LADY FRIENDS GATHERED ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

Mrs. J. Levine and Daughters Entertained by Neighbors Before Leaving for New Home in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Levine and family left Tuesday afternoon for Toronto, where they intend to reside. On the evening previous to their departure, the ladies of the town, of whom Mrs. Thomas Henderson and Mrs. Samuel Ritchie were the prime movers, arranged for a little farewell party in honor of Mrs. Levine and daughters, and it was decided the meeting would be held at Mrs. Henderson's. To this Mrs. Levine was an invited guest and shortly after 8 o'clock about 35 ladies had assembled. You will scarcely believe it, but the arrangements were made without the knowledge of Mrs. Levine, though we understand other members of the family were cognizant of their doings.

During the twenty years of her residence in town Mrs. Levine has been highly respected by the ladies and they thought it desirable to recognize her in some way before her departure. Accordingly, the meeting was arranged, and about 9 o'clock the honored guest was called to the front, when the accompanying address was read by Mrs. J. J. Smith and the presentation of a couple of pieces of silverware was made by Mrs. Henderson.

At the close, Mrs. Levine made a feeling reply in which she expressed the pleasure of her relationship with the people of Durham.

The remainder of the evening was spent socially, during which a tasty lunch was served. With the exception of Mr. Henderson, who acted as the chief entertainer of the evening, and Mr. Levine, who arrived about 11 o'clock, the meeting was composed of women only. Following is the address:

Dear Mrs. Levine,—It is only a few days ago since we learned of your intention to leave this town and community after a continued residence amongst us for a period of 20 years. During these years we have had ample opportunity to learn of your many good qualities. We have always found you of a kindly disposition, generous in many ways, and highly sympathetic in all times of trouble. You came here a stranger of different nationality and different creed and to have been practically alone in the community must have been very trying in the early days of your sojourn here. As you became better acquainted and learned more of our ways, a mutual respect developed, the differences disappeared and we grew more and more into one family with a common fatherhood, as it should be.

In leaving us to reside in the city of Toronto we shall not forget you in the years to come. We shall always cherish you in our memories and rejoice at all times to hear of your prosperity. In parting we would ask you to accept these small articles of silverware and hope the tie that has bound us together so long will never be broken.

We again wish you success and assure you that any future visits you may make to the old town will be a pleasure to us all.

REMEMBERED BY NEIGHBORS BEFORE REMOVAL TO DURHAM

Mr. and Mrs. David Adlam and Family Presented With Purse and Address Last Friday Evening.

Friday evening of last week was pleasantly spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Adlam when a large number of friends and neighbors assembled to say good-bye on the eve of their departure from the neighborhood in which they have lived so long and were always held in high esteem. The evening was spent in games and dancing as well as other amusements. Ex-Reeve Hunt acted as chairman and started the oratorical part of the program with a neat little speech, after which Mr. and Mrs. Adlam were called to the front, when an address was read by Mr. Douglas Donnelly and a purse of money was presented. Mr. Adlam made a fitting reply in which he thanked all the friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness. Mr. Fred Smith gave an interesting recitation, and a fine vocal contribution was made by the Allan Park League. Mr. Douglas Donnelly contributed a good song, well rendered. An enjoyable part of the program was the mouth organ selections by Master Clarence Adlam, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Adlam, who, born on the 29th of February, eight years ago, was celebrating his second birthday. Following is the address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Adlam and Family:

We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here to-night to spend another pleasant evening with you before you leave for your new home in Durham. We assure you we regret your departure from the neighborhood, as you have always been kind and obliging neighbors, and always ready and willing to assist in time of trouble, as well as do your part at all social gatherings.

We assure you we appreciate the many pleasant hours we have spent in your home and we rejoice to know you are not going so far away that we may not again have the pleasure of meeting you in your new home in Durham. We cannot allow you to depart without in some way showing the kind feelings we entertain towards you and we, therefore, ask you to accept this little present.

OLD-TIMERS' SKATING PARTY NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Next Wednesday night has been set apart by the rink management as "Old-timers' Night" when all and sundry of the old-time skaters are expected to turn out and enjoy themselves.

The management have found after a lot of experience that it is almost impossible to keep the younger skaters in their proper place on evenings of this kind, and as a consequence no one not over 15 years of age will be allowed on the ice next Wednesday night.

The Band will be in attendance and will furnish a full program of good skating music. A big turnout of the old-timers is hoped for.

GLASER PROPERTY SOLD TO DUNDALK WOKAN

Mr. M. Glaser sold his property this week to Mrs. Lena Tinianov of Dundalk, who will get possession in the early part of May. Negotiations have been going on from some time but it was only this week a final arrangement was made. Mr. and Mrs. Glaser and family will likely move to Toronto.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Speckled Trout Conservation.

Toronto, March 3, 1924.

To the Editor of The Chronicle:

Dear Sir,—The Fish and Game Committee, of which I am a member, is now holding meetings and trying to enact such amendments and improvements in the Act as will tend to conserve our game animals and fish, and enable Ontario to maintain its position as the most attractive resort for tourists and the summer playground of North America.

The County of Grey, with its numerous creeks and streams of pure spring water is the natural home of the trout, and was originally teeming with these speckled beauties, but is now rapidly becoming depleted unless some more effective measures can be adopted to conserve the supply. I am dropping you this letter, as well as to all other papers in the County, in the hope that you will give the matter publicity, either by publishing it, or by editorial comment giving your own ideas, or by both.

I think it would be wise to invite any persons interested to communicate with me, giving any suggestions they have a mind to offer, and I will be pleased to bring them before the Committee for consideration. I have in my own mind a proposal that fishing should be entirely prohibited for a term of two or three years in certain streams and all their tributaries. For example, the Durham Saugen from its junction with the Rocky up to its head waters might be tried first, and at the same time the Government could stock it liberally with young fish. Then after two or three years it could again be thrown open and the Rocky Saugen closed for a term, and in like manner with all streams in the Province. Or another plan might be adopted by making a close season for all waters in certain townships alternate.

However, I am merely throwing out these ideas of mine as suggestions and hope the sporting men and fishermen of your locality will favor me at as early a date as possible with any criticisms they may have to offer so that I may endeavor to have some improvements embodied in the Act during the present session.

Yours truly,

D. JAMESON.

Wheat has gone up in price and farmers who held their crop will be the gainers.

Arthur Ramage, son of Editor Ramage, had one of his fingers cut off the other day while playing around the paper cutter.

Mr. John Hewitt of Rocky Saugen has purchased the Willoughan property east of the town.

The cream separator factory is busy turning out a large number of machines.

We regret to learn that Mr. W. A. Anderson of Crawford is seriously ill.

About 75 men from Durham and Holstein are shovelling on the G.T.R. between here and Mount Forest.

There was a load of mail driven in a few days ago, but no papers of late date were forwarded.

A telegram received by Mrs. W.B. Vollett Saturday announced the death that day of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Sutherland, at Fort William.

Paralysis was the cause of death. Deceased was for many years a resident of this town and the remains will be brought here for interment in Trinity church cemetery. Owing to the blocked condition of the roads, we are unable to say when the train will arrive.

Nearly everything has been scarce at times during the blockade and one of the hotel men feared last week there was going to be a whiskey famine as he had then only two days' supply in stock.

On Monday Douglas Munro received a telegram from Winnipeg offering him a good situation, which he has decided to accept.

Mr. Moore McFadden of Russell, Manitoba, will accept thanks for renewal of his subscription.

Editor Ramage of The Review had to send out only a four-page sheet last week. Ditto this week again for all appearances.

The up-town bakery has again changed hands, Mr. Peter Calder having sold out to Mr. A. W. Watson.

The most convincing proof of the true worth of "Fruit-a-lives" as a medicine for women is found in the letters written by them to "Fruit-a-lives". "THE LAW OF THE LAWLESS"

Problems of the Farm

Contributed by Grey County Department of Agriculture

Tankage As a Hog Feed Supplement.

This article given is submitted to the farmers of Grey County. It will be of special value if Skim Milk is not available for litters of pigs which may be dropped early.

During the winter of 1922-23 the Department of Animal Husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College conducted an experiment to determine the feeding value of tankage as a supplemental feed for growing hogs as compared with skim milk. Six pigs of approximately equal weight were taken from one litter and divided into two pens for the test. The grain fed was the same both as to nature and quantity. However, the skim milk required three days more in which to consume the grain.

The tankage used for the test contained, upon analysis, 59.7% protein. At the commencement tankage constituted 10% of the ration for the tankage fed lot. It was observed that the pigs were not eating their food with a relish, nor were they cleaning up the quantity which was given. The quantity which was consumed of their age should do, consequently the tankage was reduced to 8%—the proportion fed from that time on. The above mentioned factor in conjunction with the fact that skim milk is a great deal closer approach in palatability to the milk of the sow no doubt accounts for a greater consumption of food and consequent lead in gains during the first three weeks for the skim milk lot.

However, from the time when the tankage lot became accustomed to their feed their gains were quite close to those of the skim milk lot (some weeks being equal with the result that for the entire test the skim milk lot made a greater gain of 50 pounds. The fact that they made this extra gain does not tell the whole story since the tankage lot developed into a slightly more even and uniform pen than did the others. That it is possible to balance a ration for growing pigs by the addition of tankage to home-grown grains was clearly demonstrated, since the tankage lot not only made persistent and economic gains once they got started, but were quite firmly fleshed as well as being uniform, as before mentioned.

The results are as follows: The cost of production was not as high in the case of the tankage fed lot as with the skim milk lot, due to the lower cost of supplemental feed per 100 pounds gain. On the other hand the quantity of grain required per 100 pounds gain in the skim milk fed lot was not so large, which may be explained by the fact that they were receiving, according to analysis five pounds more digestive protein in the supplement feed per 100 pounds gain than were the tankage fed lot, or in terms of dollars and cents, the 39 pounds less of grain per 100 pounds gain with a value of 63 cents lowers the cost of the supplement for the skim milk lot to 86.27 as compared with 70 cents for the tankage fed lot. However, the value of the extra 50 pounds in weight of the skim milk lot more than counterbalances the increased cost of production, giving an increased profit of 50 cents over cost of feed their favor.

Where skim milk is available at a lower price its superiority would be much more in evidence. For example, where it is available at 25 cents per cwt., cost of production would be reduced to 86.27, and at 20 cents per 100 weight to 86.08 per 100 pounds gain as compared with 86.27 for the tankage fed lot, and as a natural sequence profit on gains over cost of food would be increased accordingly. If one chooses to consider cost of production only, the table would indicate that with skim milk at 30 cents per 100 weight tankage would be worth $77.84 per ton, at 25 cents per 100 weight, $57.14 and at 20 cents per
