GRADING UP A HERD MEANS GREAT CARE

Constant Culling and Discarding—Each Individual Must be Carefully Selected

A herd of full-blooded registered dairy cows is always a desirable possession, but very few farmers are financially able to own the same.

The work of building up a herd from common stock requires much careful study and observation. The owner must be able to select a good cow by her general appearance.

Don't Vary Programme The selection of a sire for use in the building up of a herd is of the utmost importance, and must not be done without careful consideration of the subject from the various standpoints.

The individuality of the sire should be considered with care. Not only should he be as nearly perfect a specimen of his breed as possible, but he should possess all of the indications of stamina and bodily vigor.

Develop Rapidly If the system planned out is carefully adhered to, the development of the herd should prove rapid. Each successive generation will show improvement, although this will be much less marked in later years when the herd has reached a point much nearer to perfection.

REPUTATION MEANS MUCH

Every cream producer should take pride in delivering cream of the proper richness, that is smooth and uniform in body, sweet or only slightly sour, and that has a good clean taste.

MUNICIPAL SANITATION

Proper Facilities For Destruction of Refuse Should be Provided

A garbage "dump" is a disgrace to any city or town. Of what advantage is it to remove the numerous private rubbish heaps to build a large communal rubbish heap?

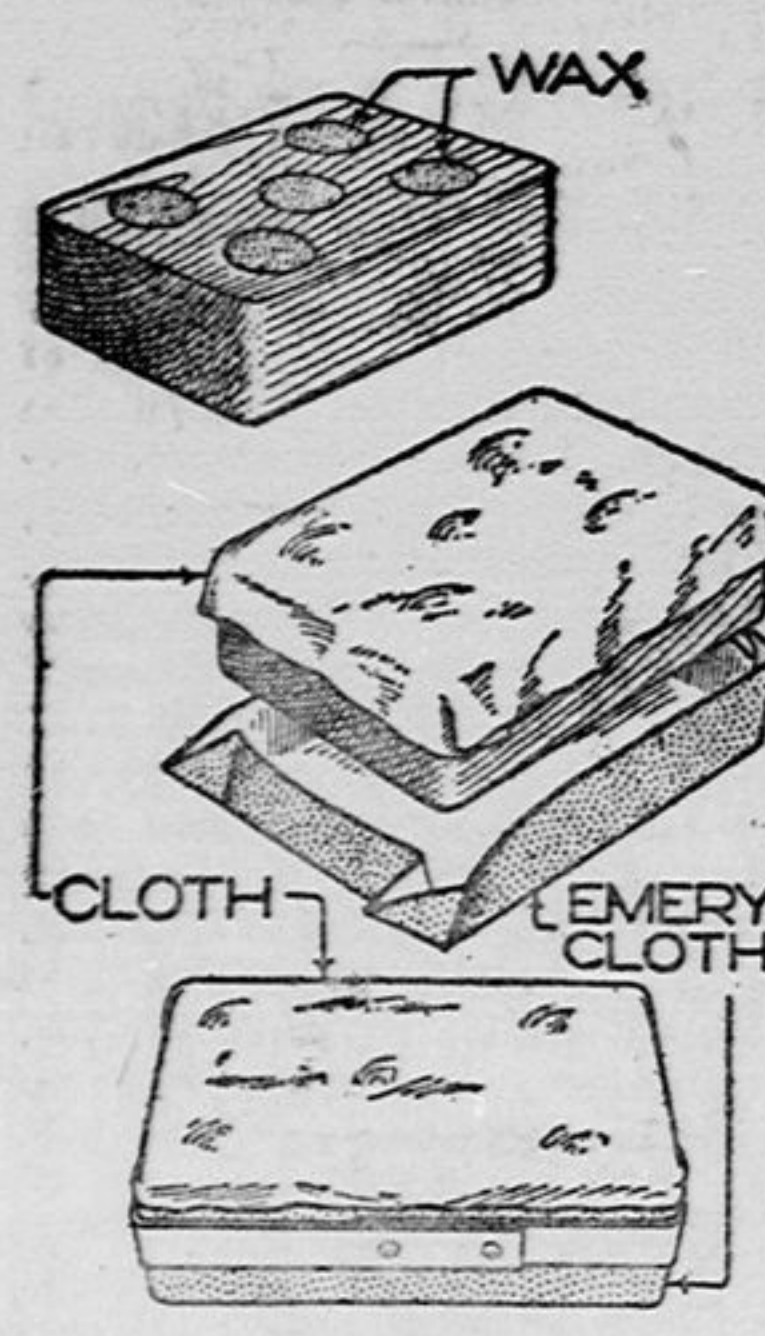

Perennial Borders

The first consideration, when planning the perennial border, is a suitable background. This may be trees, shrubs, vines, or even the taller growing herbaceous perennials.

To get along without hurrying, begin sooner.

When a boy is permitted to go wrong the nation loses a good citizen.

FLATIRON POLISHER

Housewives, and others who appreciate the need for a smooth surface on a flatiron will find the polisher shown in the sketch a convenient aid in keeping their irons in proper shape.

DELIGHTFUL SALAD PLANT

Cress in Several Varieties is Easily Grown

Any one unacquainted with cress has a pleasant surprise due him, if he will try it out in the garden next season, or plant some in pots in the house for winter use.

COSTLY FISH CULTURE

Canada Restores Natural Resource Through Expensive Hatcheries

Reference is frequently made to the extent, variety and value of Canada's fisheries, but it is rarely pointed out that fishing grounds are a very readily exhaustible form of natural resource.

Wash in Shady Place

When exposed to the direct rays of the sun, the motor car never should be washed. It should be moved into a shady place if the washing is done out of doors.

Nicotine For Roses

For aphid (green lice) on roses, spray with a nicotine solution. A perfectly good solution may be made by pouring two quarts of boiling water over a pound of tobacco stems.

Pull Those Stumps

In looking over the farm, in search of new crops, the stump field stands out as the major offender. Stumps are yielding to plow points and when a lot of them are together in a field they get the idea that they are safe from that field and put up a mighty stiff fight against any efforts to dislodge them.

When stewing apples add a few chopped dates; they are a great improvement.

Root polish which has become dry can be successfully softened with a few drops of turpentine.
