ECONOMY IN LIGHTING

For some time we have said nothing about the hydro costs, and we heard very little one way or the other. A few days ago, a citizen told us his bills were much higher than a year ago, though, he was certain he didn't have any better service. The metre might have gone wrong; in any event, there was something wrong, and he had to pay more. At last we learned his tungsten lamps had been burned out, and were replaced by old carbon lamps, and the one most in use now got so hot you couldn't touch it. The mystery was thought to be solved, and our enquiring friend is using a tungsten now and will tell us the result later. We have but little doubt but the lamp described will use as much current as a 100-watt tungsten, and give no more light than a 20-watt tungsten, perhaps less.

In our efforts to advise hydro users on economy in lighting we endeavored to emphatically advise the discontinuance of the old-fashioned carbon lamps. We had reason for doing so. See what your light bill says every month. Here it is: "A 16-candlepower carbon lamp equals, approximately, 55 watts, 1,000 watts equal one kilowatt. Tungsten lamps are rated in watts." There are many different kinds of tungsten lamps, and no doubt some makes are better than others. We make no comparisons between the merits of the tungstens. The hydro bills make a comparison between the tungsten and carbon lamps, and let you draw your own conclusions.

Ten cents for a pound and a half loaf is a high price to pay for bread. We used to get double the amount for the same price, and even then it might have been too high when the value of the ingredients in its contents were taken into consideration. The loaf we now pay ten cents for will furnish enough bread for a family of four or five at a meal. Will some who complain just stop for a moment and think about the ten-cent cigars they smoked before the war, when bread was five cents a loaf, and since the war, when bread was double the price? Did anybody hear them kick about the ten-cent cigar luxury? How many did the luxury serve and satisfy? How many were better off because they took part in smoking it? Was it as satisfying, as sustaining, or as necessary as the ten-cent loaf? Every answer, we fancy, will be a negative answer. The bread is dear at ten cents, but bread is a necessity; the cigar is dearer at ten cents, and is only a luxury. A person can live without cigars, but it wouldn't be easy to get along without bread. A plug of tobacco costs ten cents, and there isn't much of the body-building nature about it. It isn't a necessity, and many think its use is a decided injury. If, instead of buying a plug of tobacco, or a ten-cent cigar, we buy a ten-cent loaf, it will soon tell on the high cost of living. It isn't likely we'll do it, yet, but later on, it may be necessary, as a matter of economy. There are other ways, too, and many of them, where economies might be effected without detriment. Ten cents' worth of ice cream is a poor filler for a hungry man. It will not go nearly so far as a ten-cent loaf, yet we'll continue to buy ice cream and chocolates, and fancy packages of cereal, and lots of other things, that are high-priced and not correspondingly nutritious. Other things as well as intoxicants might be prohibited as a matter of economy during the war.

GET A MOVE ON

A person, to be of any use, should have enough initiative to do something. A fellow you have to tell how, watch him do it, see him do it, and then do it yourself, is a mighty poor article on any kind of a job. Rather than have him around, you would be money ahead to roll up your sleeves, spit on your hands, wade in and do the job from the start. There are people who can never see past the end of their own nose, unless it be the clock at quitting time. If such people ever expect to rise in the world, they'll have to get up and shake themselves. There are lots of them.

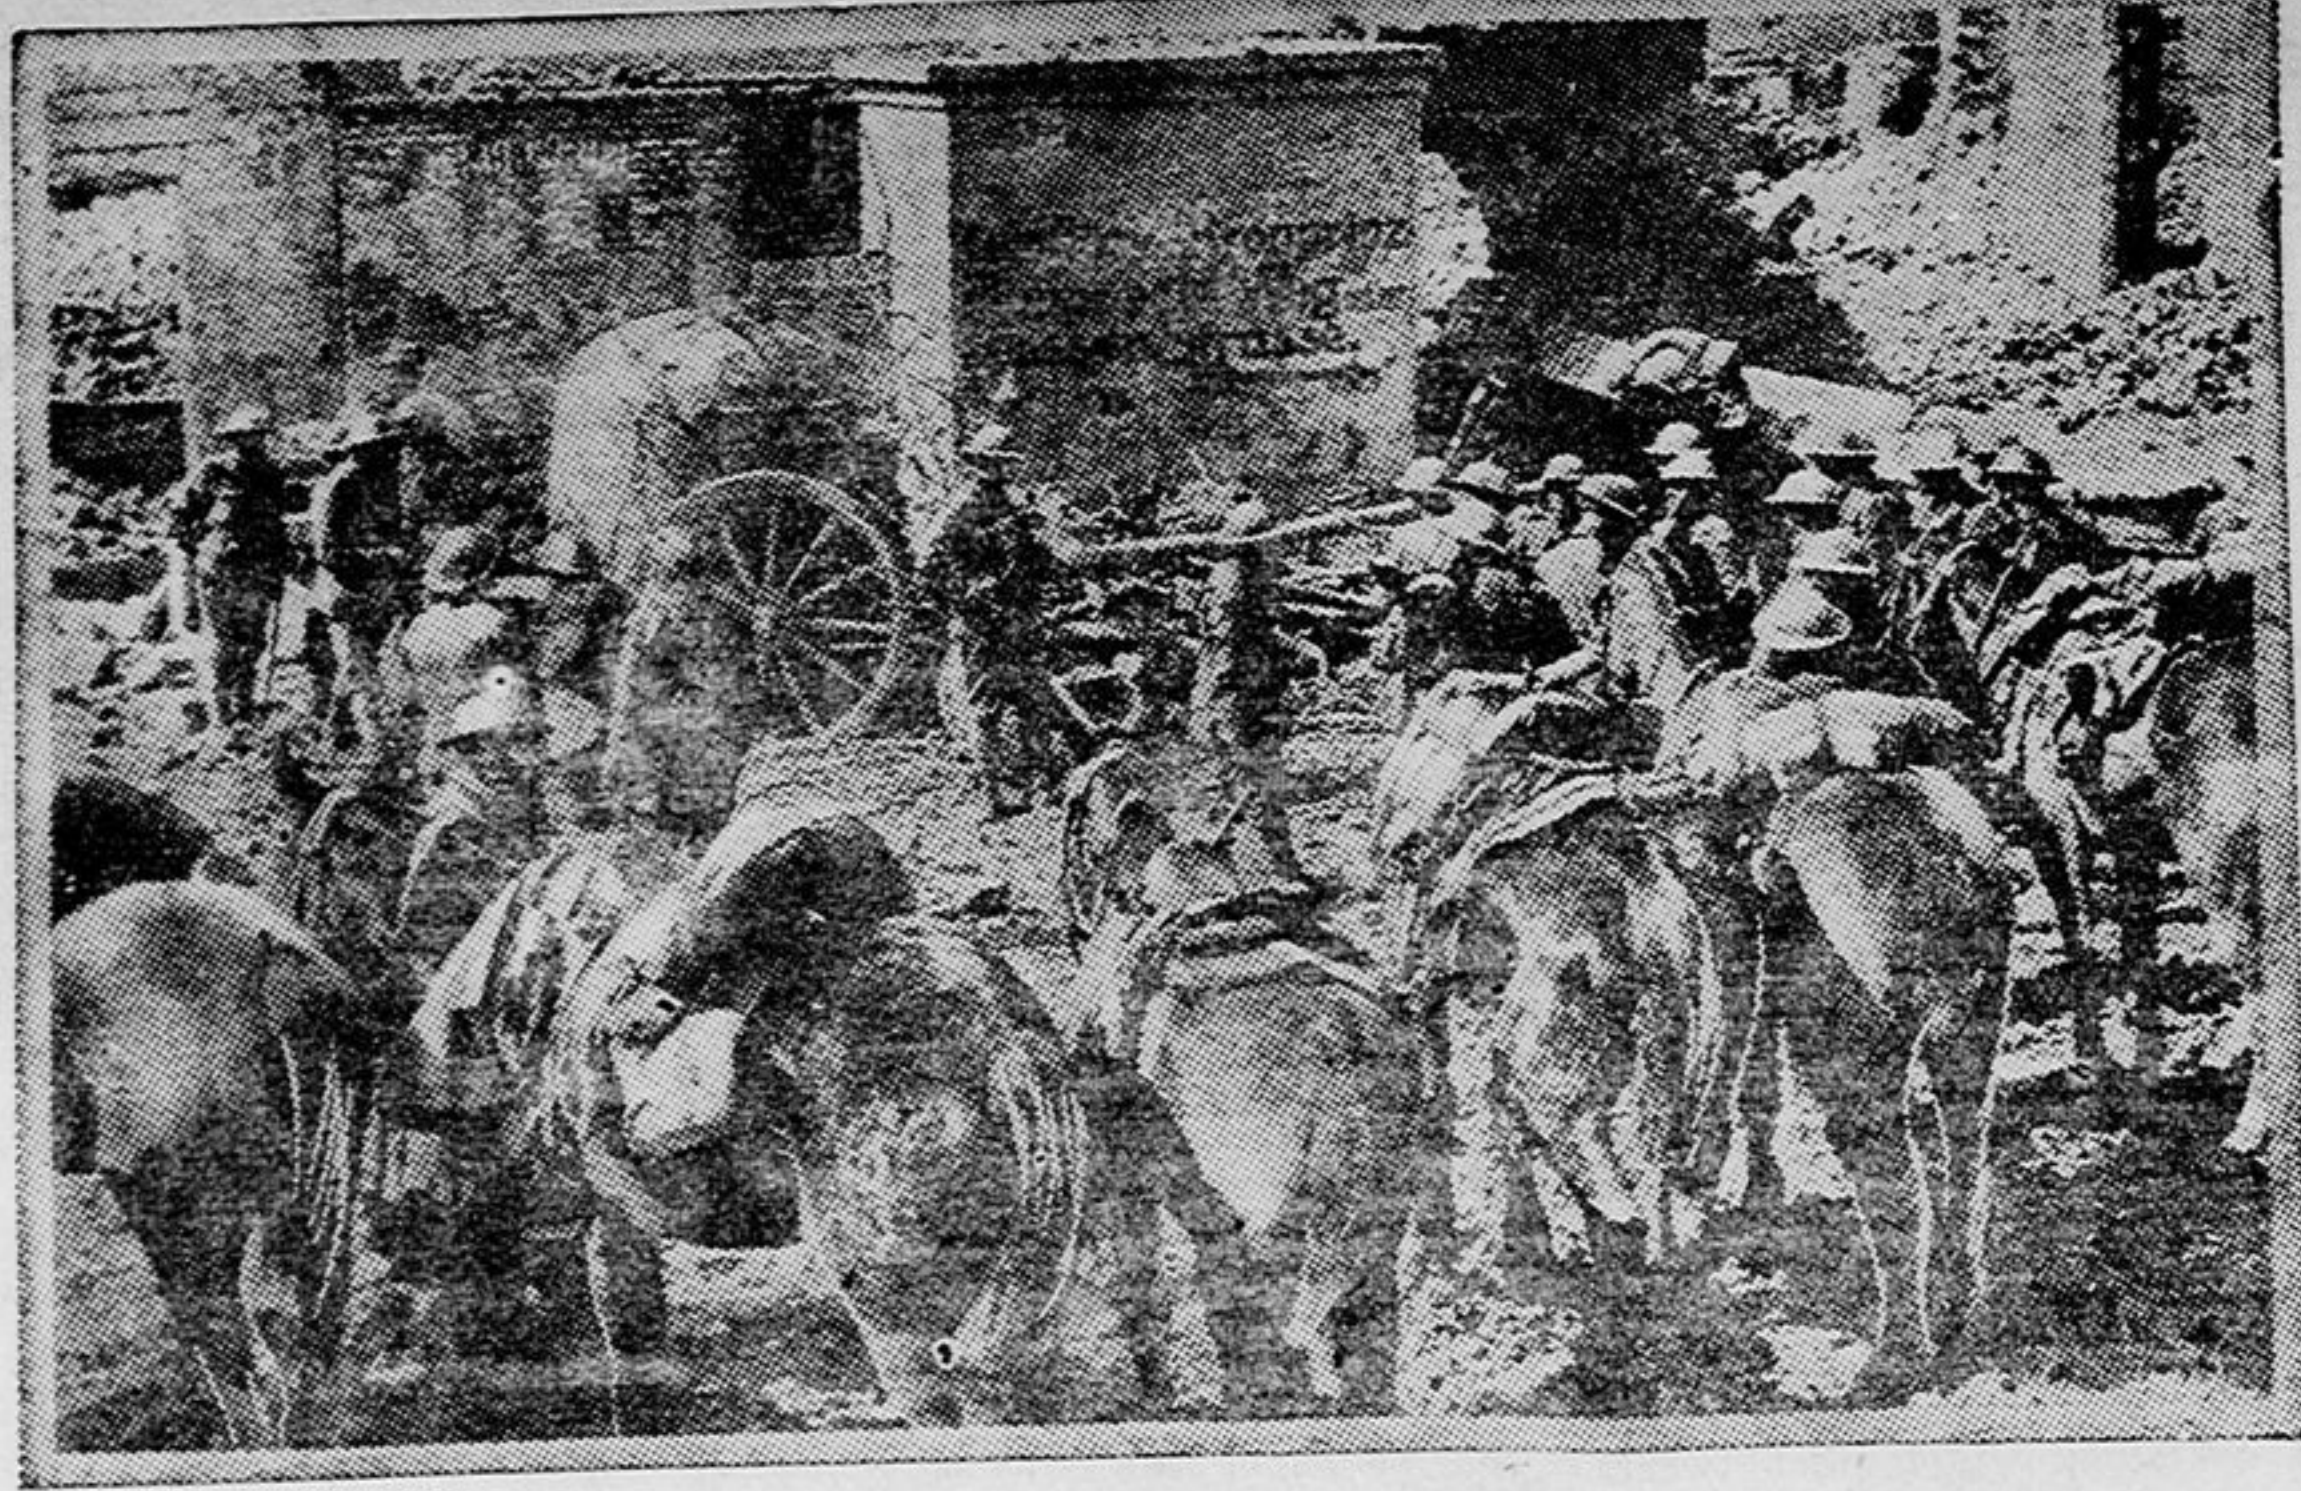

DAYLIGHT SAVING

An Ottawa despatch says: "Canada has decided to adopt daylight saving throughout the Dominion. The Government has given notice of legislation to put all clocks ahead an hour on a day to be stated later and keep them so throughout the summer. The notice is in the name of the minister of trade and commerce."

We fail to see any benefit in making the clock lie in order to get the benefit of the daylight. The daylight is here just the same, whether the clock is fast, slow or idle. To start an hour earlier by the clock would give the same result, and avoid the mix-ups of keeping track of the different times.

GROWING MORE POPULAR

Every page in The Chronicle is of local interest. It is all printed at home, and has been for years. We conceived the idea of controlling our own business as a correct principle. For a number of years, we had the unique distinction of publishing the only all-home print paper in the county, outside of Owen Sound. Others gave a patent inside and more pulp than we did, but they are gradually coming round to our way of thinking, and of late the all-home print idea is growing more and more popular, and The Chronicle is not in such a

CAVALRY ON HEELS OF GERMANS

This patrol is seen reaching Tilloy just after the enemy had left. In the background is one of the German armored machine gun turrets on wheels, by means of which the foe were sometimes able to survive the British barrage fire. The condition of the horses shows that the work is very hard on the mounts as well as on the men. After over two years of inactivity, the British cavalryman is into his own again with each German retreat.

TO ADOPT KILTS FOR TROUSERS

The adoption of kilts instead of trousers for civilian dress is under serious consideration in many parts of England. A fashion expert says there is no question about their greater durability, and their introduction will do away with the necessity of pressing. Another argument is based on the opinion of physicians, who say they are the ideal dress for boys, because they give the greatest warmth around the stomach, and greater freedom than trousers.

I am prepared to furnish monuments of all kinds at lowest prices consistent with quality and workmanship. If in need of inscription work, let me know, and I will have it attended to promptly.—W. J. McFadden. 5171f

HITS AND MISSES

"Win the war" should be everybody's politics till the war is won. No British subject deserves respect if he would be satisfied to have the Germans win, and then live under German tyranny.

German Kultur seems to be only another name for German atrocities of German frightfulness.

It seems to us, a good British subject would prefer death to serving under German rule.

A greedy man is like the grave; he takes all he can lay his hands on, and gives nothing back.

"Sleep on, now" may soon be said of small towns that don't avail themselves of the use of printer's ink.

Printer's ink may not restore a stone dead town, but it will work wonders where there's any vigor left. Hair vigor isn't much good to a bald man with a shiny head.

If a man can't advertise without lying, he should wait a little while and learn the principles of truth, and how to practise them.

There may be Germans who are truly loyal to Britain, but the enormous deceptions of the Fatherland makes a lot of people doubt their sincerity.

The farmer who thinks he is doing as much to win the war as the boys in the trenches, is doing his bit at a safe distance, and with a fair assurance of profit. The extra profits should all go to patriotic purposes.

TRAVERTON

These are beautiful June days, and the country is at its best. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Burnett, of Markdale, were guests at J. J. Pearl's on Sunday.

Mr. O. Heffernan of Marden, bot a blocky team of four-year-olds from Alex. McDonald of the 6th concession last Thursday.

Mr. John Fallaise of town spent a few days at the close of the week among the old neighbors.

Mr. Herb Allen has had his barn jacked up and has let the contract for the stone foundation to "Uncle Joe" Firth, of town. His brother, George, had a big stable and implement house raised, moved over beside the barn, and is putting stone walls under.

Fruit prospects are very good, with the exception of Northern Spy. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henry, Miss Hazel and Miss Fustan, of Flesher-ton, motored down to Zion's services on Sunday afternoon, and spent the evening at W.J. Cook's.

Mr. John O'Neil and his mother are on a holiday trip to visit kindred in Paris.

This vicinity was deeply shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mr. Sam. Baines, of the 12th concession, on Friday morning of last week. He had been ill but a few days with appendicitis, and when the specialist was called in he declared it too late to operate. The deceased was in the forties, was the youngest son of Mr. John Baines of Owen Sound, formerly of the Glenelg and Holland town line. About 21 years ago he was wedded to Miss Annie Henderson, and the union was blessed with a family of five boys and two girls. Mr. Baines was an active, progressive farmer, owner of 400 acres, and to his farming operations had for some years been dealing extensively in live stock. He was a man of fine physical strength, build and suppleness, and was always in demand at barn raisings. The funeral took place to Markdale cemetery on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Ashton of Mulock conducting a comforting service in the home and at the grave. Mr. Arch. Baines, principal of High school, was present at his brother's funeral.

HAMPDEN

Miss Agnes McLean is again able to visit some of her nearest neighbors.

Mr. John Cooper disposed of one car load of cattle last Friday, but still has one car load left.

Miss Ella Park is home again, after being engaged for a few weeks with Mrs. Andrew Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLean, of Hespeler, visited at her home here on Sunday last.

Rev. Leslie preached at Hampden and Hanover last Sunday.

Mr. David Robinson is at present overhauling his stables.

A meeting is called for Friday evening, to arrange for the annual Sunday school picnic.

WALKERTON BOY DROWNS

Lawrence Graff, third son of Mr. Adam Graff, of Walkerton, was drowned in the Saugenee river last Saturday afternoon while in bathing with a number of boys. He was in shallow water, but appears to have taken cramps and did not come to the surface after he first sank. He was 12 years of age.

from two units, and is now in the police cells, awaiting an escort to take him to Camp Borden. The last time he trotted away from the 213th Battalion, of St. Catharines, a few days before he was expected to leave for overseas. He was taken by the Owen Sound police near Al-lenford, and trotted to the cells.

Jos. Washburn of Listowel, 85 years of age, fell dead while working in his garden on Monday morning of last week. He was a resident of Listowel for over 50 years, and was in comparatively good health up to the time of his death.

August Roher, a resident of Listowel, died suddenly on June 5th.

Youthful burglars are reported to be operating in Hanover. The stores of H. Cross & Sons and W. J. Sarvis were recently entered and goods stolen. The local police are working on the case, and expect to make arrests shortly.

Attractive Dining Car Service.

Probably nothing helps more to make a railway journey really enjoyable than a visit to the "dining car," especially if it be a Canadian Pacific Dining Car, where the passenger is assured of the highest form of efficiency in the culinary art, the choicest provisions that the market affords, prepared on the scientific principle known as "Dietetic Blending."

Your favorite dish, as you like it, may be enjoyed at reasonable cost, amidst ideal surroundings, while travelling on the Canadian Pacific.

It has been announced that Nelson B. Horton has been appointed to the position of Clerk of the First Division Court of the County of Grey, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late A. C. Maitland, who died on Friday last.

HIS HEART BADLY AFFECTED

"Fruit-a-tives" Soon Relieved This Dangerous Condition. For two years, I was a victim of Acute Indigestion and Gas In The Stomach. It afterwards attacked my Heart and I had pains all over my body, so that I could hardly move around. I tried all kinds of Medicine but none of them did me any good. At last, I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives". I bought the first box last June, and now I am well, after using only three boxes. I recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to anyone suffering from Indigestion." FRED J. CAVEEN. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE WEDDING

It was the swellest wedding that Manhattan ever saw. The bride's bouquet was cauliflower. With shower effect of snow. The decorations formed a bower of cabbages and beans. With spinach and asparagus. And other garden greens. Aigrettes of slender scallions trimmed. The bridesmaids' hats of lace. And in the best man's left lapel. A radish found a place. The wedding cake was decked with beets, Cucumbers and Tomatoes, And princely was the bridegroom's gift. A barrel of Potatoes. —Minna Irving in N. Y. Sun.
