Mr. Hahn, however, is not enamored of Germany as it is at present and says that it cannot begin to compare with Canada as a place to live and that the boys and girls and people generally of this country should be happy they are not forced to undergo the trials and hardships now being gone through by the residents of Germany and Europe generally. While enjoying himself, Mr. Hahn intimates that he may be home sooner than his original itinerary called for.

Card of Thanks.
The Memorial Committee wish to extend their thanks to the Band, the Veterans, Girl Guides, School Children, the Choir and all who took part in any way at the monument unveiling on Sunday and contributed to its success. They also wish to thank those who placed flowers on the monument in memory of the soldiers of Durham and vicinity who fell in the Great War.

Contractors in Trouble.
Messrs. Bryson & Irvine, who have the contract for the cement abutments of the bridge over the Rocky Saugeen north of town, have run into quite a lot of trouble during the past week. They have difficulty in getting their coffer-dams to hold and have been unable to pour much concrete in consequence. Mr. George McKechnie of town is the inspector on the job, and also held the same position during the building of the bridge about three miles this side of Mount Forest.

Listowel U.F.O. Store Closed.
The United Farmers' Co-operative Company, Toronto, have decided to close their store in Listowel, and the present manager, Mr. G. A. Russell and his wife will leave shortly for Barrie. With many farmers short of ready money, the store has been unable to retain the normal volume of business because of the head office policy, which requires that everything be done on a cash basis. The result has been that many farmers have traded with the other stores where they can get credit and when times are better will probably continue to patronize the merchants who helped tide them over.

Fall Began Last Saturday.

Fall began last Saturday, September 23rd, at 3:10 a.m. (eastern standard time), when the sun crossed the equator going south. Day and night at that time were equal in all parts of the world. While this is the time of change from summer to fall in the northern hemisphere, spring is commencing in the south of the equator. At this time the sun passes through the zenith at the equator and, theoretically is on the horizon at the poles of the earth. But owing to atmospheric refraction which causes the sun to appear above the horizon before it has actually risen and to remain above the horizon after it has actually set, it will remain visible for two days or so after the fall has really begun. Then the long winter night will set in at the north pole, and the sun will not appear above the horizon for six months. At the south pole the sun appeared on the horizon about September 21, due to the scattering of light, and will create a six-month day by remaining in the sky until next March. Because atmospheric refraction always increases the height of an object above the horizon, the long polar daylight is increased at the expense of the polar night by several days, though in mid-latitudes this lengthening of the day at the expense of the night ranges only from two to eight minutes.

HOW ABOUT STREET NUMBERING

Do you know where you live? What is the name of the street you live on? Perhaps you know, and perhaps you don't. Your neighbor doesn't know where you live and if he wishes to see you, he has to make inquiry, perhaps two or three times. To obviate the difficulty it would be a good idea to have the streets named and all the houses numbered. You have an opportunity now to have this done. Mr. Light of Toronto is now looking over the town and interviewing householders with a view to numbering the houses. The cost is only small, insignificant, in fact, compared with the convenience afforded. The individual householders are expected to pay for house numbers, and if sufficient response is met, Mr. Light will agree to furnish street plates free.

What a convenience it will then be to find first the street and then look up the number and the trouble is over. The idea is all right. Think about it. 1p

Durham Not Reinstated.

Messrs. D. G. Banting and Bob McCrehead were at Mitchell on Saturday attending a meeting of the North Wellington Baseball Association, in an endeavor to have the Durham Juniors reinstated. In this they were not successful, though the league reinstated them for "exhibition" games only, and will likely let them in next season. While at Mitchell, however, the Durham delegates were treated to a little inside history of the North Wellington League, and while non-committal themselves, according to Tuesday's London Free Press, it must have been a regular wash-day affair when they started to wash their dirty linen. A representative of the A. A. U. of C. was present and the net result is that the Treasurer of the League, when he heard what was coming, resigned his position and did not show up at the meeting at all, two teams were disqualified and their managers were thrown out "forever from amateur sport" by the officials of the Amateur Athletic Union. Strictly speaking, we don't know whether the Durham kids missed much when they were fired out. In the Senior series, Wingham and Goderich were accused of professionalism. "fixing" games with the idea of getting more gates, and other practices, and the general consensus of opinion is that if the North Wellington Executive did not know at least something of what was going on they must, indeed, been pulling the Rip Van Winkle stunt. However, that is not our business, and it is probable that the next annual meeting will see a big change in the Executive line-up and some live wires elected to office.

SIX THOUSAND AT HANOVER FAIR

Hanover Fair was held on Friday of last week and fully maintained the high standards of previous years, a standard which places it in a class with the best smaller town shows in the province.

There was an estimated crowd of six thousand people in attendance. Exhibits showed improvement over previous years, due to increased prizes. Nettie C. won the 230 race, Billy Bingin came first in the named race and Pacing Star won the classified.

A balloon ascension and parachute drop was another feature on the excellent day's program. A company of acrobats was also on the program. The Hanover Band and the Mount Forest Kiltie Band supplied music during the day.

Small town life is very pleasant after you learn not to care how much people talk about you.

The garment that covers the most territory on the lake shore is a coat of tan.
