It seems people are just tempting the local police to see if the law will really be enforced in regard to cows on the streets of Ayton, as more of the animals roam the streets every day. There has been plenty of time and warning given to cow owners to secure pasture or form a cow-herd association, so that they will have only themselves to blame if they are fined for allowing their cows to trespass on the streets. The by-law will be strictly enforced and no one will be spared.

OCEAN FISH IN LAKE HURON

(Kincardine Reporter.)
A young boy, C. Richards, fishing at the river, speared and landed a large fish weighing about nine pounds one day this week. At first he thought it was a big carp, but noticing queer pink stripes on it he took it to McGaw Bros. fish house to find out what he had caught. Some years ago McGaw Bros. had caught a similar fish in their nets and not recognizing the species had sent it to the fisheries department, who reported that it was known as a steel head salmon, of the British Columbia type, that some pawns had been placed in the lake many years ago as an experiment, as they are ocean fish. As this specimen is like the one caught some eight or nine years ago, it is no doubt a steel head salmon.

PITTING AND SHOWING THE HOG

(Experimental Farms Note.)
The fitting and showing of swine is an art in itself quite apart from that of breeding. The careful breeder who prides himself on the breeding and typiness of his hogs need not necessarily be unbeatable in the show ring. In large show classes, where the competition is keen, the winning individuals must possess other qualifications than true type alone, and probably one of the most important considerations other than type is what may be called show condition. This show condition is found in its greatest perfection at our larger shows where breeders with years of experience at their backs are in keen competition with one another. For those breeders who are less experienced and who may wish to take a hand in the game a few suggestions at this time may not be amiss. Individuals which it is the intention of the owner to exhibit at this fall's shows should be selected at once. This is important if maximum size and development is to be obtained, and every day that this is delayed means that much more of a handicap for the individual in the show ring.

It is impossible to realize the desired results by forcing at the last moment, it being necessary, in order to obtain full development, to bring the individual along gradually. Forced feeding results in excess fleshing, with retarded development of frame, or on the other hand it may result in grossness and lack of quality.

Pasture, supplied with shade from the sun, and also, if available, running water, provide ideal conditions for the hog during the summer. These, combined with a well-balanced meal ration, fed in conjunction with green feed and skim milk, form a combination that is capable of giving the most favorable results.

The meal ration which is selected for this purpose should be one calculated to develop bone and muscle during the initial stages of the fitting period, and for the latter stages a somewhat higher percentage of fat-producing foods should be supplied.

In order to appear to the greatest advantage the skin of the hog must be free from blemishes or roughness of any kind, and present a clear, healthy appearance. One great source of trouble more particularly with the white-skinned hogs, is that of sunburn. This can largely be prevented if some protection from the sun either natural or artificial is available where the hog may take shelter throughout the hotter parts of the day. These precautions are not sufficient, however, if the skin of the hog is to appear to the best advantage, so washing must be resorted to. It is not sufficient to let the washing go until the day before showing. Some considerable time before the hog is to be shown, at intervals of a few days, a thorough scrubbing with a soft-bristled brush, linsed soap and clear water, and carefully remove all soap. Such treatment results in the freshness and bloom that is so attractive and desirable in show hogs.

Frequent handling of the hog is necessary in order to have them accustomed to the presence and also submit to the will of their attendant without undue disturbance. W. G. Dunsmore, Asst. Animal Husbandman.

A SWEET CLOVER WARNING

In view of the fact that young cattle in North Dorchester township died recently under circumstances which indicated black-quarter, a dreaded disease, a warning is being given to stockmen. Subsequent developments have led to the opinion that the animals died from eating sweet clover.

The danger of feeding sweet clover in excessive quantities, or when it is mouldy, it is understood, has been referred to in a bulletin issued by the Dominion veterinary department. As the animals that died, as well as others that were sick in the Dorchester district, had been eating sweet clover, it is held responsible for the difficulty. Other cases have been reported in Western Ontario, where animals have died following the dehorning operation, because of the fact sweet clover had so thinned their blood that it would not coagulate.

FORMER BENTINCK BOY

IN LIMELIGHT AT LONDON

John Putherbough, son of Mr. S. Putherbough of Bentinck, near Aberdeen, has sprung into local fame in London, according to the Free Press, which says:

"A new idea in community playgrounds has been worked out by John Putherbough in the block bounded by Wellington, Regent, Waterloo and Huron streets. He has secured enough property in this block to enable him to set aside a square in the middle 200 by 300 feet for use as a recreation ground. Much work has been put on this plot this spring by Mr. Putherbough, and the whole has been graded to make it suitable for ball games, etc.

"Mr. Putherbough has had the idea in mind for some years, and he has been purchasing this property in the one block with this objective in view. The playground will be limited strictly to those living within the block. The girls have access to it on Tuesday nights and boys have Thursday nights, while Friday is reserved for the men. The residents of the block have taken to the idea and the playground bids fair to be a popular spot. It is expected several similar community playgrounds will be inaugurated within the next year or so by other residents who have the welfare of the city at heart."

EASY TO START A FIRE

(Guelph Herald.)
An instance of how easy a fire will get started in a public building was demonstrated a day or two ago when a man walked into the public library and after leaving his hat and umbrella on the rack sat down at one of the tables to read. A short time afterward there was a smell as if something burning in the place, and it was discovered that the fire was in the umbrella that the man had hung up. He had knocked the ashes out of his pipe before he came in and some of the burning tobacco had gone down into the umbrella and after smouldering a short time had set the cover on fire. It was put out without any damage except the destruction of the umbrella.
