He Saved Time.
An English weaver who had spent two or three years in America was paying a visit to the old mill to see some of his former workmates.
One of them said to him: "I hear it's all hustle and bustle in America. In fact, you aren't time to eat."
"Hustle and bustle," said the visitor. "Why, when I left here I spelt my name 'Mirrill,' but now I spell it 'Merrell!'"
"How's that?" asked his friend.
"Because," replied the Americanized one. "I haven't time to dot the 'i's'—Exchange.

Curious Old Clock.
In the tower of the town house of Heidelberg was an old clock so constructed that when the hours struck the figure of an old man pulled off his hat, a cock crowed and clapped his wings and soldiers fought with one another. But this curious piece of workmanship, with the castle and town was burned by the French in 1633.

It Won't Harm the Pigs.

ANSWERS TO GERMAN PROPOSAL OF PEACE

Duma Rejects Idea Flatly—Dangers of Premature Truce—Bonar Law For Britain

"Something has happened of which I think it necessary that I should say a word," said Bonar Law in the Commons last week. "Naturally the papers are full of the peace proposals from Berlin. In moving the last vote of credit the late Premier in a peroration which moved the House and the nation used these words: 'They (the allies) require that there should be adequate reparation for the past and adequate security for the future.' That is still the policy, still the determination of his Majesty's Govern- ment."

Refuse to Negotiate
The Duma unanimously passed a resolution last week against the acceptance of the German peace proposals after a spirited speech by the Minister of Foreign Affairs. The text of the resolution follows: "The Duma, having heard the statement by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, unanimously favors a categorical refusal by the allied Governments to enter, under present conditions, into any peace negotiations whatever.

Dangerous and Insincere
"It considers that the German proposals are nothing more than fresh proof of the weakness of the enemy and a hypocritical act from which the enemy expects no real success, but by which it seeks to throw upon others the responsibility for the war and for what happens during it and to exculpate itself before public opinion in Germany. The Duma considers that a premature peace would not only be a brief period of calm, but would involve the danger of another bloody and a renewal of the deplorable sacrifice by the people."

CANADA'S MUNITIONING

Chairman Flavelle Gives Amazing Totals and a Denunciation

"Is it not business as usual and profits larger than usual?" asked Mr. J. W. Flavelle, chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board, to a crowded audience in the Chateau Laurier on Saturday before the Ottawa Canadian Club. "Am I stating it too strongly if I say we are almost drunk with prosperity? Is there evidence in this country of national sorrow and concern? The total percentage of shells produced in Canadian relation to all the shells used at the British front is a percentage so large that I would amaze some of you if I were at liberty to express the figures."

Mr. Flavelle said that the failure on the part of a manufacturer to deliver shells was a thing so grave that he ought not to be able to sleep at night until he had made every arrangement he knew how. In the head office at Ottawa there were 600 men and women, and scattered over the Dominion were 4,000 inspectors. The amount of money which the Board would expend was over 2½ times greater than all the expenditure in a normal year by the Dominion Government. Orders had been placed in every province in Canada, with the exception of Prince Edward Island. There were 600 odd establishments working for the Board, and 200 to 250 to give them their raw product.

TO MAKE CANADA "DRY"

Dominion Prohibition Committee Organized at Ottawa Conference

An organization to be known as the Dominion Prohibition Committee was the outcome of the conference of temperance leaders from every Province in Canada, held at the Chateau Laurier last week. The committee's object will be the aggressive prosecution of a campaign for a dry Canada. Mr. Justice E. Lafontaine was chosen President of an Executive of twenty-four members; Charles E. Steele of Port Colborne, Ont., was elected Treasurer, and John H. Roberts of Montreal Secretary, pro tem.

Turner's Strong Stand

Protects Canadian Soldiers From Extortion in England

Canadian officers and men, who are generally considered good subjects for high prices by proprietors in England, will probably find some relief in the orders issued last week by Gen. Turner intended to check unnecessary expense and extravagance. Limits fixed for the cost of meals are: Luncheon, 87 cents; dinner, $1.37; supper, 87 cents, all excluding liquors. Any proprietor charging more is liable to have his place closed. Officers are forbidden to dance in any public place or club.

ART OF BEING ALONE.

Try Taking to the Woods and Being Natural For Awhile.

The art of being alone is worth cultivating. Unless you have really tried it you have no idea how unusual and refreshing it is. City life and even modern country life are not conducive to its practice. It is very different from being lonesome and quite another matter from being ill. It is found at its full flower only in the woods, and its best development requires some adjustment and practice.

The first experience is apt to leave one somewhat baffled if not frightened. We live so much with other men and with the evidences of their activity that we hardly know how much is ourselves and how much some one else. In the woods—and it need not be the remote wilderness—we can divest ourselves of all that is not really a part of us. We can learn how small—or perhaps how large—we are. We can soak up impressions with time to taste them and consider them. We can learn the true value of wind and clouds and sun and shade. If we feel like it we can talk out loud to ourselves, and there will be no one to think us crazy. We can sing and no one will tell us we are off the tune.

In short, we can be natural for once in our lives—free from the warping effect of what other people think. That is surely an experience worth while.—Outing.

Painfully Explicit.

The proprietor of a certain hotel in Europe posted up the following warning to his clients:

"Gentlemen who come in this hotel not say anything about their meals they will be charged for, and if they should say beforehand that they are going out to breakfast or dinner, and if they say that they not have anything to eat they will be charged, or unless they bring it to the notice of the manager, and should they want not to say anything, they must order the manager for, and not any one else, and unless they not bring it to the notice of the manager, they will be charged for the least things not, according to hotel rate. And no fuss will be allowed afterward about it, and nothing will be allowed to deduct anything out of it."

After this explicit information there surely could be no excuse for misunderstanding.

Antiquity of the Senate.

The senate is historically much older than the lower house, or house of representatives, as it is called in our country and time. In the remote time, while as yet there was no such thing as a science of government, the tribe was wont to look to its old men, on account of their wisdom and experience, for advice in all matters pertaining to the tribe, and those old men were the first senators. The word senator comes from "senes," meaning old. As civilization advanced and seated government became a fact the senate continued to be composed of the old men, and when by and by the second chamber, or council, was added the senate continued to receive the larger measure of reverence and respect.

A Change of Opinion.

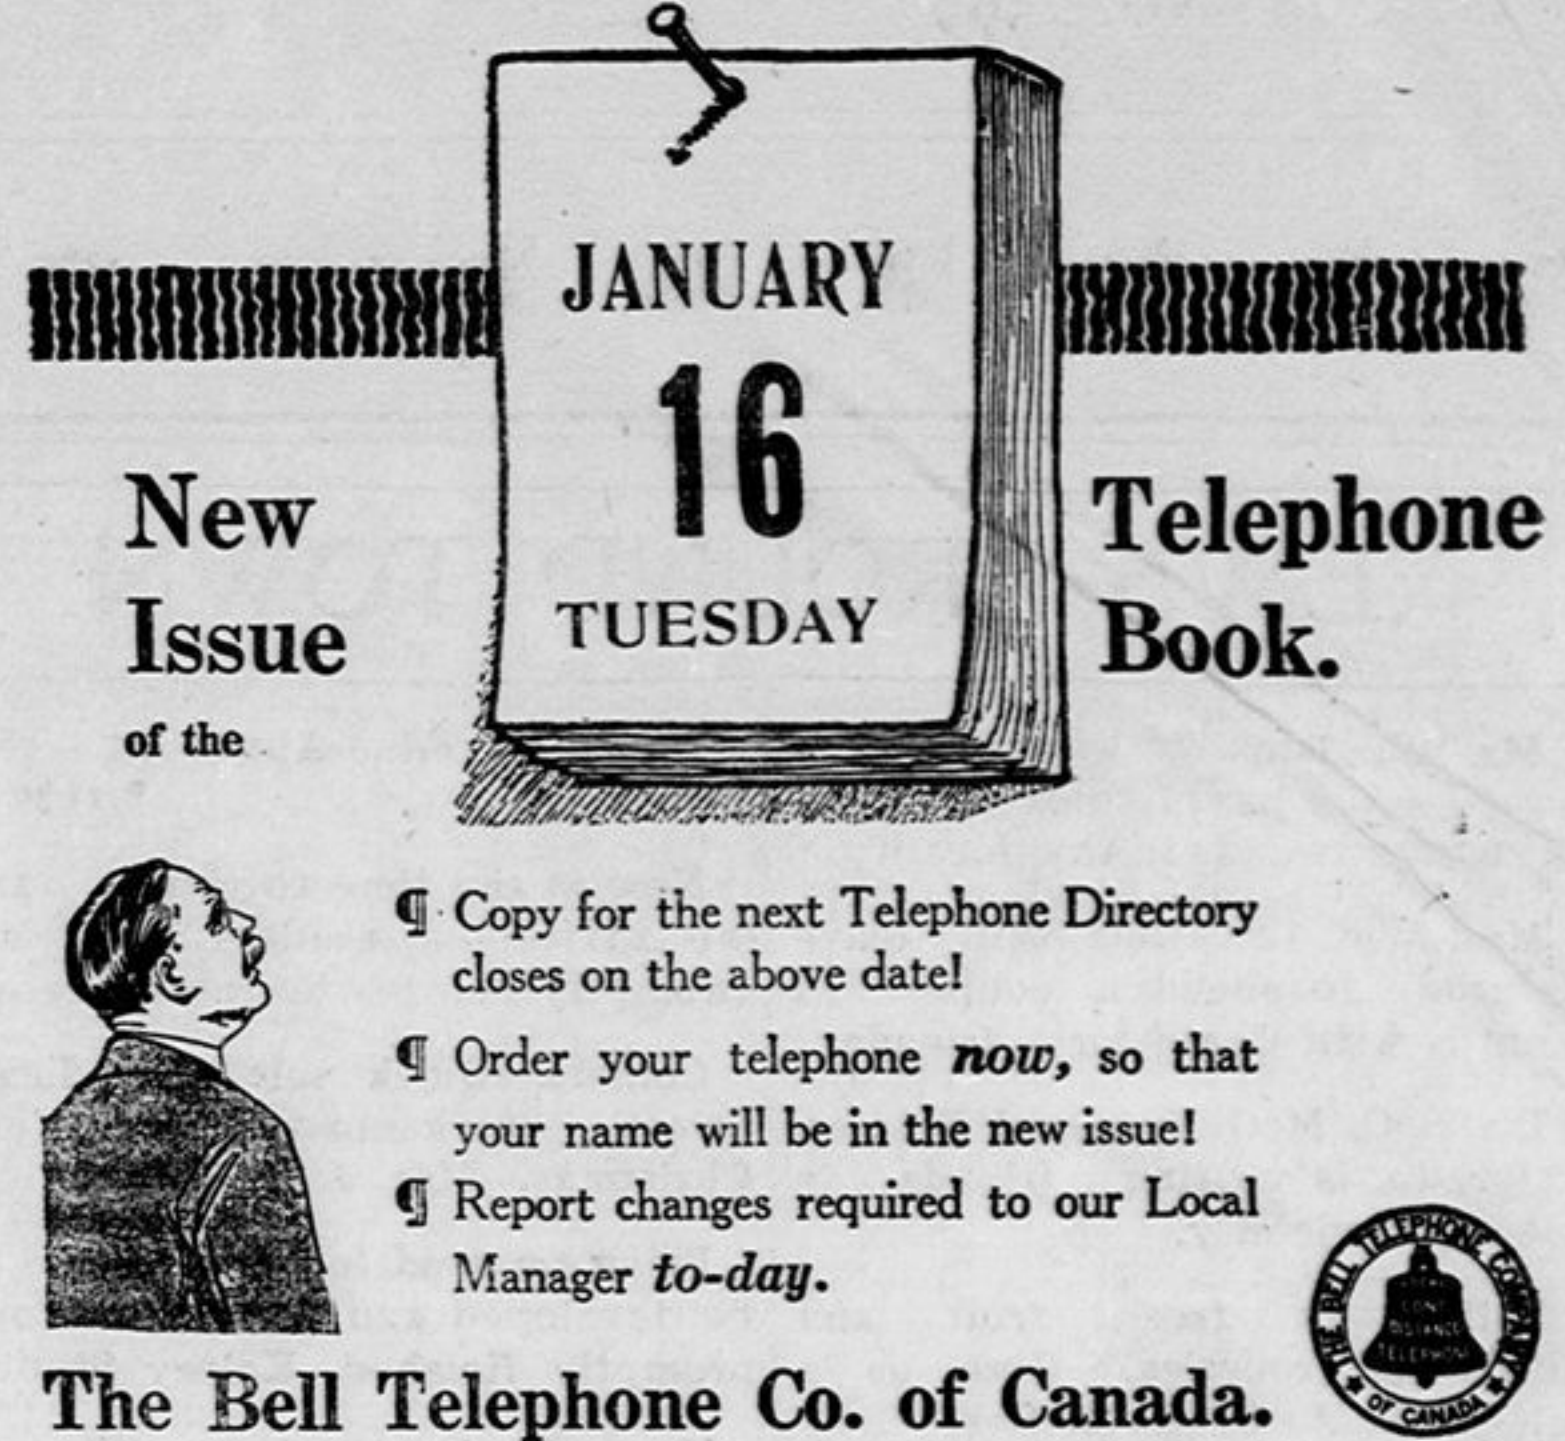

"I suppose, old fellow, your wife still thinks she married a treasure?" remarked a bachelor to a married friend. "No," said the benedict, "I have a distinct impression that she regards me as a treasury."

THE COST OF HIS VOTE

The candidate was giving the first speech of the campaign in a country district. The hall at first was pretty well filled, but the audience was not long in finding out that they did not like the speaker's style of oratory, and began to leave. At last only one man remained. Still, he represented one vote, and as he listened with close attention the candidate felt encouraged to continue. At the end of fifteen minutes, the speaker stopped and politely asked: "I beg your pardon. I hope I am not trespassing on your kindness. I shall have finished in ten minutes." "Ten minutes?" said the listener. "You can go on as long as you like, for all I care, only don't forget that you engaged me by the hour." Then the candidate found that his earnest audience was the cabman who had driven him to the hall.
