BOOMING BETTER SIRES

Publicity Methods Used in Forwarding the Campaign.

Motion Pictures the "Reel Thing"—Lantern Slides Also Useful—The Use of Gate Signs Is Becoming Popular With Breeders—Can't Have Eggs and Mites, too.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The ultimate object of the campaign for better sires is to improve the quality of the beef and dairy herds of the country. To achieve the object it is necessary, first, to create in the minds of farmers an interest in and a desire for a better class of cattle. This cannot be done by writing and talking alone. The ideal way to create this interest would be to have the people see numbers of good cattle. As this is seldom practicable, the next best thing is the use of good pictures. It is in this direction that we have found motion pictures useful. If you can show an audience a number of reels of high class cattle, you secure their interest immediately, and when shown in pastures similar to the pastures in their own fields the appeal is very strong. Wherever such pictures have been shown, it has resulted in a number of the audience making enquiry about breeding, feeding and methods of caring for cattle to obtain the best results.

Motion Pictures Have Their Limitations.

Motion pictures are not well adapted for making studies of type. It is in this connection that we have found lantern slides valuable. The slides we have used have included close-up pictures of ideal representatives of all breeds contrasted with slides of undesirable and unprofitable types. One of the most interesting is a series showing a number of scrub cows, the good bulls to which they were bred and the resulting calves. This is the next best thing to having the animals actually there. In brief, motion pictures secure the attention of the audience and create a desire for more information; lantern slides illustrate types and methods. Motion pictures made on Ontario farms have been used to illustrate the leading beef and dairy breeds. Wherever possible, groups of animals by one sire are included to show uniformity and high standard of breed type.

It is proposed to prepare a picture of market animals showing different grades. Some examples of grade cows of poor to fair quality with their calves by high class bulls, showing marked improvement in one generation by the use of a good sire, have been secured. It is hoped to secure more of these as they are the very best of object lessons.

The Use of Gate Signs.

In an educational campaign there are a number of essentials, one of which is to create an interest in the minds of those you wish to influence. It is not an easy matter to reach the man who most requires instruction. Bulletins and other literature sent to him often find their way into the waste basket unread. He is not easy to get out to meetings where the matter is to be discussed. The main object in using these signs is to reach the man who does not read bulletins or attend meetings. When he sees a sign on his neighbor's gate announcing the fact that a pure-bred bull is kept on that farm, it starts him thinking. If every farm where a pure-bred bull is kept is indicated in this way, natural curiosity will as a rule lead a man to make inquiries. Such an individual will probably have been claiming that his grade bull is just as good as the pure-bred, but he soon realizes that if he keeps a bull and has no sign up stating that it is pure-bred, the inference is that it is inferior.

The spirit of "Keeping up with the Joneses," while it may in some cases cause discomfort, is a real factor in human progress. When you get a man in a receptive frame of mind, you have accomplished considerable; in other words, you have fertile soil. The mission of the gate sign is to create interest, and in this it is succeeding in a great measure.—J. E. Rettie, Assist. Live Stock Director, Toronto.

Can't Have Eggs and Mites, Too.

Hot weather brings the roost mites. They multiply so fast that the hen-house is swarming with them and the egg yield has dropped to almost nothing, perhaps, before you realize what is the cause. Therefore, don't wait for them. Make the house disagreeable to these pests before they show themselves. The process of keeping out the mites is one of the simplest in poultry culture. Kerosene will do it. It is easily applied, either by a broad flat paint brush or a spray. The paint brush will save kerosene, but takes time. The spray will save time and use kerosene. Take your choice, but paint or spray the roost and supports with kerosene before the mites put in an appearance. The morning is the best time, as the roosts will be dry and much of the odor from the oil will have disappeared before the hens return at night. Spray or paint every two weeks during warm weather. A good-sized egg check every month keeps the ball rolling. Don't let the mites get it.

The New Farm House and Trees.

When planning to build a farm house it is well to select a location near good trees, so that their shade may be used and enjoyed by the family every day during the summer. It takes so long to grow good trees that existing ones should be cherished and utilized to the fullest extent. If trees must be planted they should not be placed directly in front of the farm house, but should be put somewhat to each side so as to make a frame through which a view of a portion of the front is obtained.

THE NEW GAME LAWS

The Government proposes to change the game laws by a bill now before the House. The important change affecting deer is the advancement of the shooting season north of the Transcontinental, making the shooting season from September 15 to November 15. The partridge shooting season is to be from November 5 to November 20. The bag is limited to not more than ten partridge. The daily bag for wild duck is to be limited to 25, with 200 as the maximum for one year. Another change prohibits the use of traps, snares, nets, etc., for capturing deer, moose, game birds, etc. The fishing amendment prohibits the use of seine nets except in international and interprovincial waters, and pound nets, except in those waters and the waters of Georgian Bay.
