DURHAM, APRIL 6, 1916.

THE GRAFT INVESTIGATION

The graft charges in connection with the fuse contracts, with which the name of Sir Sam Hughes has been associated, are to be investigated by a Commission consisting of Sir William Meredith and Hon. Lyman Duif. Sir Sam, who was in -England when the charges were launched, was cabled for at once and will be back in the Capital as soon as he can get there. He wired his intention to return first boat, and must now be nearing his destination. Mr. F B. Carvell, M. P, of New Brunswick, threw the first bomb into the Conservative ranks and was followed up later by Mr. Kvte, whose specific charges have led to the enquiry. The appointment of the Commission is not satisfactory to the Liberals, who wished the investigation by a committee of the House. Had the latter been adopted, they would still be dissatisfied, and want the charges investigated by a Commission.

There can be little doubt of errors of some sort having been committed in a forced undertaking of such magnitude, but if Sir Sam or any of his party friends are guilty of wilful wrongs, they deserve to be punished, and they him from filling his pulpit the past will be. March came in like a lamb, and went out the same so decisively, as should forever knock that old time-worn fad into the forgotten.

The fine, mild spring-like weather of the past few days has converted into water the huge banks of snow, and is hurrying it down the streams. The fall wheat has been stripped of its blanket, which has protected it nicely the past couple of months, and for the most part it looks fairly promising. A considerable acreage of fall hat. A Name to Remember

Here is a name--"Penslar"-that will mean a great deal to every man, woman and child in this town when they learn what it stands for.

It is our duty and pleasure to tell you. There is a great firm of manufacturing chemists in Walkerville, The Peninsular Chemical Company, whose name on the label of a remedy is the best possible guaranty of its purity and medicinal worth. They prepare in their splendid laboratories over 100 remedies for household use.

They do not believe in secret medicines. They think you have a right to know what you are taking. And you have, So they put the full formula on every label-the name and the exact quantity of every ingredient-all in plain English so you can judge for yourself.

If they were not sure that each of these was the best possible prescription-if they were not sure that their skill in compounding these remedies was unsurpassed, they could not afford to do this.

We like to handle drugs of quality, that is the way we get our trade. That is why we obtained the agency for these splendid remedies known as
