

GREEN FEED FOR EVERY FARM
(Experimental Farms Note.)

Perhaps no other plot on the farm will give such large returns for the amount of time and labor expended as a small area of feed grown for soiling purposes. Green feed is relished during the summer months by cattle, hogs and poultry (if they are in enclosed yards), but without doubt proves the most profitable when fed to milch cows. Soiling crops are found to assist very materially in maintaining the milk flow during the hot summer months when pastures are short and dry.

Corn, oats, peas and vetches; oats, rape; and sunflowers in the order named, are all valuable for this work.

Corn is one of the best crops for this purpose and gives a large yield of succulent feed, much relished by both cattle and hogs. Planted before June 10 it should be ready for cutting about August 10-15, and has reached a height of from five to eight feet, with an average yield of eighteen tons to the acre. "Longfellow" has been used with some degree of success over a period of years. Unless pastures are extremely bare, one-half acre with fair crop should be sufficient for ten or twelve cows.

Oats, peas and vetches mixed, oats five parts, peas four parts, vetches one part by weight, and sown at the rate of three to three and a half bushels per acre, will give large amounts of excellent feed. This should be cut and fed while the oats is in the milk or soft dough stage. This will necessitate two or three seedings, if soiling crop is to be fed over any great length of time. Two seedings, or at the most three, ten days apart, should be sufficient, and one acre should supply plenty of feed for fifteen cows.

Oats sown thickly also provides good succulent feed, and should almost equal oats, peas and vetches in yield per acre.

Rape is generally used as a pasture crop. It is particularly desirable for hogs, and when used for such must be seeded in several plots with about ten days intervening between each seeding. If allowed to make good growth before stock is turned in on it, and then pastured say for an hour a day, plants will throw up new shoots and continue to grow even after being partly eaten. Rape may be sown at the rate of three to six pounds per acre, in drills or on the flat. It has been grown with fair success when seeded broadcast, but this plan is not recommended as it is generally found necessary to hoe this crop in order to allow it to make its best growth. With successive seedings and careful handling, an acre should supply sufficient feed for at least fifteen cattle.

The Experimental Station at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, reports that sunflowers were used as a soiling crop during the latter part of the season of 1921, and were eaten with apparent relish by beef steers. They were refused by hogs and eaten but sparingly by dairy cows. These sunflowers (Mammoth Russian), were sown on the flat in rows thirty inches apart, and gave a yield of about twenty tons per acre.

A seeding of oats, or oats, peas and vetches, for early cuttings, with corn for use as a soiling crop during the later season is to be recommended. A small area of rape used as pasture during late autumn will be found very valuable.—B. Frank Tinney.

VETERAN STAR THEATRE
OPENS FOR SPRING SEASON

Commencing on Tuesday evening of this week, the Veteran Star Theatre has opened for the spring season with four nights a week and have contracted for a number of exceptionally good pictures. To-morrow and Saturday nights, the 24th and 25th, Buck Jones, the popular motion picture star who defies danger, fate and at times the very law of gravitation will hold forth in his new Fox production "Get Your Man." In this screen play, Buck's experiences extend from hair raising incidents in the depths of a coal mine in Scotland to adventure in the Canadian Northwest, where the Royal Mounted Police have won an enviable place in the world's Hall of Fame. When first we see Buck, in the role of Jock McTier, he is foreman of the coal mine. He is in love, but the paymaster of the mining company wins the girl. Jock disappears, and later turns up in Northwestern Canada, where he soon becomes a member of the Mounted Police. The lawlessness of the early days in that section of the country, the experiences and indomitable courage of the Mounted Police, and the unusual development of an odd love affair constitute excellent material for a most alluring drama. Jones not only depicts the hardy, quiet and determined Scotsman, but when he joins the Mounted Police his masterful ability as horseman and marksman is brought into play, and he fairly revels in the game of running down crime. The story of "Get Your Man" is by Alan Sullivan and the direction is by George William Hill.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday, the 28th and 29th of March, Gladys Walton appears in "High Heels," her latest Universal comedy-drama, which is a screen adaptation of a widely discussed novel, "Christine of the Young Heart," by Louise B. Clancy. This snappy story of the society flapper is said to suit Miss Walton's pert personality to a nicety.

On Friday and Saturday, the 31st of March and the 1st of April, the Star Theatre management have been fortunate in securing the motion picture films of the marriage of Princess Mary to Lord Lascelles.
