DEATH OF THOMAS BURGESS

The following obituary is of local interest as the deceased was a native of this locality and known to many of our readers. He was a brother of Mr. John Burgess of Upper Town and father of Mrs. John A. Graham. He died in his home at Southampton and the following is taken from The Beacon, of that town:

"After many years of suffering with rheumatism, Thomas S. Burgess passed peacefully away at his home in Southampton on January 2 at the age of 74 years, 1 month and 22 days. For over a quarter of a century he had been crippled with rheumatism, but despite that he carried on up to the last few years, since when he has been confined to his home, and latterly to his bed. In his early life Mr. Burgess led an active life and took a prominent part in public affairs. He was a member of the Southampton Town Council for a couple of years.

Deceased was born in Bentinck Township, Grey County, in 1849. In 1876 he married Georgia Lawson, who died in 1880, leaving two children, who survive, W. J. Burgess of Sarnia and Mrs. John Graham of Durham.

Mr. Burgess came to Southampton about 1880 and in 1882 took for his wife Mary Anne Mahon of Southampton, and of this union eleven children were born of whom six survive along with his wife. These are Mrs. D. L. Campbell (Arvilla), of Edmonton; Mrs. D. P. Glenn (Ethel), of Mazenod, Sask.; Easton G., of Belleville; Earl E., Ronald A. and Russell, all of Southampton. He is also survived by the following brothers and sisters: John Burgess of Durham; James Burgess of Woodstock; Janet (Mrs. Butler), Guelph; Jane, of Malton; Helen and Nina of Redlands, Cal.; Mary, of Michigan.

The funeral services were held at St. Paul's Anglican church last Friday afternoon, the services being conducted by the Rector, Rev. Hamilton, and were attended by a large number of old friends. The pallbearers were his five sons and one grandson, Donald Graham, of Durham. Those from a distance who were present at the funeral were: Miss A. Mahon, Mrs. Davis and daughter, Mr. K. Smith, all of Owen Sound; Mr. and Mrs. John Burgess of Durham; Mrs. John Graham and son, of Durham; Mr. William Esplen of Burgoyne; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Burgess and daughter of Belleville; Mrs. Sutherland and daughter of Paisley. Interment took place at Southampton cemetery.

Have Not Changed. (Toronto Mail and Empire.)

The sensational way in which the evening papers chronicled the arrival and departure of bank robber "Red" Ryan at various stations en route to Toronto, recalls the day the head reporter called up his chief by telephone for instructions as to what he should do. The city editor asked the reporter to hold the wire a minute till he saw if he had anything to be looked after in that section of the city. Then these instructions came over the wire: "Summers, a prominent, wealthy young fellow named Stuart was up in the police court for drunkenness this morning. He pleaded to have his name kept out of the newspapers for fear his mother would hear of it. She has heard trouble and he says the shock would kill her. Go over to her house in Rosedale and tell her about it. We need news."

SENT UP ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Mallard, formerly Miss Nellie Guinness of Greenwood township, was committed for trial at a rather sensational police court sitting before Magistrate McCarty at Warton on Saturday morning, at which Crown Attorney Dixon and Provincial Constable Blood were present on behalf of the prosecution, while Lawyer Klein was there in the interests of the defence. William Mallard of Purple Valley, who claims to be her first husband, is still alive and gave testimony at the court to prove so. He stated that he was married to defendant 30 years ago next March. She left him some years later, taking their family of three children with her. According to his story he was out working in the bush and on his return found the household had departed. It is alleged that she later got married to a Mr. Selwood, and that three children resulted from this union. Selwood died about a year ago, and according to the evidence she borrowed $20 from her first husband to pay her second husband's insurance. She is said to have gone through a third marriage ceremony on September 5 when, it is claimed, she was betrothed to John Wilson, a Warton grocer. Wilson disappeared quietly from Warton soon after, and is understood to be in the West. Crown Attorney Dixon produced copies of the marriage certificates from the Department in Toronto. The defendant, who was sent up for trial at Walkerton, was allowed out on her own bail. Mallard, who plays the role of the first husband in the case, spent ten days in jail for bigamy, he claiming that he thought his first wife had died and that he lit up hymen's altar a second time by taking to wife a lady from Red Bay.

LACK OF EXERCISE IS CAUSE OF SOFT BACON

Mixed Feed With Milk of Tankage, and Exercise, Makes Best Hog.

Experimental work at the Ontario Agricultural College has proven that soft bacon comes from pigs that have been fed heavily during early life on fattening feeds while enclosed in pens or yards so small as to prevent the proper exercise to the animals. A. C. experiments have also proven that pigs grown to 125 pounds weight on mixed feeds well balanced with skim milk (2½ pounds milk to 1 pound meal), or tankage up to 10 per cent. in the ration, may be finished on corn or barley and still produce a firm, high quality product. Dairy by-products tend to offset the trouble arising from lack of exercise, but both exercise and skim milk are better than either alone.

ROOTS AND LEGUME HAY IN SOW'S WINTER RATION

"Select your brood sows from prolific stock of good bacon type and, with proper care and attention, they will make profitable returns," says W. W. Baird, superintendent of the Experimental Farm, Nappan, N.S., who recommends as a good reliable feed for such animals a slop made up of equal parts of crushed oats, barley and bran or shorts, fed at the rate of from four to seven pounds per day. During the winter months they should have in addition to the meal, four to six pounds roots per day and clover or alfalfa hay to take the place of the green feed fed during the summer.

The brood sow must have access to mineral or earthy feeds. Sods, which may be stored in a root house are excellent. Charcoal, soft coal or ashes containing charred wood should be accessible at all times during the winter or when the sow is indoors. As a direct addition to the sow's meal ration the following is suggested: Tankage 3 to 5 per cent. of the weight of the mixture, or tankage 3 per cent., bone meal 3 per cent. The further addition of 2 per cent. of ground limestone will frequently be of great value. Tankage is valuable, aside from its protein content, in that it contains desirable mineral salts derived from animal products; charcoal is high in phosphates and has a highly beneficial action on digestion; bone meal is also rich in phosphates. Lime and phosphates are particularly necessary in the ration of the sow carrying a litter of pigs.

COST OF MAINTAINING BEEF CATTLE AT THE O.A.C.

Cost investigations conducted by the Animal Husbandry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College with beef cattle gave the following interesting figures:

The average cost of feeding breeding beef cows in the college herd was 15.9 cents per day. The cost of labor per cow per day was 7 cents. The value of the manure per cow per day was 5.8 cents, and the cost of bedding per cow per day was 1.9 cents. The total feed and labor cost per cow per year, after deducting the value of manure, was $69.35. The average weight of beef calves born during the year 1922 was 77.33 lbs.

THANKS TO THE BUREAU OF TOWNSHIP OF BENTINCK

Ladies and Gentlemen—I tender you my sincere thanks for the liberal patronage you have accorded me during the six years I have been serving you in the Council.

Though defeated in the last contest by thirteen votes, I am not defeated in spirit, nor do I entertain any "soreness" towards the electors whether they voted for me or not. At times during my term of office I had the goodwill and support of most of the electors, either by their vote or influence. It was the people's will that I should be defeated, and I bow submissively to the decision as recorded at the polls.

I may rise again, when I hope the tables may turn and the majority see their way clear to support me. If re-elected at any future time I shall endeavor, as in the past, to use my best efforts for the township's good. I again assure the electors of my gratitude for the support which gave me a period of six years of uninterrupted municipal service, two as Councillor, two as Deputy Reeve and two as Reeve of the township. Should I again seek municipal honors, I am satisfied the electors will support me liberally.

With best wishes for the happiness and prosperity of all, I am, as ever, Your obedient servant,
H. W. HUNT.

THE VACANT LOT

The following poem, handed in to us for publication, will be remembered by many of the old-timers. It was a popular ditty around the year 1874:

We live in a hut in a vacant lot,
My father, my mother and I,
Away out of town in a dreary spot
With a hard stone quarry near by.

A terrible spot is this vacant lot,
A region of famine and woe;
And the laborers found a strangled child
In the quarries not long ago.

My father is lazy, my mother she drinks,
While I am haggard and thin;
And I look like a thief, and it's hard to be pure
When encircled around by sin.

And sometimes father is out all day,
And comes staggering home at night,
With money and things that he hides away
For he never comes by them right.

And mother is always at me to steal
And urges her plea with a curse;
And bids me go through the city streets
Pick a watch, a pocket, or purse.

And father beats me when I say
I would rather at any time die;
But I never have stolen, I never have robbed,
And I'll tell you the reason why.

There came to our hut three years ago,
A man with a meek, mild face,
And he held a holy book in his hand
And he tried to read in our place.

But mother she swore at this mild-faced man,
And drove him away from our door;
And told him, never, as long as he lived
To darken our hut any more.

But something bade me to follow this man—
I think that he beckoned to me—
And he led me down by the quarry cliff,
That none of my folks might see.

And read things to me from that holy book
Which I never had heard before;
And somehow a peace came over my heart
And it didn't feel half so sore.

They may beat me and curse me as much as they like,
I know what they do not know,
I know in the end all things will come right
To those that suffer below.

No matter how ragged and dirty I am
With no one to like or to love,
There's a vacant lot waiting for me,
I know,
In that beautiful home above.

MY EYES NOW SPARKLE WITH HEALTH

So Says Mrs. F. Simms After Taking Three Bottles of Drecto. This Grand Remedy Has Built Her Health and Made Life Worth Living.

The lot of Mrs. F. Simms, of 72 Josephine street, London, Ont., was a mighty hard one till she discovered Drecto. Her digestive organs were in a pitiable state of weakness. Stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels were all badly out of order, her blood circulation was poor; in fact, she was so badly run down that life was hardly worth the living. Let this woman, who surely knows what suffering is, tell you of the grand relief that Drecto, the famous system builder, gave her.

"I am another woman since taking Drecto," says Mrs. Simms. "I sleep and eat splendidly and life is again a pleasure to me. Meal time can't come quick enough, for my stomach troubles have disappeared and I no longer suffer the agonies of indigestion, dyspepsia, nausea, or cramps. My kidneys are stronger and rheumatic pains gone and my liver is active, ending the bilious attacks and dizzy spells that caused me so much suffering.

"My eyes sparkle with health and I do not hesitate to say that it is all due to Drecto. It has made a new woman out of a complete wreck and I cannot say enough to praise it."

Drecto corrects and stimulates the kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels, and purifies the blood, overcoming all forms of suffering that accompanies a weakened and run-down system. It is made from herbs, roots, bark and leaves and contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.

Drecto is being specially introduced in Durham by McFadden's Drug Store, and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.
