HEALTH DEPENDS ON WHAT YOU WON'T DO

Problem of the Many Men Who Drop Out After 40 Years of Age is Increasing

THE DURHAM CHRONICLE.

Workers generally do not pay much attention to their health until they find it is impaired. They do not pay enough attention to prevention. Dr. Henry B. Favill, in an address before a Chamber of Commerce in a large western city said: "Anyone of you men has a hundred friends in society that you are moving along with side by side, doing your work associating back and forth, and so far as you know all of them are well. Along somewhere between 20 and 30 some of those hundred will drop out There will be others dropping out between 30 and '0 and between 40 and 50 and between 50 and 60 and by the time you have got along to 60 years of age you will find that the men who are left in that original group of 100, who are men of strength and capable In certain districts a homeare very few.

Ammonia is a gaseous compound-alkaline like potassa, and is often termed spirits of hartshorn. If charcoal has been properly treated it would be next to impossible for it to contain enough ammonia to injure animal life. Any impurities charcoal might contain would be more likely absorbed through atmospheric conditions. There need be no hesitancy in using any charcoal which is clean and free from dust.

Neighbors Make Best Profitable Buyers of Orchard Products

In many parts of the country the small home orchard has disappeared, or never existed, and farmer neighbors must buy fruit for the family of the professional fruit grower. Those who have home orchards should use the telephone or postcards to tell the neighbors where good fruit may be considerable fruit is grown in a commercial way a great deal of it may be sold to farmers and town folk who will come to the orchards and haul it away. This orchard trade is the most profitable of all. The grower needs no package, has no grading and very little sorting to do, no packing, hauling, storage, or freight expenses

This latter sort of trade can well afford to pay as much for orchard "Hush!" said the woman. Brood's run, soft rots out, as the buyer can for the first two grades. The packer must maintain grading machinery, tables, packages, the expenses of picking, packing, hauling, freight, storage and handling. He cannot afford to pay much for orchards where he can only pack from one to a few cars. Growers of fruit in a small or a big way should get the habit of selling as much as possible to their neighbors.

SCOTLAND'S RARE FIND

Chieftain's Home, Antidating Kelts, Unearthed on Tiree Island

A wonderful subterranean home, thought to have been the home of a Pict chieftain, was discovered by a farmer named John Macintyre, in the Island of Tiree, Scotland. The structure octagonal in shape is reached by a passage four feet wide and five feet high. The crofter groped his way along about eighty feet of this passage and was struck with the fact that though the roof and the walls were built without mortar they were very obtained. Even in localities where strongly put together and many of the stones were of remarkable size. Antiquarians assign it to the period previous to the arrival of the Celts in the Western Isles of Scotland.
