BACK TO THE LAND.

An article in this issue by "Farmer John," is worthy of perusal, and we commend it to our readers. The ar- Moore. ticle is plain and pointed, and should we or our readers fail to agree with it in every parrticular, it will be none the less valuable, and may provoke discussion from other sources. of Allan Park, are visiting with Mr. It wouldd never do for all to be farmers. This may be regarded as an axiom, and may be taken without proof. The great thing is for all to realize the interdependence of one calling, trade or profession, upon each or all of the other trades or professions. It is necessary, too, to feel the equality of importance in the different activities of life. The professional man is essential, and so is the laborer, the artisan or mechanic. Each is needed, but there should be a proper balance to get the best results. The man who Then luring Fortune beckoned meearns his bread by the sweat of his brow, earns it just as honestly, and perhaps more so, as the pprofessional And now, I'm getting old, indeedman who commands a much higher These gray hairs make that plain; remuneration for his services. The laborer, again, might never develop into a professional man. If he did, he might spoil a good farmer to make a oor doctor or lawyer. Let the facts soak in, that all the legitimate avocations should be equally honorable, and ontentment with our lot will make all a happy people.

The blg city nize the woman who sold him tallow concerns believe in the power of printer's ink, and it will be a happy day for the small country merchants when they wake up to the idea of advertising judiciously in the columns Mr. J. A. Mather went to Fort those in close touch with the situaof the country press. The big city concerns are growing more and more next week aggressive every year, and the chief weapon is the money they spend in advertising. It is said that one big departmental store in Toronto spends 25 per cent. of its profits every year in advertising, and they do it because they have proved it a money-maker. It is high time for merchants in smaller places to learn the very important lesson. To save printer's ink is foolish economy, to say the least.

GET INTO LINE NOW.

The Hon. W. D. McPherson said something worth repeating when, in speaking recently in Toronto he of the first show. said that it was a great privilege to be of military age at this time to be able to play a man's part in a man's game. being purchased at much advance
