Turkey's Plight Desperate

Figuratively Turkey has long been known as the Sick Man of Europe, and the expulsion of the Turk from Constantinople was regarded as only a question of time. In Asia Minor the Porte would still have a seat of empire and an undeveloped territory of wonderful productiveness. Bruse was the capital of the Ottoman Empire in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, and it would serve that purpose again in the twentieth century. With a reform government Turkey might become prosperous if never again a great power. But in little more than a year after her entrance into the great war as an ally of the Teutonic nations Turkey in Asia is being overrun by the victorious armies of an implacable enemy under the command of the Grand Duke Nicholas, who was always an able organizer and is now winning new laurels as a strategist. The war has never been popular with the Turkish people. Taxation was grinding them in the dust when they found themselves thrust into a third struggle by the Enver Pasha and Talaat Bey, leaders of the Young Turk party. Defeat would cost them their territory in Europe, while victory would make Turkey a vassal of Germany. The army which has sustained enormous losses while the harvests were neglected, has been driven into battle under the scourge of German discipline. So long as the Teutonic allies were carrying everything before them on the eastern front the Turks submitted, but with ill grace, to their military masters. There was glory in Gallipoli, in spite of ugly losses. When, however, Erzerum fell, and the Russians, with inexhaustible resources of men and munitions, began their march south and west to conquer Kurdistan and Mesopotamia, the Turks realized that they could not expel the enemy themselves nor count upon any sacrifice on the part of Germany to save them. The Mesopotamia campaign was lost, and no more was heard of the expedition to drive the British from Egypt. If the advance of the Russians was not stopped, Aleppo and even Damascus would ultimately be in danger. The Turks lost their interest in the Balkan campaign and thought only of saving the empire in Asia.

It is now almost a year since Enver Pasha, the commander in chief of the Turkish army, declared in an interview at Constantinople that Turkey entered the war not to help Germany but to save the national territory. "We mobilized," said Enver Pasha, "because there was no way out." He was then popular with the army this man of many adventures and many lives. But to-day he is being held responsible, not only for the disasters in Armenia, but for involving Turkey in the war. His popularity is ebbing fast. Another attack on his life has been made. He was always suspected of being a tool of Germany. The charge is believed true. Talaat Bey as Minister of War shares the odium.

There is naturally talk of overtures of peace to Russia, and there are mutterings of revolution. Emigration here may be in the reports, but with every day of the Russian advance Turkey's usefulness as an ally declines and her condition becomes more desperate. If starvation follows in the wake of military reverses Turkey will soon cease to be a factor in the war.—The New York Sun.

REGISTER MALES UP TO SIXTY-FIVE A delegation of the leading citizens of the Province of Ontario will shortly wait on Premier Hearnst and ask that an act be passed providing for a complete registration of all persons in the province, male and female, between the ages of 15 and 65, excepting those enrolled in the expeditionary forces.

The object of the registration is to find the resources of the province in men fit for military or other service and its entire resources in workers.

There is another end in view, and that is that this province may not be drained of its workers after it has completed its quota of the 500,000 men Canada is contributing for war services abroad. Ontario's share yet to be raised of this total is 87,000.

The act, which the deputation will ask to have submitted provides that the provincial secretary shall be the central registration authority, and the councils of all cities, towns, townships and villages shall be local registration authorities for their respective areas or may delegate this power. The returns are to be compiled and such information as the central registration authorities require furnished to the central office.

St. Patrick's Day was celebrated by the Methodist Ladies' Aid with their annual Irish supper and an entertainment in the church in the evening. The evening was extremely cold, which prevented some attending, but there was a good crowd and all enjoyed the splendid supper, after which a short, but interesting program was rendered, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Dudgeon, presiding. Two trivets were given by Messrs. Murray, Holland and Sullivan, in both of which they were recalled. Misses Zilla Trimble and Muriel Henderson sang a pleasing duet, and Miss Irene Wilson gave two well-rendered solos. Miss Lowdes gave a reading with good effect and was recalled for another. Master Leonard Tuskin, who sang here for the first time, and has a sweet voice with remarkable compass, rendered Killarney in a very pleasing manner. Nine of the public school boys in scarlet tunics were very taking in two patriotic numbers. The National Anthem closed the program, during which Mrs. H. S. White was accompanist. The proceeds were $42.

About twenty-five of the young soldiers of this village and vicinity were down from Owen Sound over the week-end and on Sunday evening attended in a body a recruiting meeting in the Methodist church, which was taxed to its utmost to accommodate the crowd. The pastor presided, and called on Rev. Mr. Madden of Eugenia to assist in the devotional exercises. Special music was rendered, the solo parts being taken by Mr. Holland and Master Tus-

CORNER CONCERNS.

Miss Agnes Allan has become a resident of Nordanby for a time. Mr. Andy Lindsay will shortly take possession of the farm recently purchased from Mr. Jim. Lawrence, and we extend to him and his better half a hearty welcome to our neighborhood.

Mr. Wm. Jacques is the first farmer in this neighborhood to purchase a devil wagon, having bought a Ford car from Smith Bros. Others are seriously thinking of buying. Farmers who overcome their prejudice against these pesky things as soon as they have the means.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dodson will leave for the west in a few days. They have the best wishes of all in this part for a prosperous future. In fact, the neighbors are going to call on them this Tuesday evening to show their goodwill.

Mr. and Mrs. John McNally of Traverston visited with the latter's brother, Mr. Joe Lennox, on Saturday. Mrs. Arthur McNally of Traverston is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Lee, and attended St. Paul's church on Sunday.

There is a great deal of complaint this winter about a few rods of road on the side line leading to Varnes, whereby the cutting of some bushes by the farmer on the adjoining farm, the snow now drifts until it is impassable during a storm. If those interested would petition the council to put on a snow fence we feel sure they would do so and stop further trouble.

Mr. Wm. Morrison from the vicinity of Mt. Forest was out the way with his wood-sawing outfit last week. Recent storms have caused a lot of snow's overlying around the piles.

Born.—On Sunday March 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lawrence a daughter.

We trust that the women getting up their autograph quilt will not miss the name of any young volunteer from this part of the country although they are absent. The stay-at-homes will be willing to act as a prize Samuel Hills, who enlisted last week at St. Mary's, is of this part. Your Blith's Company men said that he wished some of his young men would get married, just to show their courage. Young men don't have to get married to show their courage. They can go to the war, and no one will doubt it.

Mrs. John Wells, now of Green-side, spent a few days a week ago with old friends and neighbors at the lower corners.

Mrs. Keith of Chesley, accompanied by her son and daughter, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. David Hamilton.

Our mail courier was unable to get over his route for a couple of days during the storm, but no one in fact a few days without mail only led us back to four years ago before free delivery started, and before we had a boon it is.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Barbour attended last Wednesday. The bride lived her girlhood days in this part and has the best wishes of everybody here for a happy future.

Our school concert fell on a rather bad night so far as roads were concerned which prevented a great many from being present. But the program was good and as it was principally given by the school reflected much credit on the pupils and teacher Mr. Percy Ross. The dialogue by the grown-ups was also good in its rendering and moral. Miss Rogers in a couple of solos delighted the audience very much. The tea and eatables were good and much appreciated on such a cold night. The program was mostly of a patriotic nature and some of the boys in khaki were present. After the expenses were paid $10 remained to be devoted to patriotic purposes. Not so bad when some of the nearby stayed at home believing it would be called off.

Inspector Wm. Allan acted as chairman and good order prevailed.

FLESHERTON. St. Patrick's Day was celebrated by the Methodist Ladies' Aid with their annual Irish supper and an entertainment in the church in the evening. The evening was extremely cold, which prevented some attending, but there was a good crowd and all enjoyed the splendid supper, after which a short, but interesting program was rendered, the pastor, Rev. The proceeds were $42. About twenty-five of the young soldiers of this village and vicinity were down from Owen Sound over the week-end and on Sunday evening attended in a body a recruiting meeting in the Methodist church, which was taxed to its utmost to accommodate the crowd. The pastor presided, and called on Rev. Mr. Madden of Eugenia to assist in the devotional exercises. Special music was rendered, the solo parts being taken by Mr. Holland and Master Tuskin. Earnest and impressive addresses were given by Lieut. Rev. Spencer and Lance-corporal Rev. Proudfoot, both gifted and interesting speakers. The statement was made that of the nearly 1,000 men now enlisted in the Grey Battalion, 80 per cent. had come from the towns and villages in the county and an appeal was now being made specially to the young men of the townships. Flesherton had responded nobly to the call. The talk by some that the men now enlisting would never see France or the firing line was refuted by Lieut. Spencer, who said a year ago he thought the war would soon end, but now he could not tell when it would end. He believed the Grey Battalion would yet be in the trenches and have the privilege of doing its bit and sharing in the victory. Victory, he believed would come if there was the response of men, men, and more men, as now called for and needed at the front. Rev. Proudfoot was masterful and touching in his appeal. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which Mr. R. Wilcock, who has a brother at the front, stepped forward and enlisted, and we understand others are likely to follow. The officers were pleased with their reception here.

Dr. J. P. Ottewill was in the city a few days ago on a short visit with his son.

We were pleased to receive a call on Saturday from Mrs. Wyville, who has just recovered from gripe and appendicitis.

Mr. W. J. Guy of Kenora, who has been visiting his parents at Maxwell, gave us a pleasant call on Friday.

Nurse Osborne left on Monday to take charge of a case at Markdale, and Nurse Jamieson has a patient near that village.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wilson spent the week-end with friends in Durham.

Rev. Mr. Spencer preached an excellent sermon at the Sunday morning service in the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Trollope, of Toronto, now engaged in R. J. Spence's office, assisted in the service.

Mr. Wesley Carson of the Meaford road had a successful sale last week of his farm stock, etc. Mr. Carson, we learn, is going to move to Niagara district to take a position on a fruit farm.

A horse being driven from the Methodist church shed on Sunday night became very fractious on the street and using its kicking powers freely, did considerable damage to the cutter before being subdued. The occupants of the cutter escaped without injury.

A hot chimney blaze took place at Mr. Armstrong's residence while all were at church on Sunday evening, but no damage was done. The report of the fire gave rise to the startling rumor that a child had died suddenly in another house, but this was pleasingly found untrue.

Mr. T. A. Blakely, D.D.G.M., left on Monday to spend this week officially with the Masonic lodge at Tottenham, Beeton, Cookstown, Alliston and Creemore.

Messrs. Thos. Clayton, C. J. Bellamy and J. S. McMillan, officers in Prince Arthur lodge, attended the Masonic Lodge of Instruction at Owen Sound last week, which was conducted by Rt. Wor. Bro. Blakely.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Porteous have moved to their residence recently purchased from Mr. R. H. Wright.

Mrs. Walker has been in Owen Sound for some days, visiting her father, Mr. Thos. Taylor, who is ill.

Premier Bowser, of B. C. has agreed to a referendum on prohibition.
