DURHAM, SEPTEMBER 28, 1916.

THE NEED OF MORE MEN

The great war is going our way now, and victory will be ours in the end. We mustn't be too sanguine, however, as the enemy is strong, and much in men, money and munitions will yet be needed to bring them to their knees.

PROTECTION AGAINST FIRE

A very timely article on Fire Prevention in Schools, appears in the September issue of Conservation, a monthly bulletin published by the Commission of Conservation, Ottawa.

It strongly advises fire drill in schools, a practice which should be undertaken without delay. As a need for such precaution, the article refers to two fires which occurred in an eastern city within ten days of the school opening.

The practice of storing in attics and basements, paper and similar articles of a combustible nature, is highly disapproved, as such accumulations create serious fire danger from spontaneous combustion.

For the care of waste paper, metal baskets should be provided, and the contents burned as soon as the baskets are full, the burning to be done in a safe place, away from frame outbuildings or fence.

It is also advisable to examine carefully the heating apparatus, be it a furnace or stove, and have it put in a safe condition. Ashes should be kept in metal containers and should never be placed near frame buildings.

The runner lying down is under cover, yet is feeding ammunition into the machine gun. The Serbs have just been victorious over the enemy.

THE FAMOUS VICTORY

It was a summer evening. Old Bethmann's beer was done, and he before the sandy shore was sitting in the sun.

"Twas where the German Ocean rears Its crest of snowy foam. We met and beat the British fleet And then retreated home.

"When things were looking very blue, A shoreward course we shaped; We lost about a score of ships, But all the rest escaped.

"A world of famous pity filled Our noble Admiral's mind And so he broke the action off And left the foe behind.

"In our communique we made No indiscreet remark, For we had cautiously resolved To keep our losses dark.

"And after that, the beaten foe Bloccaded all our ports And ran us short of meat and bread.

"Such things as this must always be After a famous victory."

"But why did we allow them to?" The artless Fritz enquired.

"Because they had so strong a fleet They did as they desired.

"But Grandpapa," said little Fritz, "Why did not Prussia rule the sea As Britain once had done?"

"Oh, shut your silly mouth!" said he "It was a famous victory."

DARKIES' CORNERS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday, September 20, at the home of Mrs. Root, Bell, Glenelg, when her second daughter, Blanche, was united in wedlock to Mr. George Stewart, Bunesan, by the bride's pastor, Rev. S. M. Whaley.

The wedding march, played by Miss Nancy Lawrence, the groom took his place under an arch of evergreens, followed immediately by the bride, leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Allan Bell, who most graciously gave her away.

The bride was becomingly gowned in ivory duchess satin trimmed with shadow lace and ribbon and carried a bouquet of carnations and maidenhair ferns.

The bride received many costly and useful presents, among them being a cheque for the handsome sum of two hundred dollars. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold necklace and to the organist a gold brooch set with pearls.

The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge with blue velvet hat trimmed with white ostrich plume. The young couple will take up housekeeping on the groom's farm at Bunesan.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bogle spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Jacques.

Mr. and Mrs. McQueen of Stayner are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Neil McCannel.

TAKING IT LITERALLY.

"Did the doctor give you much encouragement?" asked Mrs. Dumson.

"Yes, indeed," answered Mr. Dumson "He said I would be able to whip my weight in wild cats before long."

Capt. Wolfe on Salonica Front

A letter from Cecil Wolfe to his parents, dated on the 29th of August from Lance-Corp. J.L. Stedman, Greece and Bulgaria, was received here Monday, the time in transit being 26 days. He writes as follows:

"We have moved, and are now in action against the Bulgars. We had a long, tiresome trek, taking four days to get here, but I am glad we are in the fun at last. Our guns have been ripping away all morning. I rode around the gun positions yesterday and had a good look at the Bulgars on the opposite hill. They come out in full view, but they seem sick of it, as deserters are coming into the camp all the time.

"I saw the shells burst, and it was some sight to see a whole house rise up and fall flat. The weight of a shell from 14-inch guns is one ton of metal. But the striking force is about 500 times that. So you see 500 tons hitting must do some damage. I am going to ride up to the gun positions to-night after dark and see what has happened. The refugees keep coming back, and all the villages around here are practically deserted. I was given command of 14 mounted A.V.C. men before coming up here, and it is now my duty to collect sick and wounded animals and put them on the boat, to go around to hospitals at Salonica. This is extra work to my work with the Brigade and keeps me very busy, but also gives me a chance to ride over a lot more country and see more. We have lovely sea bathing here, and I have a bath morning and night. I suppose I have seen the last of my friends in Salonica for some time, as I won't be able to ride down now, but since Roumania has come in, it may not be long until the war in the Balkans is over."

Pte. Banks is Recovering

Pte. Geo. E. Banks wrote Mr. A. H. Jackson on the 14th inst from Shoreham-by-the-Sea. He had just returned from an eight-days' leave to Scotland at Cowdenheath, where the coal mines are, and where the heather grows. He is recovering nicely from his wounds and expects to return to France shortly. He called to see James Farquharson at the King George hospital, but was too late, as he had moved to Bramley Convalescent Home a day or two previously.

L.-Corp. Stedman in Hospital

On Tuesday we received a let-gust on the battle front between man, who is in the Northumberland War Hospital, where he is being treated for an injury to his right knee. His letter was dated the 14th of September, and stated he had been in bed since the 28th of August. He does not know whether or not he will be able to rejoin his battalion. Two months ago he didn't think the war would last another winter, but he is inclined to change his mind now. "Talk about hard work," he says, "it is different from standing at a case all day, but that's what we're here for." It seems strange to him to go to bed and sleep without being pushed out by a German high explosive. His letter was written from Ward 1, Northumberland War Hospital, Gosforth, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

MR. MARRIOTT, 78 Lees Ave., Ottawa, Ont., August 9th, 1915.

Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 31 years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain."
