We have just learned that Pte. J. M. Ledingham, son of Mr. James Ledingham, of Dornoch, has been killed in action. Particulars have not yet been received.

Mr. Archie Robertson, of Ottawa, and Mr. Percy Hopkins, of Toronto, accompanied the remains of the late John Robertson from Ottawa. They returned to their homes on Saturday.

Our new serial story, "The Wanderer", started in last week's issue. It will be found interesting to all readers. Turn back to the first chapter and read the whole story. It is a Biblical story, and will run for some weeks.

Mrs. Mark Ledingham, of Arcola, Sask., in renewing for 1918, says: "The Chronicle is as good as a letter every week. We're not surprised at the price going up. Everything must go up these times. This is a terrible war."

We have a stock of ground feed wheat on hand that we are offering for the next few days at $40 per ton, sacks included. If you need feed, buy now, as we have only a limited quantity to offer at this price.—The Rob Roy Cereal Mills Company, Limited.

Amos Chislett, a resident of this town some years ago, and previously at Bunnassan, a man about 65 years of age, died on the 31st of October at Revenue, Sask. He was a member of the Chosen Friends here, and held a two thousand dollar policy. No particulars are to hand.

Fergus contributed $2,600 to the Red Cross, including the council's vote of $450. Last year, the amount subscribed was $3,400, but this included $900 from two persons who are not available this year. A canvas on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. will be made later. It will be noticed that the council made a grant to the Red Cross.

Since increasing our subscription rate, we have not yet met a kicker. Everybody knows we had good reason for making the advance. Everything used in connection with our work has gone up nearly one hundred per cent. since the beginning of the war, and some of the requirements have gone much higher. We have simply been forced to advance prices.

Lieut. Milton Mills, who spent 20 months in the trenches, having gone with the first contingent, returned on furlough about a year ago. He subsequently enlisted in the Foresters Battalion, and was transferred to the flying corps and trained at Camp Borden, but met with an accident about a month ago and suffered nervous shock to such an extent that he has been honorably discharged. He is now at his home at St. Catharines, unfit for further service.

For sale—one Oak heater, for coal or wood; price $6.—Mrs. Wm. Bell, Albert street, Durham. 2ptf

We regret to learn that Pte. Alex. Donaldson, well-known here as a telephone lineman, who recently returned to the trenches after recovering from wounds, has been again seriously wounded, and will not likely be fit for further service. He is said to have sustained a compound fracture of the jaw and other serious injuries. He enlisted with the 147th and has seen considerable active service.

The subscriptions last week in aid of the British Red Cross, amounted to $1,239.75. The list will be published next week, and all who have not contributed are requested to do so at once. We would like to impress upon all lovers of liberty that contributions in aid of the various patriotic schemes are not acts of charity, but the payment of a debt of gratitude. We owe every dollar we can give to the boys in the fight.

The casualty lists of the past few days are very heavy, and forces upon us the necessity of instant action in sending reinforcements to help the boys at the front. Recruiting is practically at an end, and the only available method is by conscription, and that right soon. There is no time to lose, and we hope the boys, already worn out with service, will soon be reinforced and relieved. They have had a long, hard pull.

The Orangemen, to the number of sixty or seventy, attended service on Sunday in the Methodist church when a very appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Moyer.

If a business man refuses to contribute towards patriotic purposes, he has no need to feel surprised if his customers drop off. We know that people can't be generous in every case, but in the trying times through which we are now passing they should strain a point to do something sometimes.

Mr. Wes. Hunt, who has been in Edmonton for the past ten years, spent over Sunday with his brothers, H. W., and A. W. Hunt. It is eight years since he was last in this locality. He is engaged in a hardware business in Edmonton, and was in Montreal and other places on business. He is looking well, and doing well. He left Monday morning and after spending a couple of days at Preston, Hamilton and Toronto, will return to the west, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. W. D. Mills, of St. Catharines.

Charles Russell, a bachelor farmer about 50 years of age, who had been living with his brother, Alex. near Pinkerton, was found Monday morning lying on his back in a swamp, a mile and a half from home, with his throat cut from ear to ear. He was summoned as a witness on a liquor charge against his brother, Alex., and disappeared on October 22nd, the day before the trial, and although a search was made of the neighborhood, he had not been seen, till discovered by a rabbit-hunting party.

Word has just been received announcing the death in action of Pte. Alex. McVicar, of Glenelg Centre, Lieut. Stanley McNally, of Durham and Pte. J. M. Ledingham, of Dornoch. Sergt. Stanley Willis, of Allan Park, is reported missing, and last week Major Eccles, of Egremont, received word that his son, Pte. Roy Eccles, had been gassed. Pte. Alex. Donaldson, well-known here as an employee of the Bell Telephone Co., who enlisted here, but whose mother is a resident of the United States, is reported seriously wounded. With the meagre information at hand, we are unable to give particulars.

William McDonald Lawson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lawson, died very suddenly on Tuesday morning. He was 16 years of age last March and has been suffering from heart trouble since Easter. The doctors gave no assurance, but the fond parents always hoped he would be again restored to health. He had been confined to bed the greater part of the time. On Tuesday morning he seemed a little brighter and was allowed to sit up for a short time, when he suddenly grew weaker, became unconscious and died in a few minutes.

The contributions to the Red Cross in the Collingwood campaign ranged from five cents, given by a little girl, to $250, given by T. Long & Bro.

THE LATE PTE. W. A. LAUDER. of the 58th Battalion, who was killed in action on the 25th of October. He was the son of Mr. W. G. Lauder, of town, and was born in Alberta 20 years ago last March. He enlisted with the 147th Greys, but was in France only a short time.

BLYTH'S CORNERS.

The weather for the past few days has been simply lovely, to say the least.

Rev. Mr. Scott, of Holstein, occupied Knox church pulpit on behalf and in support of the Women's Auxiliary. In the course of his remarks, the Rev. gentleman showed that all the science, knowledge, culture, philosophy, etc., had raised man to a level very little higher than the brute beast, backing his assertion from the awful carnage of the present war; but there would come a time of construction after the war, and he showed conclusively that the only hope of lifting the world to a higher or better level was the gospel of Jesus Christ, cultivated and practised throughout the whole world, and not the least of those forces employed for the spreading of the gospel was the Women's Auxiliary. A thank-offering taken up at the close of the service, contributed by the ladies alone, amounted to $26.

Mr. Jake Hoeflin has purchased another 50 acres a short distance north of his own, which will give him considerably more scope to work on. Mr. Adam Douglas, on the other hand, has sold his farm to a Mr. Lanz, of Normanby, who gets possession in the spring, and Adam intends to go farther south.

Inspector Wright paid his first official visit to our school last week, and the children ever since are tittering at his monstrous size.

Mr. Jas. Blyth of Varney has started his rounds on the Victory War Loan, but unfortunately, our hens are about stopped laying, and won't be able to give him as much as we otherwise could.

By the way, Mr. Editor, how does it come that while Hanna sets the price on all eatable foodstuffs, the editors proceed to set their own price? Rather one-sided, eh? But we're not kickin'.

Pte. J. A. Allen, son of Mr. Robert Allan, is reported amongst the wounded. He enlisted in the west.

Word was received here yesterday of the death in action of Pte. Fred Pinkerton.

If you wish to save a quarter, send in your subscription for 1918 on or before the 17th of November. After that, the rate will be $1.50.

The subscription to The Chronicle will be $1.50 a year after the 17th of November. Up to that date renewals or new subscriptions for 1918 only will be accepted at $1.25. On and after Monday, the 19th of November, the $1.50 rate will be charged. All disposed to do so can save 25c. by paying for 1918 on or before the 17th of November. Everybody knows why the price had to go up.

"The Birth of a Nation," so fully advertised during the past couple of weeks, was presented here on Saturday night to a packed hall of pleased and interested spectators. Not only was the hall packed, but many were unable to gain admittance, notwithstanding the fact that prices were higher than on any former occasion. The pictures were beautifully clear, and the scenes were extremely realistic. The music, too, was in a class by itself, and the orchestra and pictorial representations were in perfect harmony. The entertainment lasted for about two hours and a half, without a single hitch to mar the enjoyment of the large and attentive audience. We have yet to hear from a dissatisfied visitor, but many expressed a desire to have it repeated. It was a magnificent entertainment and must be seen and heard to be fully appreciated. The matinee in the afternoon was well attended, and especially well enjoyed.

THE LIBERAL CONVENTION.

The Liberal convention held here on Monday afternoon was fairly well attended, representatives being present from Dundalk, Markdale, Flesherton, Priceville, Hanover and other points in the riding.

Mr. J. P. Telford, the president, and Mr. T. H. Binnie, the secretary, took their places on the platform, and the meeting was opened with the National Anthem. The secretary was then called on for the minutes of the last meeting.

President Telford made a brief address, in which he explained the nature of the convention, as political conditions had changed since the nomination a year ago of Mr. Wright as the standard-bearer of the Liberal party. He said there was a good deal of twaddle in political circles of winning the war, much of which had emanated from his Tory friends, who would like to lay claim to a monopoly of the country's loyalty. As to loyalty to country, and a desire to win the war, he said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier stood second to none. The so-called Union Government he did not consider a union government in the true sense. Carvell, who joined the Unionists, he said, was not optimistic over its formation. Sir Robert Borden promised it would be non-partisan, but judges and returning officers were all Tories. The Franchise Act was characterized as the most disgraceful and most shameful in the history of any country. In concluding, he asked if Sir Wilfrid ever gave an uncertain sound when great issues were at stake, and if he could have passed through the last 30 years of his political life without a stain on his political escutcheon, he thought the people of Canada should be willing to trust him at the head of the government of the next five years.

Mr. W. H. Wright, the candidate, explained on rising, the differences between the present time and a year ago, when he was given the nomination. In 1916, there were the two parties. Since then, the parties had undergone a change, and now a Union Government was set up before the electors. He was chosen as a straight Liberal in 1916, and since then he had no mandate to make a change in his politics. He wished to meet the electors and get their approval as to the course he intended to pursue. When he explained his position the electors then had the right to say whether or not they wished him to remain as their candidate. He thought it a good policy, and good Liberal politics, to approach the people.

He next went on to express his disapproval of the proposed Union Government, and expressed his hearty concurrence in the remarks of the president. He said that Mr. Guthrie, N. W. Rowell, and General Newburn, Minister of Militia, did not represent Canadian Liberalism. He denounced the Canadian Northern deal, the Franchise Act, and other actions of the Borden Government. Mr. Rowell, he said, had joined the Dominion Government without a mandate from the Liberals, and had no right to undertake the position.

The appointment of Dr. Pugsley was the only case he could recall in which preferment was given to a Liberal, and the appointment was given to him to get rid of him.

The Franchise Bill he characterized as the most unfair that ever disgraced this or any other country.

In stating his platform, he said he agrees generally with the policy of the manifesto issued by Sir Wilfrid Laurier last week. He was in general accord with Sir Wilfrid's policy, but reserved the right of independent action on the war question. All, he said, Liberals and Conservatives, were anxious to win the war. He was not in absolute accord with Sir Wilfrid on the war question, and was willing to give the Military Service Act a fair trial. Conscription he regarded as the result of mismanagement, attributable to the Borden Government.

Dr. Mearns, of Hanover, said he did not intend to speak, but congratulated the ladies who had secured the franchise in Ontario as the result of Liberal agitation. He condemned the Borden Government and passed out a eulogy to the German people with whom he had much dealing. He, too, expressed his disapproval of Union Government, as constituted by Sir Robert Borden. He concluded his remarks by saying that he could trust his

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Could Do No Work. Now Strong as a Man.

Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. J. O'BRYAN, 1756 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

WAR VETERAN SAYS:

"I have served in the British Army for 14 years, in South Africa, India and France. In my occupation of shoeing-smith I have met with a great many accidents, for which I have used various remedies, but never have I used anything that can begin to compare with Zam-Buk. As a healer and preventive of blood-poisoning Zam-Buk is in a class by itself. Every soldier should carry a box of it in his pocket." The above is an extract from a letter received from S. McIlwrath, of the 2nd Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. For the many injuries incidental to a soldier's life Zam-Buk is certainly invaluable. Nothing so quickly ends pain in a cut, a burn or a sprain, and for chapped hands, cold sores, chilblains and blistered feet it cannot be equalled.
