The Scoutmaster has received word from Lieut.-Col. Melnyre, District Commissioner, that the annual district camp will be held this year at White Cloud Island...

Oh You Hike!

Old Jupiter Plover was there with oodles of rain for the Durham Troop's overnight hike on Friday and Saturday last.

The Troop got under way about five o'clock Friday night about twelve strong. After a brisk march of six miles McGillivray's farm was reached and the Troop set busy preparing their beds in the hayrack which Mr. McGillivray most kindly placed at their disposal.

An invitation has been received from District headquarters to take part in the 1st of July celebration Owen Sound. It appears that if Sarnia City is preparing to do its proud on Dominion Day, and if Scouts of the District have been requested to take part in the parade and put on a Rally with demonstration of Scout Work, Durham Troop have been invited and they are to take up a full Troop. Just what phase of Scoutwork they will be asked to demonstrate has not yet been made clear.

No Meeting.

Owing to the weather, there was no meeting this week. Next week it is hoped that the Troop will be out in full force, as the S.M. is serious of having every scout and second class man by the 1st of July.

LIBERALS HAVE NO KICK COMING

The Farmers' Sun well sizes up the situation in regard to the Liberal party in the following editorial note: "Hon. Walter Mitchell is another Liberal protectionist who says he never subscribed to the Liberal tariff reduction platform of 1919."

were committed to a tariff reduction policy, now find themselves stranded politically.

This is the whole situation in a nutshell. Hundreds of Liberals who attended the convention of 1919 did not agree with the fiscal platform then adopted. However, for the sake of catering to the West it was felt that it was good politics to pass the tariff resolutions, while these men winked the other eye.

LOVE'S WAGES

The wages of love are so small, so small, You scarce might know they were paid at all. A glance, a smile, or the clasp of hands, The coin of a heart that understands;

But oh, the magic such coin can buy— The waking joy of a dawn-flushed sky, Drudgery, speeding on skylark's wings, Songs in the heartbeats of common things;

The wages of love are small, so small, One scarcely could say that they cost at all. Yet lives are lonely, and hearts still ache In bitter lack for the wee coin's sake;

SOME PEOPLE SAY, "LIFE WOULD BE PLEASANTER IF other people treated me as they should." There is nothing to do about it, so they go on complaining. But others say instead, "Life would be pleasanter if I treated others as they should."

THE QUESTION, "HOW DID YOU FIRST COME TO HEAR of the Gospel?" often brings answers that reveal the methods that are effective. "I saw a man selling books and bought one and read it." "A certain man in our village talked the doctrine and read it."

THREE THINGS THE BIBLE REQUIRES OF US. (1) CAREFUL consideration—the action of the mind. (2) Continual meditation—the action of the heart. (3) Close application—the action of the will.—Dr. Griffith Thomas.

DR. G. CAMPBELL MORGAN ONCE STATED THAT HE HAD read the Bible from beginning to end at pupil rate in sixty hours. A correspondent of The Church Family Newspaper made the same experiment, and completed his reading in seventy-six hours, which was spread over a period of eighty-one days.

"A CHANGE HAS COME IN THE CONGO. WE HAVE FIVE great concessions now throughout the Kasai Valley. Since King Albert has come to the throne things have changed altogether. He is building roads, bridges, hospitals and schools. He is doing all that he can for the natives of the Congo."

HE WAS A LITTLE NAKED, IGOROT BOY. THE FUTURE held in store for him nothing more than a mere existence, the wearing of a loincloth, and a scant living from the rocky soil of his mountain home. He lived in a little thatched, conical-shaped hut, the door a hole through which he crawled on hands and knees.

THE JOURNALS OF THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST THROW into relief a statement made by Lloyd George during his recent visit: "I learned all my democracy from Alexander Campbell and Abraham Lincoln."

A STORY ABOUT THE LATE BISHOP OF CHELMSFORD. Dr. Watts-Ditchfield, has just received fresh currency. When he was rector of the East London slum parish of St. James's Bethnal Green, he had a splendid meeting for men every Sunday afternoon.

A TIMELY WORD WAS SPOKEN BY HON. N. W. ROWELL when he expressed the opinion that the minister of the Gospel can exercise great influence on the problems of the world. "The minister of the Gospel had it in his power to play a large part. The longer he lived the more he was convinced of the important place that the Church must take in the lives of men and women."

IT IS BECAUSE SO MANY CHURCHES ARE AUDIENCES rather than brotherhoods that thousands of Christians, on changing their place of residence, drop out of church connections altogether. Their old church membership meant nothing to them, and their new membership in another church has no attraction for them.—Dr. Charles E. Jefferson.

AT THE INSTALLATION OF A FRIEND, DR. JOHN A. HUTTON introduced the new minister to the church in these words: "I hope you will be very good to him, kind to his thinking and hospitable to his new ideas. Life is very hard to-day for any good minister."

THE CHRISTIANS IN INDIA ARE VERY FOND OF FESTIVALS, which are of great value to them. From childhood festivals and pilgrimages have been dear to them. We are therefore bound to provide them with Christian festivals, and thus brighten their spirits. Fasting was also given importance among their old religious habits.

GREY COUNTY HISTORY MAY SOON BE PUBLISHED

Committee Appointed By County Council Issue Circular Letter Concerning Data For Same.

The following circular letter has been sent to all the teachers and secretaries of the Public Schools in the county:

Dear Sirs.—For a number of years there has been expressed a desire by a number of leading citizens of the county that a history of the county be published. A committee has been appointed by the County Council to take the matter up and see what could be done.

As some remuneration for your trouble a free copy will be given the school of each section that sends in six subscribers. If less are sent in, allowance will be made on the same basis in the purchase of the book.

The proposed volume will cover not only the general history of the county, but a chapter will be devoted to each municipality, reviewing the early days, telling of the earliest pioneers and dealing with the development of each town or township up to the present day.

The volume will be one of great interest to every citizen and will be worthy of a place in the library of every household in the county. As years go by the book will be greatly treasured. The edition will be limited according to the number of subscriptions received for the book.

If we are successful in our efforts, we hope to have the book ready for distribution early in 1925.

Yours truly, J. S. WILSON, Chairman. Committee re History of Grey, Owen Sound.

SAYS ONTARIO SALT CONTAINS NO IODINE

Provincial Sanitary Engineer Lays Goitre Cases to This Cause.

A sensational statement was made by Dr. A. F. Dallyan, provincial sanitary engineer for the board of health at the recent session of the Ontario Health Officers' Association. Dr. David Marine, M.D., of New York, had just said that if sufficient quantities of ordinary table salt containing the right amount of iodine were found in every household in the world, there would be no more goitre.

It was at this point that Dr. Dallyan got up and said: "We have just checked up the salts now distributed in Ontario and of provincial origin, and we find that by analysis there is no iodine in any of these salts. This is a vast serious question for the government. It means that nobody is guarded against goitre."

THE STORY OF LOHENGRIN.

The wedding march from Lohengrin—did you ever hear of it? Surely if you ever passed before the altar of Hymen, you must have. It is one of the two most famous wedding marches in the world, the other, of course, being Mendelssohn's.

At nine out of every ten formal weddings in English and American society it is said, Lohengrin's Wedding March is used. "Here comes the bride! Here comes the bride!" Can't you hear this grand march starting many a young couple triumphantly on the sea of life?

But many who recognize the music do not know that it is an excerpt from one of Wagner's most famous operas. The opera itself was first produced in 1850, and centers about Lohengrin, one of the Knights of the Holy Grail which we read about in history.

The story of the opera "Lohengrin" is interesting. It reverts to the tenth century in Germany, when it was the custom of the King to hold a public outdoor court in which he heard complaints and tried all cases which might be brought before him.

Frederick agrees to meet any champion she may secure, and while the summons is issued Elsa prays. She sees a magic boat drawn by a swan far up the river. It draws to the shore and a knight, clad in glittering armor, steps forth and announces himself as Elsa's champion.

Frederick and his wife, Ortrud, now attempt to deceive Elsa. When all is ready for the wedding ceremony and the bride and groom are about to enter the church, Ortrud steps forward and accuses the knight of being a magician.

Then in the bridal chamber, Elsa, who has not been able to get Ortrud's scoffing words out of her head, begins to chide her husband for concealing it.

The body of Frederick is borne to the court which the king has reassembled. He is Lohengrin, a knight of the Holy Grail and the son of Parsifal. Now he must return to the brotherhood, despite the tears of the penitent Elsa.

PORT ELGIN GIRL GORED BY AN INFURIATED COW

Early last Thursday morning, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. Sydney Smith, who resides in the outskirts of Port Elgin, was, with the aid of a dog, driving a cow to a pasture field about a mile from her home.

The dog had been worrying the cow, and when near the pasture field the cow turned on him. The dog dashed past the child and escaped, but the cow tossed the little girl, one of the horns piercing the leg, and badly lacerating it.

She:—I wonder if you remember me? Years ago you asked me to be your wife. Absent-minded Professor: "Ah, yes, and did you?"
