POKER.
Mr. Alex. Tough, who is just now employed on the construction of the C.N.R. bridge near Fitzroy Harbor, in company with Mr. Geo. Mosseau, performed the unique feat of killing a black bear with a poker last Thursday afternoon. The two men were working on the island over near the head, and between them and the mainland was a large tow of logs. Bridge Inspector Steele was slowly walking along the logs proposing to take a few snapshots of the party, when he started the two men on the island by shouting and running over the logs, all unmindful of where he stepped or of the swift-running rapids below. Messrs. Tough and Mosseau watched the fleeting Steele, and looking up the logs they were not only surprised but very much amused to find a bear retreating as quickly in the opposite direction and to this day the question has not been settled as to whether Mr. Steele or the bear received the greater fright or ran the faster. From the opposite shore two men appeared with guns, the first shots from which had the effect of frightening the bear back along the logs, and as it seemed certain that he would leave the island, and try to swim to land, Messrs. Tough and Mosseau set off in an old skiff to meet him and meet him they did. With only a broken paddle it was difficult controlling the boat in the swift current; the bear left the logs and he made straight for the boat in the midst of the current. When the animal was close enough Mosseau lifted a long, heavy poker, the only weapon at hand, and smashed the bear's skull. He went down and then rose. The men grabbed him by the neck, hauled him into the boat, took him ashore and soon had a fine pelt as a reward for their daring and prowess.—Annapolis Chronicle.

A LITTLE KNOWN INDUSTRY.
The pearl stringers themselves call it a "trade." They are not the kind of people to talk about their work. If they see anything in their work beyond the prosaic fact that "stringing" is a good employment it is only in an indirect and somewhat vague appreciation of the delicate attraction of the pearls they handle.

Although not professing to be expert judges, I have never met a pearl stringer whose eye and taste were not trained to a fine perception of the form and color of the beamy, iridescent lustre of the jewel of the shellfish. It would be as impossible for them to mistake an artificial pearl for a real one as it would be for a lapidary to begin to polish a piece of glass under the impression that it was a diamond.

It is often said that the little-known industry of pearl stringing is dying out, but this is not the fact. No machinery is yet invented to supersede the ten clever fingers of the practised stringer. They are busy all day long in their little workrooms, and one of the cleverest girls has work in hand, she was telling me last week, that will employ all her business hours for several months to come. There are very few pearl or coral stringers in London, probably less than a dozen all told.

The work of the pearl stringer is so little known, so quiet and quaint, that it is doubtful if one in a thousand women who stop to admire and covet as they pass show windows ever give a thought to the patient fingers that have threaded the almost invisible knots that link them to their diamond clasps.

The little band of stringers are very simple, but businesslike people in their humble workrooms, devotees of beauty, although they are unconscious of the fact, and true artists in the perfection of the work.

OTTAWA SEPARATE SCHOOL WILL LOSE GRANT.

The stand taken by the Ottawa Separate school board in regard to the bilingual question resulted today in the board being notified by the department of education that owing to the fact that there has been no report from the inspector of schools for the last school year that the separate schools of Ottawa were conducted according to the School Act and regulations, all grants for the fiscal year have been forfeited.

The attention of the board is called in the communication to section 107 of the regulations, which states that the trustees of every school shall be held personally responsible for a full account of any school monies lost to the board as a result of neglect to report to the department.

It is understood that a special meeting of the board will be called to consider this communication. The trouble appears to be over the question of the enforcement of rule 17 relating to the teaching of French.

At a meeting held a short time ago, a resolution was passed by the Ottawa separate school board declining to enforce the instruction contained in this rule. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the Ontario department of education, and the sequel lies in the notification received by the board to-day. Some interesting developments are likely to follow.

REFORM CRIMINALS BY USING THE KNIFE.

Four patients were operated on last week by Dr. E. H. Pratt, of Evanston, Ill., in an effort to eliminate criminal tendencies and moral deficiencies. The operations were performed at the instance of Judge Geo. W. Bridgeman, of the circuit court of St. Joseph, Mich., who has announced that hereafter he will not sentence anyone convicted in his court of moral crimes to penitentiaries or insane asylums, until the knife has had an opportunity to regenerate the mind affected.

For obvious reasons the names of the persons upon whom the operations are performed will be withheld.

Dr. Pratt, in discussing the subject recently with Judge Bridgeman, said that the operation would not destroy any organ or function of the mind or body, but simply would remove abnormal conditions affecting nerve centres. Two of those who went under Dr. Pratt's knife recently at St. Francis hospital at Evanston, are brother and sister, both under 20 years of age.

If Dr. Pratt succeeds in overcoming their moral weakness, the charges pending against them in Judge Bridgeman's court will be dismissed, both are said to be recovering rapidly from the effects of the operations.

Thursday's patients were two men and two children, against whom charges are pending in the Michigan court.
