THE PENALTY FOR MURDER.

Twelve years ago a young tramp in Cleveland, Ohio, was found guilty of a most revolting crime. He had drifted from the east, a worthless derelict. An old and crippled watchman took pity on the tramp and repeatedly befriended him, sharing his meagre lunches with him, and giving him shelter.

In return for this kindness the youth deliberately planned the murder of his benefactor. He waited till pay day, and then beat the old man to death with a couple of rings, stole his money and fled. He was apprehended and charged with murder in the first degree.

The verdict of the jury was an utterly unjustifiable compromise—murder in the second degree. If the defendant was guilty of any crime it was first degree murder; but the jury could not be brought to send him to death. The death penalty, as established by Ohio law, was responsible for a verdict which was wholly at variance with the facts. And the other day, after having served a dozen years in the penitentiary, paroled by order of the Board of Pardons.

The old theories of vindictiveness in dealing with criminals are becoming less and less popular. The man in question had been a model prisoner. This, in the opinion of the pardon board, has counter-balanced the brutality of his crime. The board has acted on the theory that the prisoner is punished for his own benefit and reformation, and not for the payment of his debt to society or for the making of a warning or an example.

Had there been no death penalty in Ohio this man would have been found guilty of murder in the first degree. And had he been thus convicted he would not now be at the end of his term of punishment. Here is a case which merits consideration by those who believe that opposition to capital punishment is advocated chiefly by men and women who are mawkishly tender hearted toward murderers.—St. Thomas Times.

WHY THE YOUTH'S COMPANION SHOULD BE IN EVERY FAMILY.

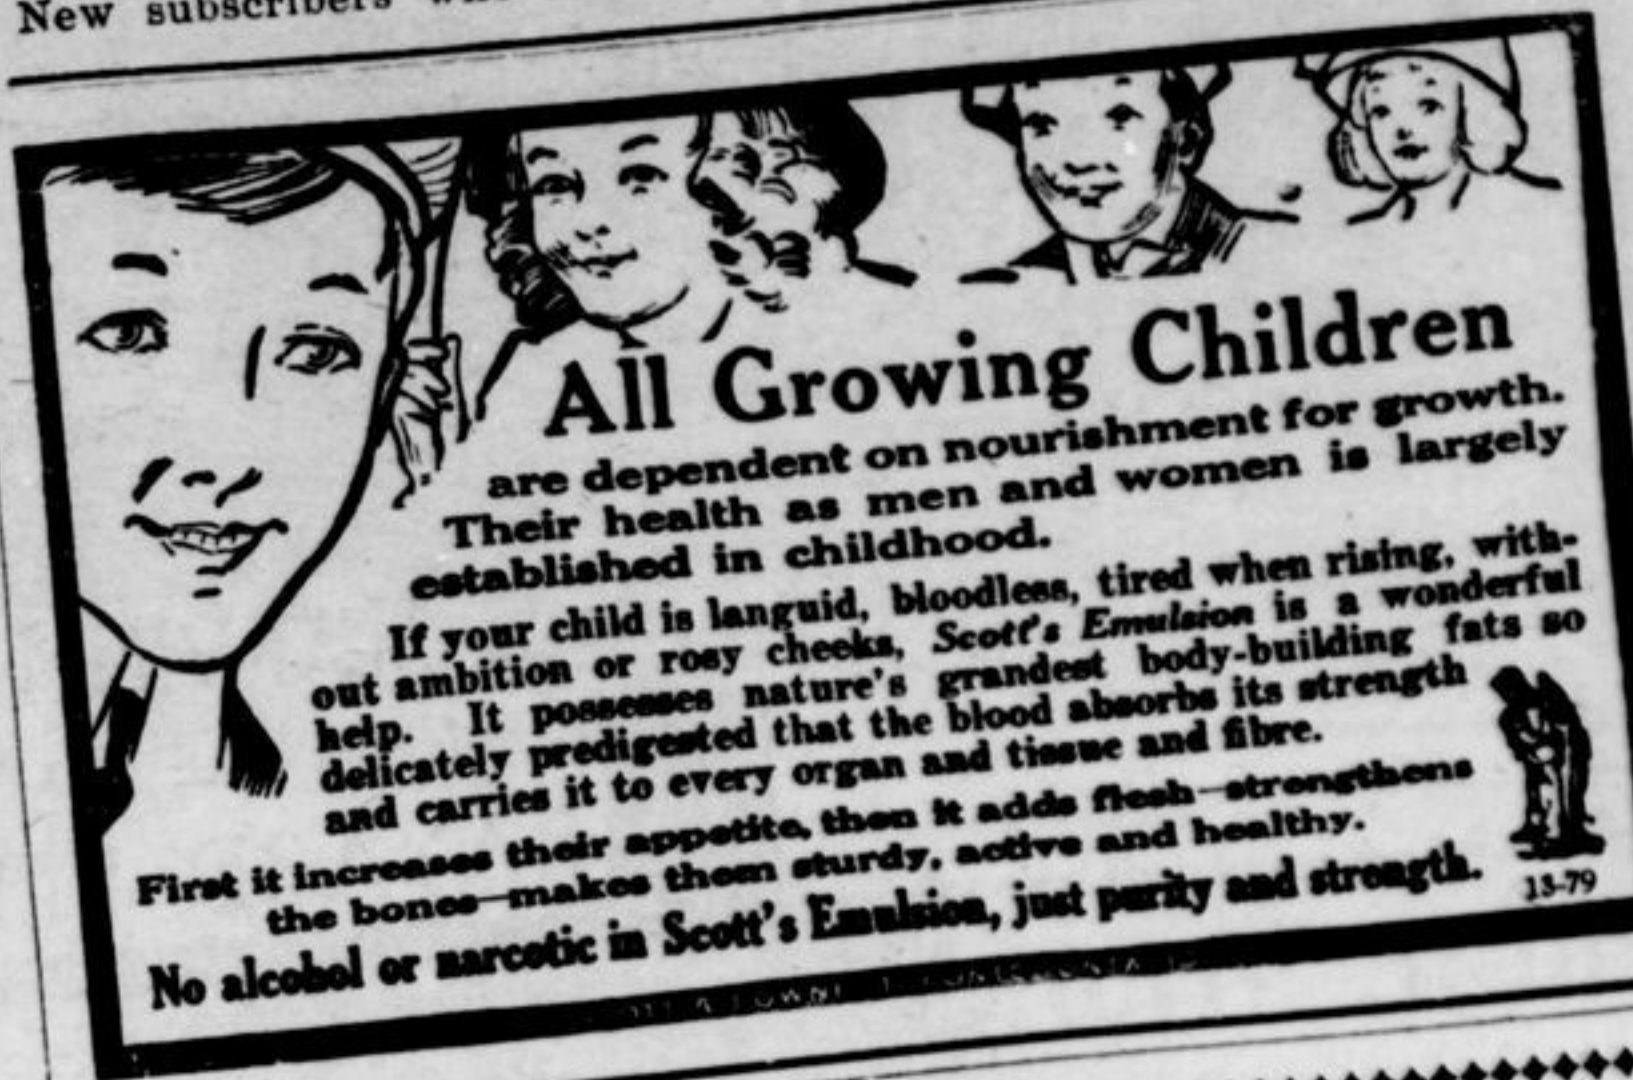

Because it is unusual, and no other source can supply the same kind of reading. The fact and fiction are novel, and every line is fit to read aloud. A year of the Youth's Companion as it is to-day is inexhaustible entertainment and benefit to the family. In quantity, it provides more than any other American monthly periodical—and is the more appreciated because it comes fifty-two times a year instead of twelve. The Companion as it is to-day enlarged, and broadened in scope, including the Family Page, the Boys' Page, and the Girls' Page departments, with eight splendid serials and 250 shorter stories, its accurate and impartial editorials, Science and Current Events, makes a volume of matter that touches every genuine interest of the family.

So carefully is it edited, so varied is its contents, that a family would be well supplied with entertaining fiction, up-to-date information and wholesome fun, if no other periodical entered the home. If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is to-day, let us send you sample copies containing chapters from Frank Lillie Pollock's great Canadian serial, "The Timber Treasure," and the Announcement for 1914.

For the fifty-two issues of 1914 will receive free the remaining issues of 1913, and a copy of The Companion Practical Home Calendar in addition.

New subscribers who send $2.25

BEANS WILL BE SCARCE. Muirkirk, Oct. 30.—Bean threshing is well under way, and the yield is very poor. It is now quite evident that the bean crop of Kent county will be the smallest for many years.

All Growing Children
are dependent on nourishment for growth. Their health as men and women is largely established in childhood. If your child is languid, bloodless, tired when rising, without ambition or rosy cheeks, Scott's Emulsion is a wonderful help. It possesses nature's grandest body-building fats so delicately predigested that the blood absorbs its strength and carries it to every organ and tissue and fibre. First it increases their appetite, then it adds flesh—strengthens the bones—makes them sturdy, active and healthy. No alcohol or narcotic in Scott's Emulsion, just purity and strength.
