

GAVE THEN TIME AND MONEY

On Friday night last a number of the members of the Baptist congregation assembled at the home of the pastor, Rev. Mr. McCausland, who recently tendered his resignation, and will move shortly to his new field of labor in Palmerston.

For the past three years Mr. McCausland has been pastor of the church here, and we always understood he was generally popular with the members of the congregation. The announcement of his resignation was somewhat of a surprise to the citizens generally, and whatever the reason may be is only a matter of conjecture.

A couple of years ago, he was married, and since that time a fat little boy has come to enliven the home. Mr. and Mrs. McCausland were of a quiet and retiring disposition. They were not busy-bodies, in any sense of the term; if they were, we never knew of it. As a pulpiteer Mr. McCausland was regarded as being above the average, and the members of the congregation referred with pride to his ability as a preacher.

During the evening the time was spent socially, but the outstanding feature of the program consisted in the accompanying address and presentation to the pastor and his wife. After the address was feelingly read by Mr. John A. Graham, and the presentation made by a couple of ladies of the congregation, a number of short congratulatory addresses were made by some of the visitors, after which Mr. McCausland, in behalf of himself and his wife, spoke feelingly and appreciative words of kindness regarding the people generally, and the members of his own congregation in particular.

A delightful luncheon was served and the evening spent in songs and recitals, and general games. The following is the address:

To Rev. Mr. McCausland,
Dear and Respected Pastor,
It was with feelings of deep regret that we learned a few days ago of your intention to sever your connection with the congregations here and enter another field of labor.

The news came to us as a surprise, but on further thought, and knowing you as we do, we are confident the decision was not the result of an impulse, but of calm and prayerful consideration. Feeling therefore that your action has been prompted by a higher and wiser power, and knowing you are acting wholly under the guidance of the Supreme Being, it would be wrong on our part, if indeed not absolutely wicked, to regret the decision you have come to. We believe in every action in life your first and supreme desire is to be guarded and guided by the infinite wisdom of the living God. With such an exemplar as your ideal you can make no mistake, and we wish you every success.

During the years you have been in and out amongst us we have profited much by your wise counsel. We have always found you a strong advocate of moral and religious reform and ever ready with the courage of your convictions to fight evil in every shape. Your earnestness, as you stood behind the sacred desk, appealed to all who heard your able interpretations of divine truth. To you and your partner in life we extend our best wishes and hope you are only yet in the beginning of a long and useful career.

As a reminder of your three years in Durham and Glenelg Centre, and as a memento of our pleasant relationships, we ask you Mr. McCausland, to accept this purse, and you, Mrs. McCausland, this clock, and hope you may always have sufficient time and money to prosecute the noble calling in which you have decided to devote your lives. May God continue to be your staff and comforter in the wish of your many friends.

Signed on behalf of the churches,
-A. Bell, Mrs. H. Allen, Mrs. S. McCombe, Henry Beaton.

Mr. Andrew Smith returned last week from the west.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Watson returned last week from Toronto, and intend to spend the winter at McWilliams.

THE COMFORT OF IT.

Oh the comfort—the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person—having neither to weigh thoughts nor measure words, but pouring them right out just as they are, chaff and grain together, certain that a faithful hand will take and sift them, keep what is worth keeping, and with a breath of kindness blow the rest away.—Dinah Mulock.

GLENELG FARMERS CLUB.

"In order to be a good and economical feeder one must understand something about the feeds which he is using," said president T. H. Binnie at the meeting of the Glenelg Centre Farmers' Club, on November 4. Taking protein as the most important compound in the food he showed that some foods were far more valuable than others. For example, timothy contains 3 per cent. protein and red clover 7 per cent. Protein is what is used to form the muscles and lean meat of the animal body. Besides being able to give the feed in proportion to what the animal needs in it one can also buy to advantage. Oats contain 47 per cent. starch and it is necessary to buy protein to mix with the starch of the oats for good feeding. With corn at 70 cents per bushel the protein will cost 15 cents per pound; if peas are worth $1 per bushel, the protein is worth 10c. a pound; with oil cake meal at $33 per ton, the protein will be worth 6½ cents per pound, and with cotton seed meal at $36 per ton protein will cost 5 cents per pound. Which then is the cheapest feed? The starch and fat are used for storing in the animal system as fat or for giving heat and energy to the body. A good ration is one portion of protein to five parts of starch matter.

Music and dancing gave pleasure to those present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

THE CHARITABLE WILLIAMS.

At the funeral services of an elderly darkey, of Richmond, Va., the following colloquy was overheard between two aged negroes:

"Dere ain't no use in talkin'," said Mose Barker, "Dick Williams he was de mos' charitablist man dis town eber seen."

"I reckon dat's so," said darkey to whom Mr. Barker imparted this information. And he paused, as if waiting for evidence on this point.

"Yessuh," continued Mr. Barker, "Dick Williams, he always owned a plug hat, an' durin' my time I ain't never heard dat Dick ever refused to lend dat hat to nobody."

FOOLING BABY.

Mrs. Jones—Why are you setting the alarm at 2:30? You surely don't want to get up at that time?
Jones—No; I'd like to go to sleep at that time. When the baby hears that he may think it is time for him to turn in.

An eastbound Grand Trunk Railway freight train ran into an open switch and crashed into a way freight at Baden, due to a brakeman's negligence.

BURNED IN EFFIGY.

A feature of the Grit celebration burning of the Herald-Times scribe in effigy. It is the easiest way to burn, and if the early martyrs could have got themselves burned in this way, we suppose they wouldn't mind having gone up in flames occasionally for the church or any other good cause that needed a bon-fire demonstration. On the very spot on the Hartley House corner where our phantom was burned Thursday, Mr. Truax, a few years previous, had butted in on a Conservative celebration, and mounting a vehicle had deplored in loud stentorian tones the election of an Opposition candidate to Parliament. The shoe was on the other foot now, and although the electors had committed the same error, Mr. Truax was now praising them for what he had before condemned, and was returning thanks for what he had before deplored. As a quick right-about-face movement it was beautiful, and Mr. Truax got away with it like a charm. The peacock plume never looked at its own plumage with less philosophy than did the Liberal candidate with puffed-out shirt front view himself that night. And what few short years ago when applied to Mr. Donnelly, now looked like a very virtuous performance when applied to himself, thus showing how harsh some people can be with others, and how lenient with themselves.—Bruce Herald-Times.

MR. ALEX. MCCARTER

WALKERTON ONT., MAY 9th 1911.
"I have been in Walkerton in business for a good many years and many of my townsmen know that my health, for long periods was precarious. My trouble was extreme Nervousness, brought on by Indigestion and Dyspepsia, from which I suffered in the most severe form. It was so bad that I could not sleep before about four in the morning. I noticed one of your published testimonials of how someone had used 'Fruit-a-tives' for similar trouble and asked Mr. Hunter, my druggist, his opinion on the matter and he advised their use. I immediately procured several boxes and I am pleased to say that I now enjoy splendid health and could not possibly feel better. I can eat with every degree of satisfaction and sleep without an effort. I strongly advise anyone suffering from like complaints, to commence using 'Fruit-a-tives'. ALEX. MCCARTER.
