FRUIT FERTILIZERS

Different Fertilizers Required For Fruit and Grain.

Nitrogen More Needed by Fruit Than Potash, Phosphoric Acid or Lime—Humus Important in the Orchard—This Year Fruit and Do It Early.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

In the past fertilizer recommendations for fruits have been based largely on the plant food requirements of field crops, as grains, etc. Recently completed investigations, however, indicate very strongly that we must reconstruct our ideas in many particulars. The food requirements of grains and fruits have been shown to be materially different. These experiments show:—

Potash (Potassium).—Average fruit soils contain sufficient for fruit crops. Applications therefore are not warranted. Phosphoric Acid (Phosphorous).—Average fruit soils contain sufficient for the direct needs of fruit crops. However, this may not be sufficient for the needs of green manuring crops. If such are grown phosphoric acid may give a decided increase in growth and thus influence the growth and fruitfulness of the fruit tree.

Lime.—Fruit crops, with few exceptions are acid tolerant, i.e., they will grow equally as well and sometimes better in an acid as in a neutral or basic soil, unless the acidity is extreme. Therefore the application of lime merely to correct soil acidity is not warranted. On the other hand many green manuring crops require a "sweet" or limed soil. Lime applications on clover, etc., are often warranted in the increased growth secured, which in turn favorably influences tree growth.

Nitrogen.—A sufficient nitrogen supply is often lacking in our fruit soils. Its application is usually warranted, whether in the form of leguminous green manuring crops, barnyard or commercial fertilizers. There is a place for all three and all three may be used to advantage.

Humus.—Humus (decayed vegetable matter) is the basis of soil fertility. Phosphorus, potassium, nitrogen may be in your soil in abundance, but without a sufficient humus supply it will not be a fertile soil. Maintain the humus supply with barnyard manure, or green crops plowed down, or both.

Our fertilizer recommendation for fruits is—no potash; phosphoric acid and lime only when green manuring is practiced, and if such crops show benefit from applications; nitrogen and humus in the form of barnyard manure and legume crops; nitrogen also in a quickly available form as in nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia in early spring before growth starts.—E. F. Palmer, Hort. Exp. Station, Vineland Station.

THINNING FRUIT.

Prevents Irregularity of Bearing—Experience in Thinning Plums—Hints for Thinning Peaches.

Unbalanced production of fruit occurs frequently on nearly all kinds of tree fruits. In some years certain varieties or kinds will yield a very heavy crop while in the following year little or no fruit is produced. This irregularity of bearing is undesirable, because it adversely affects both the market and the vitality of the trees. After the 1922 crop the vitality of some plum trees was so low that they were seriously injured, and in some cases killed outright, by the severe winter following.

Some of the factors that affect the setting of fruit, such as moisture and temperature conditions, are beyond the control of the orchardist. But cultural practices such as tillage, pruning, spraying, fertilizers and thinning can be used at least to partly regulate the fruiting habit of the tree.

Experimental work with plums done at this station shows definitely that thinning is a valuable factor in getting annual crops and also exerts a beneficial effect on the health and vigor of the trees. Where thinning was done during 1923, there was a good crop, but on trees which made a heavy set of fruit in 1922 and where no thinning was done there was very little fruit to be found. Thinning plums perhaps did not pay in 1922, even though all thinned fruit graded as select, and unthinned fruit graded only as medium or less. Market conditions were too poor, and there were too many poor grade plums. However, there was the effect on the vigor of the trees and on the following year's crop which was much larger than it would have been as previously noted. Thinning should be done shortly after the June crop.

In the case of peaches, the work should be done when the fruit is quite small, before the pits harden. Thin sufficiently to prevent individual fruits from touching when fully matured. Generally four to five inches apart is about right for peaches.—E. F. Palmer, Hort. Exp. Station, Vineland Station.

Grinding the grain saves the energy and work of the cow. What is the use of feeding a cow a lot of grain and then have her spend a large portion of her energy in grinding it herself? Take this load off the cow and let her reserve her energy for putting the feed into the milk pail.

The usual provision is to allow three to four feet of glass per cow. The more light the better, especially if the windows are provided with double panes to provide for warmth. Faith in your brother producers and faith in your leaders is the cornerstone of our co-operative marketing structure.

An account book helps locate the no-account cows and helps.

PREDICTS RACE OF BALDHEADED WOMEN SHORTLY

Beauty Expert Says Bobbed Hair Fad Means Death of "Crowning Glory"

Bobbed hair is a sure means for causing baldness and it won't be many years before the world is filled with bald headed women. Joseph Bryne, editor of a beauty magazine, said in addressing the annual convention of the American Master Hair Dressers' Association today.

Milliners, he explained, in order to conform to present day hair style, have been obliged to make head bands exceedingly tight to keep the hair on, resulting in the death of the hair. Mr. Bryne asserted that girls of the present generation would be bald before they reached maturity.

Charles Nestle, vice-president of the association, characterized the "greatest misfortune to come to

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMahon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, not fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. I feel much better now and am not ashamed to tell what it has done for me. I recommend it to any woman I think feels as I do."—Mrs. J. R. McMAHON, 158 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring ailing women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. McMahon writes, as well as by one woman telling another. These women know, and are willing to tell others, what it did for them; therefore, it is surely worth your trial.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." 0

On the other hand, Mrs. S. T. Burgess of Madison, Wis., who said she had been studying beauty culture for 35 years, expressed the opinion that bobbing of hair was the greatest benefit the modern woman enjoys.
