HYDRO RATES IN CITIES DUE FOR STIFF ADVANCE

Small Homes and Apartments Will Suffer the Most, and Smaller Consumer Will Miss Cheap Rate.

Hydro rates have been increased in Hamilton and Guelph and an increase is coming in Toronto. It is said that the increase made in Guelph, which adds about ten per cent to the bills of those affected, is along general lines which are to be adopted in all hydro municipalities where rates are to be raised.

The features are: First, an increase in the ready-to-serve charge achieved by increasing the minimum floor space on which this charge is based; second, an entire change in the method of calculating the primary rate for current used, which has heretofore been based on floor area, but will now be a straight charge for the kilowatt hours.

In Guelph (and this will apply also in Toronto), those principally affected are apartment house dwellers and the small homes which seldom use enough to reach the minimum rate. Instead of 1,000 square feet of minimum floor space the charge will now be for 1,500 square feet, and the first rate charged will be for 100 kilowatt hours, instead of one based upon the minimum floor space rate.

It is said that the old rates were not calculated to meet present conditions under which homes and apartments of small floor area are equipped with bigger ones are equipped with iron, toaster and electric stoves, using a lot of power across the peak.

The Guelph Mercury, however, expresses disappointment with the new rates. It says: "It's a real disappointment all round. It looks like a heavy increase at a time when every bulletin issued by the Hydro has been boasting of the lowering costs of service, and the result will be a lot of disappointment in many homes which now use power very sparingly."

The new policy indicated by the foregoing would mean, if applied to Toronto, a minimum ready-to-serve charge of 55 cents, instead of 30 cents, as at present. The change undoubtedly means a big increase in the bills of small homes and apartments in Toronto. A family with the present minimum floor area of 1,000 square feet now pays two cents per kilowatt hour for the first 30 kilowatt hours and one cent thereafter. Under the new system, however, he would appear to pay two cents until his consumption reached 100 kilowatt hours, this being in addition to the increased ready-to-serve charge.

In other words, the initial service charge would be much larger than now, and the consumer would have to use much more current than now before getting the advantage of the cheap secondary rate.

Whether or not the new rates will affect towns like Durham remains to be seen. At present, Toronto users, though apparently paying a high rate, are not so very badly off. The Toronto rate is 2 cents per kilowatt hour in Durham it is 4 cents. The ready-to-serve charge is 45 cents; in Durham it is $1.00 monthly. It is apparently the use of electric stoves and other household appliances that have given city rates the upward tendency, and it now looks as if it is very questionable for a small centre to solicit any of these domestic conveniences which raise the cost of power to the community. At any rate, the matter is worth looking into.

THOROUGHBERED HORSE HERE HAS WON MUCH MONEY

Horse Procured by Dr. Jamieson for Use of Farmers of This Riding, Has Arrived, and Is a Good One.

"Old Koenig," the American thoroughbred riding horse procured for the use of South Grey farmers, has arrived, and is, we are told, the best horse of his kind that ever came into this part of Canada. "Old Koenig" when on the turf was a valuable racer and in a career of four years on the American circuit won over $18,000 for his owners.

His progeny, too, seem to have retained the many qualities of their sire for, in one instance at least, one of his colts, Cream Puff, started three times and took first money on each occasion.

"Old Koenig" has been brought to South Grey through the influence of Hon. Dr. Jamieson, and is considered the best horse to invade Ontario this year under the auspices of the Ontario Jockey Club in their effort to improve the breeding in Ontario horses.

Saddle horses to-day are the most valuable, commercially, though in bringing this horse to South Grey, Dr. Jamieson had no thought that the farmers here should go in for breeding fancy racing stock. This racing stock, though, crossed with the general purpose class, often makes most superior animals, and Dr. Jamieson says that the best horse he ever owned was partly of the thoroughbred class.

South Grey farmers are fortunate that they have the opportunity of using this horse, and should take full advantage of this chance to improve their stock.

FALL FAIRS ASSOCIATION HELD TWO MEETINGS

The Grey and Bruce Agricultural Societies held two meetings recently. The first one was held at Paisley on May 26, and the second one is being held in Markdale to-day, the 29th. The association, which has for its aim improved conditions among the Fall Fairs of the two counties, was formed last year, and already there is a better understanding among the societies. Speakers from the department were to address both meetings and it was hoped to have delegates from all societies.

MOORHEAD'S MINSTRELS WILL BE HERE TO-MORROW NIGHT

Big Revue of 1924 Should Fill Hall to Capacity.—Baseball Boys Sure of Good Boost From Receipts.

Bob Moorhead's Minstrels will be here to-morrow night, and while in the past couple of weeks The Chronicle has "shot" quite a lot of stuff about this stellar performance, Bob says that, like a song he used to sing while a kid in the front seat at Sunday school, "The Half Has Not Been Told." In this declaration, he is ably seconded by Dave Cox, the man in charge of the Durham-Palmerston choro-choo, who, by the way, is also one of the shining lights in the performance. As Dave hears quite a resemblance to the late lamented George Washington, the father of his country, it is a foregone conclusion that if this show wasn't just about the best thing that ever zinged across the footlights in the local Pantages theatre, he would have invented us of the fact. "Just you wait," says the inimitable Dave. "We're going to show you something."

The offering, besides some real bang-up minstrelsy, has many special features. There will be good choruses, quartets, duets, solos, and besides, there are a couple of good monologues with the show who will do their bit to keep things moving. The Palmerston Band, too, is coming, and will render selections before and during the show.

Since the last issue of The Chronicle, Mr. Moorhead informs us that he has secured a first-class orchestra, and, after the hall is cleared, there will be a dance put on that the people of Durham will date future local history from. The orchestra has a couple of saxophones, piano, violins, traps, n'everything and will play a class of music that will make people who have never danced before wriggle like a snake trying to navigate along a greasy pavement. Persons who are averse to dancing, or who are not inclined to learn, are warned to get home as quickly as possible after the show or they will find themselves disporting themselves with the best of them at this dance. The music is going to be so irresistible that for the first time in local history wall-flowers are taboo.

We have already, on the two previous occasions, promised the Palmerstonians a packed house, but, now, from street conversation, it would appear that an S.O.S. call to the Town Council for hall extension might be necessary.

We would advise any who haven't already secured them, to drop around to MacBeth's Drug Store and make their reservations at once. It may be too late even now.

PAID THEIR SUBSCRIPTIONS

Mr. John Beach of Cut Knife, Sask., will accept thanks for remittance. Mrs. E. M. Hoig (nee Bessie Telford) of Regina, is another whose remittance is gratefully acknowledged.

Mr. Joseph Payne of Pickford, Mich., in sending us a remittance on subscription says the spring there is cold and backward. It was snowing on date of writing, May 22. He says in closing, "we sure enjoy the old home paper." It would be interesting to us and also to our readers if far-away subscribers would give us brief accounts of weather and crop conditions.

Joseph H. McDonald of Boonington Falls, R. C., and William B. Todd of Rochester, N.Y., will also accept thanks for remittance.

We are also indebted to Mr. Arthur Hawkes of Richmond Hill for a new subscription. While in Durham, Mr. Hawkes was a steady reader of The Chronicle, but dropped it on moving away this spring. He says he is still interested in the old town and simply must have The Chronicle to keep in touch with affairs here.

A city couple on a drive through the country in the late autumn pulled up beside a small orchard and helped themselves to the apples in large quantities. Their consciences bothering them somewhat, however, they stopped in front of the farmhouse which adjoined the orchard and called to the farmer who was on the front porch. "We helped ourselves to your apples," said the woman. "Just thought we'd tell you," said the man. "Oh, that's all right," said the farmer. "I helped myself to your tools when you were in the orchard."

COLOSSIANS 3:25 ILLUSTRATED

The authorized Version runs: "But he that doeth wrong shall receive 'for' the wrong which he hath done." But according to Dean Farrar the word "for" is an "unauthorized and misleading addition." It is not merely that the wrong shall be punished, but that it shall receive as retribution the very wrong perpetrated. He that doeth wrong shall receive again the wrong that he did.

A generation has not passed since the publication of "In Darkest Russia," which portrayed the miseries that Russian Jewry was enduring at the hand of the mightiest autocracy of modern—perhaps of all—time. All protests against its tyrannies seemed (to quote Keats' phrase) as "leaps of grasshoppers against the sun." And now it has vanished like chaff of the summer threshing-floor, and its place is taken by an equally oppressive oligarchy of its victims. How completely Holy Russia lies under the heel of the Jew appears from the following table of the Bolshevik rulers, which we extract from "The Cause of the World Unrest." The initials under the "Race" column denote: "R", Russian; "J", Jew; "G", German.

Table with columns: Pseudonym, Real Name, Race. Lists names like Lenin, Trotsky, Steklov, Martov, Zinoviev, Goussiev, Kamenov, Doun, Sagersky, Gorbunov, Oureitsky, Vodarsky, Sverdlov, Kamkov, Ganetsky, Badek, Meshkovsky, Parvus, Riazanov, Martingov, Tchernonosky, Piatnitsky, Abramovitch, Reim, Sointzev, Zvezditch, Fongstein, Sobelson, Wallack, Lounatcharsky, Lounatcharsky, Koontai, Peters, Rosenbloom, Levenson, Natansson, Akselrode, Gerfeldt, Schulze, Simon, Joffe, Hoffman, Ginsburg, Krachmalink, Goldman, Feldman, Foundationsky, Manoulsky, Louri, Krassin, Tschicherin, Goukovsky.

Lenin's mother is said to have been a Jewess; also the mother of Kerensky, and Krassin's wife.

A sign about sixty miles east of Toronto says that "Port Hope is the Prettiest Town in Canada." Of course the claim is disputed, but the best answer is to make your own town prettier.—The Globe.

HE'S NO MAN'S SUCCESSOR

Why Charles de Roche Does Not Dance Tango in "The Cheat" . . . .

Because he resents being called Valentino's successor, Charles de Roche, the brilliant young French Paramount actor, refused to dance the tango with Pola Negri in the Polish star's second American picture, "The Cheat," which will be on view at the Veterans' Star Theatre to-morrow and Saturday.

Instead Miss Negri and the versatile Frenchman danced the more fashionable waltz so popular in the capitals of Europe. It wasn't that de Roche couldn't dance the tango. Before he made his screen debut he was a professional dancer and the tango was one of his specialties. But ever since he arrived in the United States he has been hailed by the press of the country as the man who is to fill the vacant shoes of Rodolph Valentino.

This de Roche resents. He points out that he won his own spurs in his native country and he doesn't relish being the substitute or successor to anyone. He prefers to be Charles de Roche and stand or fall by that.
