Tobacco and Soap Solutions Effective. Strong tobacco or soap solutions applied in the same way as stated for the water are good remedies. Three ounces of whale oil soap dissolved in a gallon of water will make a good solution for green aphids, red spider and thrip. A solution of tobacco water can be made by placing tobacco leaf stems or raw tobacco leaves in a pail, 11/2 or 2 pounds; fill the pail with boiling soap suds, Manager of the Canadian Co-operatcover up, and allow to cool. > The following preparations sold at large seed stores are also good. Sulpho-tobacco soap and Black Leaf 40 are good remedies. These are also sold at some drug stores. Full directions for use are given on the packages. I find it an improvement to use soapy water in mixing Black Leaf 40.

These remedies are for aphis, thrip and red spider mainly.

Dealing With the Slug.

Another pest that infests rose bushes is what is known as the rose slug, a slimy green caterpillar, about one inch long, that eats the leaves and also eats into the flower. Dusting the bushes when the leaves are damp (not too wet) with dry hellebore from an old baking powder tin having a perforated lid, will help to keep down these pests; or an ounce of hellebore powder may be mixed with a gallon of water and sprayed on the plants. These are all very effective remedies for pests on rose bushes. Care must be taken, nowever, not only to be particular in mixing the ingredients, but also to apply thoroughly to all parts of the plant, more especially to the under side of the leaves for the white thrip and red spider, and start early in the season before the pests appear. Prevention is better than cure. When to Spray.

In applying any of these solutions, weather should be done in the morning. During the very hot weather. spraying may be done in the evening. If spraying is done in chilly weather the plants with flowers of sulphur or spray with a solution made by mixing one ounce of potassium sulphide should be made every week or ten days from early in the season until the end of summer. The potassium sulphide is also a good remedy for "Black Spot," another fungus disease that attacks the leaves of rose bushes. All dead or diseased leaves caused by black spot or mildew

Generous Cows Need Good Grain Ration.

Guelph.

-The late Wm. Hunt, O. A. College,

With the pasturing season at an end, every owner of dairy cows should begin to plan his winter feeding. Cows often suffer more for lack of feed between the time when the rasture is good and the time when winter feeding in earnest begins than they do after winter is really at hand. Every experienced feeder has learned that it is easy to let cows decline in milk as a result of poor feed, but very hard to bring them back. good production for the year is possible only when the cow is kept at

The foundation of all good dairy rations is a succulent feed, either silage or roots, and a legume hay, short, therefore, the feeding of silage and hay should begin. It never pays to scrimp on roughage. Let the cowshave as much as they will eat up clean all the time. That is what a cow is for-to convert roughage into milk.

A good grain mixture should con tain at least three different feeds, tein. A good grain mixture for cows the security, if any, held by them. of medium production is ground corn or barley four parts, oats or bran two parts, linseed meal one part.
